SAN CARLO TONIGHT IN 'LA TOSCA'

Opera Company to Begin Local Season With Classic by Puccini

The San Carlo Grand Opera Company will open its two weeks' season here this evening with a performance of Puccini's "La Tosca." Puccini, greatest of present-day Italian operatic composers, died a few weeks ago.

The principals in the cast for this evening are Alice Gentle, Manul Salazar, Mario Basiola, Natali Curci, Pietro De Biasi, with Fulgenzio Guerrieri conducting. Although now on tour with the San Carlo Company, Mr. Guerrieri's home is in Los Angeles.

"La Tosca," from Sardou's drama, is laid in Rome at the beginning of the nineteenth century. The story tells of Tosca, a singer, and her love for Cavaradossi, a painter, and the action is tense and the plot filled with intrigue. The painter has aided in the escape of Angeletti, a political prisoner. Baron Scarpia, Chief of Police, a sinister character, is also in love with Tosca, and he succeeds in arousing the jealousy of Tosca by telling her that Cavaradossi is painting a fair-haired Madonna.

Learning of Cavaradossi's implications in the escape of Angeleotti, Scarpia brings him to his home, and Tosca, thinking she will hear of her lover, also goes to the home of Scarpia. In order to save Cavaradossi's life, she confesses Angeleotti's hiding place with the promise from Scarpia that her lover will not be shot. Carvaradossi is taken to prison and Tosca is left alone with Scarpia. Loathing his advances, Tosca kills him with a dagger and flees to the prison to announce to Cavaradossi of his freedom and inform him of the death of Scarpia. Servants of the dead chief bring a letter which he had written before his death, ordering the execution of Cavaradossi. The soldiers fire on Cavaradossi, and, Tosca, left alone, leaps over the prison wall to freedom—and death.

WOBBLIES' COUNSEL IN PLAZA ROW

Gallagher One of Sixteen Arrested; Riot Averted by Arrival of Reserves

A riot was averted by the arrival of police reserves at the Plaza yesterday afternoon when hangers-on organized to capture Leo Gallagher, an attorney identified with many I.W.W. defenses, from the grasp of Police Officer Mack, who had arrested Gallagher on charges of disturbing a religious meeting.

Gallagher was one of sixteen men arrested in the second Sunday of the police campaign to "free" protect speakers at the Plaza "free speech" area from interference by hecklers. According to the police report, Gallagher, who was accompanied by Clinton J. Taft, head of the local branch of the American Civil Liberties Union, and Robert Whitaker, I.W.W. speaker, had been holding forth to a large crowd, denying the right of the police to make arrests on the disturbance charge and inciting their hearers to heckling.

Gallagher was released on $25 bail and his hearing set for Tuesday afternoon before Police Justice Richardson. Three arrests were made for violation of the Criminal Syndicalism Act in the same place.

LEGISLATURE CAUTIONED

Richardson Bars Spending Spree

Governor Fears Huge Surplus May Prove Tempting to Treasury Raiders

Executive Declares He Will Veto All Measures for Extravagant Outlays

BY KYLE D. PALMER
"Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 23.—Arising from the unexpected acquisition of surplus funds that may exceed $20,000,000 a unique and probably a memorable struggle between Gov. Richardson and State Senators and Assemblymen will be initiated tomorrow with the reconvening of the California Legislature for the second half of the forty-sixth biennial session. The Governor is determined that the State's sudden financial prosperity shall not result in unnecessary expenditures and appropriations and the legislators, free from the responsibilities and worries as to economy and efficiency appear to be dazzled by the possibilities for special appropriation measures.

Former governors, and two years ago, Gov. Richardson himself, have been reasonably successful in curbing excessive expenditures by drawing attention to the necessity for providing additional revenues to meet additional costs. With what might now be termed an embarrassment of riches, the Governor finds himself bereft of this argument and forced to fall back upon a threat to use to the fullest extent his executive veto on all proposals not in keeping with his program.

HIGHER RATES IN EFFECT

The huge surplus consists in large measure of additional funds made available by a ruling of the United States Supreme Court in which the legality of the King tax law, enacted in 1921, is affirmed, thus automatically enforcing the higher schedules provided by the King bill. Probably $6,000,000 will be turned back into the State's general fund from the excess revenues of so-called self-supporting boards and agencies and the surplus will be further swelled by a saving of $2,000,000 or more in other State expenditures.

Anticipating attempted raids on the reserve funds, Gov. Richardson, in a statement issued on the eve of reconvening of the two legislative houses, appealed to the people of the State to look with disfavor on any spending spree by the legislators. As for the Assemblymen and Senators themselves, he differentiated neither between friend nor opponent in unequivocal-

ALASKA HIT BY SEVERE TEMBLOR

Residents Flee Homes in Seward as Pipes Break and Chimneys Topple

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEWARD (Alaska) Feb. 23.—Earthquake tremors, lasting a half minute, wrecked chimneys, broke water pipes and sent residents scurrying to safety in the streets at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The Seward end of the United States signal corps cable to Valdez, 200 miles northeast of here at the northern end of Prince William Sound, was broken by the shocks.

At Morraine, sixty-two and one-half miles north of Seward on the Alaska railroad, the tremors forced water out of the line's water tanks. Heavy shocks were felt at many points on the Alaska railroad.

When the first earthquake was felt here, people fled from their homes and places of business to the streets for safety. Pioneers said the tremors were the heaviest felt in this section for many years.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ANCHORAGE (Alaska) Feb. 23. One of the most severe earthquakes ever felt here rocked buildings of Anchorage for 19½ seconds at 1:55 o'clock this afternoon.

There were two distinct tremors, the second being the hardest. They were accompanied by deep rumbles.

Dishes in many homes were broken. Pupils in public schools were permitted to go home. Patients in the Anchorage Hospital were shaken out of their beds.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—An "extremely severe" earthquake about 3200 miles in a southerly direction from Washington, was recorded tonight on the seismograph at Georgetown University.

Father Tondorf, the seimologist, announced that the disturbance was the most violent recorded on the instrument in three or four years.

The tremors, beginning at 7:02 p.m., reached a maximum intensity from 7:19 until 7:21. The most pronounced displacement in the earth's crust, as recorded by the device, ran in an east-west direction and made an impression calculated at about seven centimeters.

CAPTOR OF JEFF DAVIS DIES

Maj.-Gen. James H. Wilson Was Last Surviving Corps Commander of Union Army in Civil War

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WILMINGTON (Del.) Feb. 23.—Maj.-Gen. James Harrison Wilson, U.S.A., retired, last of the corps commanders in the Union Army during the Civil War, died at his home here today while shaving.

Gen. Wilson had been ailing for several months, but when he arose today he said he felt quite well. Shortly afterward he was seized with a heart attack and fell to the floor, dying in a few minutes. Funeral services will be conducted here Wednesday afternoon.

Gen. Wilson was 87 years of age. Since his retirement from the Army, following his service during the war with Spain and the Boxer rebellion in China, he had lived in Wilmington. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Henry B. Thompson of this city, and Mrs. Edward Carey Willard of Hyde Park, Mass.

Maj.-Gen. James Harrison Wilson was the last of the corps commanders of either the Union or Confederate forces in the Civil War and the last member of Gen. Grant's staff. In his long, distinguished career he was a soldier, engineer, railroad man and author, and in each he showed marked ability with consequent success. He was famous as the captor of Jefferson Davis and was one of the best known of the cavalry generals in the Union Army. While at the head of 15,000 mounted men he conducted the campaign through Alabama and Georgia known in Civil War history as "Wilson's raid."

Gen. Wilson retired from the military service in 1870 to devote his time to railroad work, only to return to the Army during the Spanish-American War and the Boxer campaign in China. His latter years were spent in writing. He was the author in collaboration with Charles A. Dana of the life of Gen. Grant, written in the early '70's.

SPANISH WAR

When the Spanish War started Gen. Wilson was appointed a major general of volunteers and commanded the Sixth Army Corps. He accompanied the military expedition to Porto Rico and was appointed Military Governor of the island. He remained in command of Ponce and Southeastern Porto Rico until ordered home. He served in the Army of Occupation in Cuba in command of the Department of Matanzas and Santa Clara and was honorably mus-

SENATOR BURSUM ACCUSED

New Mexican's Name Put on List of Law Makers Charged With Misuse of Influence

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The name of Senator Holm O. Bursum, Republican, New Mexico, was added today to the list of United States Senators under investigation by the Department of Justice in connection with charges of improper use of influence before Federal government agencies.

Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, already is under indictment in his home State on a charge of accepting a fee for practicing before a government department, and the Department of Justice made it known Saturday that it was investigating a similar accusation against Senator Selden P. Spencer, Republican, Missouri.

Reports at the Capitol that still another Senator was under inquiry were denied by justice officials. A new grand jury proceeding against Senator Wheeler is under way here, however, and that Senator said today he might appear before the jury tomorrow on the invitation of the Department of Justice. Both Senators Bursum and Spencer denied they had violated any Federal statutes in connection with appearances before any government agencies and said they will welcome the most thorough inquiries. Senator Spencer so informed Atty.-Gen. Stone in a letter which he made a part of the Senate record after arising to a point of personal privilege.

Report at Executive Session Shows Appropriation is Not Entirely Spent

Investigators Deny Outside Pressure Led to Sudden Finish of Hearing

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23. — The House Aircraft Committee today unexpectedly took up a proposal for reopening its investigation which it decided Saturday to end, but after two hours of discussion behind closed doors the question went over until tomorrow when another executive session is called.

The first indication that the inquiry might be resumed was an announcement by Representative Perkins, Republican, New Jersey, the committee examiner, that an executive meeting had been called. Later it was learned that Representative Reid, Republican, Illinois, had written Chairman Lampert asking that the committee be called "to receive certain evidence which I deem is necessary to complete the record." When the executive meeting was convened, Representative Prall, Democrat, New York, offered a motion to reopen hearings Wednesday.

After the decision to close the inquiry Saturday Mr. Perkins announced the action was prompted by lack of funds to make possible the printing of the committee record before the adjournment of Congress March 4.

Less than $1000 of the $35,000 allotted for the investigation, he said, remained.

Prior to the executive session today, Representative O'Sullivan, Democrat, Connecticut, declared the committee had been "deceived" into voting to close its hearing because of lack of funds. An examination of the books, he said, disclosed that $2250 remained unexpended instead of $700, or an ample amount to conclude the work the committee had mapped out.

"Whether purposely or not," Mr. O'Sullivan asserted, "we were led to believe Saturday we must close at once to have enough money to print the record."

BOOKS RECHECKED

After today's meeting, Mr. Perkins said a recheck of the books substantiated Mr. O'Sullivan's statements, and he explained that confusion as to the funds resulted from a committee clerk being misunderstood in reporting the balance. The $700 represented the amount the committee would have had March 4, Mr. Perkins added, if it had continued the inquiry, while several members understood this amount to represent the actual balance on hand Saturday. He flatly denied rumors that abrupt termination of the inquiry had been decided upon after "outside pressure" had been applied.

Representative Lea, California, Democratic member of the committee, added that "there was nothing mysterious or sinister about the committee closing its hearing as one reason was the condition of its finances and another that the record was practically complete."

W. E. Humphrey is Confirmed for Federal Board

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23. — The nomination of William E. Humphrey, former Representative from Washington, to be a member of the Federal Trade Commission, was confirmed by the Senate today after an hour's discussion in executive session.

The vote on Mr. Humphrey's nomination was 45 to 10, with Senators Borah of Idaho, Johnson of California, Norbeck of South Dakota, Norris of Nebraska, Republicans; Copeland of New York, King of Utah, Pittman of Nevada and Reed of Missouri, Democrats, and Johnson and Shipstead of Minnesota, Farmer-Labor, opposing confirmation.

Opposition to the nomination centered about contentions that he was "reactionary" in his political affiliations.

Paraphrase of Document Reveals Concessions Covering Huge Supply on Sakhalin

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Students of the world oil situation, no less than statesmen and diplomats, are profoundly interested in the new Japanese-Russian treaty, signed by the plenipotentiaries of the two countries at Peking on January 20, ratified last week by the soviet government at Moscow and scheduled to be ratified by the Japanese government at Tokio on Wednesday.

Study of a paraphrase of the document given out here today by Boris E. Skvirsky, trade representative of the soviet at Washington, eked out by other information, disclosed a truly remarkable situation. By the treaty, Japanese companies get 50 per cent of the oil areas of the north half of the Island of Sakhalin, off the Siberian coast, and what is essentially a preference right to exploit the remainder, and in addition, get control of the coal lands on the western coast of the island.

Engineers of the United States Geological Survey, from the best information available, estimate that these North Sakhalin oil lands contain all the way from 1,300,000,000 to 4,300,000,000 barrels of high-grade oil. These figures are comparable with the estimates that the remaining oil supply in continental United States is about 7,000,000,000 barrels. In other words, Japan gains control of fields almost at her doors that contain from one-fifth to one-half as much oil as there is in all the United States. It is a tremendous asset to her sea power and to her industries.

VIOLATES PLEDGES

The treaty brings sharply into contrast the pledges exacted from Japan by Secretary of State Hughes at the world conference early in 1922 that Japan would not seek exclusive exploitation privileges in Northern Sakhalin but would leave them open to the world, and that Japan would withdraw her military forces from that area as soon as possible. Those forces had been thrown into Northern or Russian Sakhalin in 1920, a punitive expedition resulting from the murder by Russians of Japanese at the town of Nikolayevsk on the Amur River in near-by Siberia.

The forces are still there. In the new treaty it is provided that they are to be withdrawn on May 15 next and the Soviet plenipotentiaries have expressed the official regret of their government at the "occurrences."

But there is a joker in the treaty. Japan does not get the oil and coal concessions at once. As set forth in the Skvirsky paraphrase: "A detailed concession agreement is to be concluded not later than six months from the day the basic agreement is signed, and not later than five months from the day of the final evacuation of Northern Sakhalin by the Japanese."

PRINCIPLES LAID DOWN

The principles on which the concessions are to be granted then are set forth in an annex to the treaty. According to this, says the Skvirsky paraphrase, "the government of the U.S.S.R. (Soviet Republics) agrees to grant to the Japanese as a concession, the right to exploit 50 per cent of the area of the oil fields of Northern Sakhalin which are already being exploited by Japan. Each of these fields is divided into squares according to the chessboard principle, and a number of these squares representing 50 per cent of the total area of the oil fields which are already being exploited by the Japanese, is hereby granted to the Japanese on the condition that these squares should not be contiguous; however, they should include all the wells which are at present being worked by the Japanese. As regards the other sections of the oil fields which have not been leased, and are not being worked by the Soviet Union, it is stipulated that in case the U.S.S.R. wants to grant them as concessions to foreigners, the Japanese should enjoy the same rights as the other foreigners.

"The U.S.S.R. permits to Japanese companies, upon recommendation by the Japanese government, to carry on prospecting activities during a period of five to ten years on an area of 1000

CHURCH WAR IN MEXICO

One Dead, Seven Hurt in Riot

Women Attack So-Called Priest Who Attempts to Say Mass

Separatists Who Have Seized Building Planned to Take Others

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 23.—One person was killed and seven were injured in a clash at noon today between followers of the recently proclaimed Mexican Catholic apostolic church and Orthodox Catholics when women worshipers attacked a so-called separatist priest, Luis Monje, when he attempted to celebrate mass in the Soledad Church, a short distance from the National Palace.

Police were summoned to suppress the disorder and fired in the air. The worshipers protested that they were the victims of armed separatists who had been guarding the church since it was seized Saturday night.

WOMEN HOLD CHURCH

Despite the police the women refused to leave the edifice and remained inside with the purpose of preventing Monje from conducting mass.

After the announcement last Wednesday of the formation of a national Mexican church and the publication of a manifesto in which Joaquin Perez, calling himself a former priest, proclaimed himself partriarch, about 100 armed men, led by the so-called "Father Monje," on Saturday night drove Father Alejandro Silva from the Soledad Church. When the police arrived to preserve order and clear the near-by streets the secessionists consented to leave the church, but only on condition that Monje should not be disturbed and that they be permitted to maintain five armed men to watch the place of worship.

Although it was announced that Monje would celebrate mass yesterday, the service did not take place and when an attempt was made at noon today to conduct mass the women worshipers vociferously protested when they learned that the separatist leader was on the altar.

MIDDLE-CLASS OPPOSITION

Owing to the opposition of the middle classes of the populace it is not believed that the separatists will attempt to carry out their announced intention to occupy a large cathedral and other churches in the capital, as well as the Guadalupe Shrine, which is the home of Mexico's patron saint.

The separatists have declared that their movement is being supported by Mexican labor organizations, but Eduardo Moneda, general secretary of the Mexican Regional Federation of Labor, the largest organization of its kind in Mexico, is quoted as saying that the rules of the federation prohibit it from participating in religious matters.

GLORIA'S CONDITION GRAVE

Husband Ready for Tranfusion of Blood if Found Necessary to Save Film Star's Life

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Feb. 23.—The condition of Gloria Swanson, American film actress, who has been ill here for the past week, was said tonight to be grave. She underwent an operation for perilonitis the 10th inst., and is no wat the Anteuil Surgical Hospital.

Complications which set in came dangerously near ending the California screen star's career Sunday, Dr. Baudestal, who is in charge of the case, said today. Following the issuance of a bulletin this morning that "although the infection persisted, he hoped to save her life," Dr. Baudestal called into consultation two eminent French specialists.

At the conference it was decided that blood transfusion will probably be necessary to save Miss Swanson's life. The night bulletin, however, said that her general condition had slightly improved and, although still critical, there were hopes for her recovery.

The Marquis De La Falaise, Gloria's husband, tonight admitted the seriousness of his wife's condition and said he was holding himself in readiness to furnish the blood for the transfusion.

"Gloria is very weak," the Marquis said tonight, "and her case is exceedingly serious due to blood poisoning. She has eaten nothing for a week and has not slept for several days. Her temperature is very high, keeping above 103.

"I am ready to give what blood is necessary in the event the physicians resort to transfusion.

"Of course, it will be impossible to sail for America as Gloria will be unfit to travel for several months. I wired the Paramount company to this effect today," said the Marquis, who has not slept for four days and who is much worried about his wife's serious condition.

During his interview Gloria called the Marquis into the room several times.

Investigator's Report Filed With Government

Nash Company Declared to Dominate Trade

United States Firms Linked as Co-operators

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OTTAWA, Feb. 23.—Green-fruit producers and consumers throughout Western Canada and in a large portion of the United States are under the domination of the Nash-Mutual combination of jobbing and brokerage houses, it was charged in a report filed with the Canadian government today by Duncan Lewis, recently appointed to investigate an alleged fruit-distribution trust.

In his report Commissioner Lewis found that the combination "has operated detrimentally to the interests of the Canadian public" in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. He further held that the Nash houses, of which there are forty-five in Canada, linked up with eighty-four in the United States, are a price-fixing combination illegally maintained under the Combines Investigation Act of 1923. It was under this statute that Lewis was appointed as investigator.

Various combinations under the Nash leadership, described as the largest handlers of green fruit in the world, according to Lewis, have divided Western Canada into brokerage areas and have compelled all brokers selling produce direct to jobbing houses to pay toll to the brokerage houses of the asserted combine. In some instances, the report said, this toll amounts to as much as $90 a car. This practice, the report holds, "restricts distribution, assists the creation of monopoly and injures consumer, producer and broker."

Lewis recommended the establishment of a nation-wide grower-owned selling agency as a remedy for existing conditions.

BURSUM NAMED IN FEDERAL QUIZ

of the charges which have been made against Senator Bursum by Carl Magee, a New Mexico newspaper man, who was a witness in the Teapot Dome investigation.

Senator Bursum, in denying Magee's charges, made the counter-charge that the purpose was to embarrass him in the contest he has brought to retain his seat in the Senate as against Sam G. Bratton, who was elected on the face of official returns. He added that the charge grew out of efforts he made to sell cattle in Mexico some years ago. The New Mexico Senator denied he had sought to obtain the consent of agents of the War Finance Corporation for the sale of the cattle, on which the corporation had made a loan and out of the sale of which he was to receive a commission. His version is that, at the instance of bankers who had mortgages on the cattle, he had sought to arrange a sale in Mexico but that when he had reported back the conditions under which the same could be financed by the Mexicans interested, the matter had been dropped.

The charge against Senator Spencer, according to justice officers, is made by Henry Wood Elliott and has to do with the renewal of a contract under which the Fouke Fur Company of St. Louis dresses and dyes the government furs from seals slaughtered at the Pribilof Islands.

SPENCER IN DENIAL

Senator Spencer's law firm is counsel for the fur company, but he denied today in the Senate he had anything to do with obtaining contracts for the company from the government.

"Never at any time," he told the Senate, have I appeared before a department of the government in connection with any of their contracts with the government or in connection with any renewal or modification thereof, nor have I ever received, directly or indirectly, any compensation for anything along that line."

A Senate investigation of the contract entered into by the government for the dressing and dyeing of the Pribilo Island seal furs was proposed at the last session by Senator Wheeler of Montana, who asserted at the time that the government was losing money on the arrangement. The resolution was referred to the Manufactures Committee, of which Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, is chairman, but the inquiry was not pressed, Senator Wheeler becoming engaged soon afterward in the prosecution of the inquiry into the administration of the Department of Justice. The measure is expected to die with this Congress, Senator Wheeler saying today that it will not be passed at this time.

RICH MAN'S SON BLINDED BY ACID

Officers Find Woman Suspect in Agony From Potion

Husband May Lose Sight; Mate Believed to be Dying

Darby Day, Jr., son of the millionaire Chicago telephone company official and banker, made a fight last night to keep his eyesight which was threatened, according to police reports, when his beautiful young wife threw the contents of a vial of acid in his face as they sat in front of the home of Day's mother, 72 Alpine street, Beverly Hills.

After making the acid attack on her husband, according to the police report, Mrs. Day drank poison in an apparent attempt to commit suicide and was taken to the Hollywood Community Hospital, seriously ill.

The young couple had been separated for about two weeks and their meeting last night was aimed at a reconciliation, according to Sergt. White of the Beverly Hills police, who made the early investigation of the case.

SIT IN AUTOMOBILE

Mrs. Day, according to the police, went to the home of her husband's mother and invited him to sit with her in her automobile to talk things over. During the conversation, the police say she suddenly produced the bottle of acid and flung it in his face. He stumbled from the car and she drove away from the scene, the police stated.

Young Day was rushed to the Beverly Hills Emergency Hospital where physicians announced that his eyesight might be lost and that he was suffering also from deep acid burns over the whole face.

Justice of the Peace Kavanaugh of Beverly Hills was at the police station when the acid victim was brought in and he immediately issued a warrant for the arrest of the wife.

ARRIVE TOO LATE

The Los Angeles police were notified of the warrant and the asserted attack and within a few minutes Detectives Friedenberg and Jester of Wilshire division were on their way to Mrs. Day's apartment in the Seville, at 539 South Manhattan Place, to await her arrival from Beverly Hills. They arrived too late.

Aat the home the officers found Mrs. Day's mother and her two sisters, aged 16 and 10 years, none of whom had heard of the acid-throwing affair. The officers remained there until they were notified that other detectives had located Mrs. Day at the Hollywood Hospital and were on their way to take charge of the case.

A hurry call was made to the Hollywood Hospital and she was taken there, where the physicians said that she showed symptoms of veronal poisoning, rather than of acid poison of the type with which her husband's face was burned.

GUARD AT HOSPITAL

The seriousness of Mrs. Day's condition prevented the police from taking her into custody, but a police officer was posted at the hospital to prevent her removal in case her condition proved to be better than the early examination showed. She was under technical arrest.

The father of young Day is the president of the Chicago Telephone Company, a director in several Chicago banks, a director in the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and a well-known millionaire of Chicago and Evanston, Ill.

"The agreement contains clauses according to which the Japanese are permitted to cut trees and to undertake all kinds of measures facilitating collection and the transport of material and products.

"In view of the difficulties with which the exploitation is confronted due to geographical conditions, it is stipulated that the export and import of all kinds of objects, material and products necessary for these enterprises or obtained from these enterprises, shall be free from customs duties and the enterprises shall not be subject to such taxation and restrictions as in fact might render profitable exploitation impossible."

Taft's Daughter Appointed Dean at Bryn Mawr

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BRYN MAWR (Pa.) Feb. 23.—Helen Taft Manning, daughter of Chief Justice William Howard Taft, was today appointed dean of Bryn Mawr College. She will take office next September.

Mrs. Manning and her husband, Frederick J. Manning, who leaves Yale this year to become associate professor of history at Swarthmore College, will move to Bryn Mawr early in the autumn. They have two children, Caroline, born January 18, this year, and Helen Taft, born October 6, 1921.

JACK JOHNSON IN STOKES CASE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Jack Johnson, negro, former heavyweight boxing champion, testifying today for the State at the trial of W. E. D. Stokes, New York millionaire and others on trial for conspiracy to defame Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, the defendant's estranged wife, said two negroes, codefendants with Stokes, approached him and asked him to testify falsely that he had known Mrs. Stokes.

Johnson's flippant attitude on the witness stand caused Judge W. N. Gemmill to reprimand him for his demeanor after attorneys had complained that the former fighter "seems to believe the trial is a boxing exhibition."

Johnson's statements that two of the defendants, negroes, Robert Lee of Chicago and Mrs. Hattie Johnson of New York, alleged former agents of Stokes, asked him to swear he knew Mrs. Stokes, were subjected to severe cross-examination. Pinned down, Johnson said he was unable to give definite dates for his alleged interviews with the couple. He admitted that his recollection of the conversations was very general.

"The witness is entitled to protection," said W. W. Smith, Assistant State's Attorney, after Charles E. Rathburn, counsel for the defense, who weighs about 125 pounds, had made a remark about Johnson.

"He will be protected when he answers the questions," said Judge Gemmill. "He had been volunteering remarks. Mr. Witness, answer the questions or you will be in trouble."

Johnson testified in effect that both Lee and Mrs. Johnson had approached him and asked him if he had known Mrs. Stokes whom the State charges the defendants were trying to prove had been an inmate of a notorious Chicago club and had associated with negroes.

Johnson said he told both that he did not know Mrs. Stokes and that they offered him "good money" if he would testify that he had. He said he told Mrs. Johnson that he would not testify in court against a woman, even if he had known her. He had never seen Mrs. Stokes, he said, in reply to a question.

The court sustained an objection to a question asked Johnson on cross-examination, as to whether the offense for which he was committed to a Federal penitentiary was violation of the Mann Act. Defense counsel asked after adjournment if Johnson's criminal record would be admitted and the judge said that it would be admitted "if competent," indicating that the ruling on its competency would be given after it had been offered in evidence.

The court denied a motion to strike out Johnson's testimony because the alleged conversations appeared from Johnson's testimony to have taken place since the defendants were indicted.

TWO DIE IN PISTOL FIGHT

Actual appropriations proposed during the first half of the present session total in excess of $22,000,000 and it is believed an additional $15,000,000 or $20,000,000 will be included in skeleton bills on the files of the Senate and Assembly.

APPEALS FOR SANITY

"I ask all believers in economy," said Gov. Richardson today, "to appeal to their members of the Legislature to check this proposed gigantic raid upon the treasury. Now is the time for the taxpayers of the State to keep California on a sound business basis. I have great confidence in the sanity of the Legislature and believe it will stop many of these assaults upon the treasury, but should it fail to do so, I will exercise the veto power given me by the constitution."

Having completed the first portion of the forty-sixth session in the record time of three weeks, leaders in both Houses are planning to wind up the affairs of the second half in six or seven weeks, thus saving a month or more from the time ordinarily consumed in legislative deliberations. The session two years ago lasted 101 days—one of the longest meetings of the Legislature in the history of the State. It is the hope of Speaker Merriam of the Assembly to complete the session this year on or before April 14. Should this program be fulfilled, the forty-sixth session will have been in session seventy days.

A saving of approximately $1000 a day will be made for each day cut from the length of the session.

BUDGET BILL FIRST

The first imoprtant legislation scheduled for consideration is the Governor's budget bill, which is acceptable in large measure to all factions in the Legislature and which is expected to be ratified with few fundamental changes.

Reapportionment of legislative districts, a proposed tax on gasoline, a highway construction program, tax revision, a new site and new buildings for the Southern Branch of the University of California, proposed taxation of publicly-owned public utilities and water and forest conservation measures form the bulk of other legislative matters awaiting attention.

gling along the border, and for the extradition of those accused of violation of the drug and other smuggling laws.

FOR RIVER SURVEY

As for the question of water supply this will be taken up where it was left off in 1913 by the commission appointed in the previous year by the United States and Mexico to study the Rio Grande water-division problem. The present survey will include, however, the Colorado River, if the wishes of the Mexican government are concurred in. The State Department is said to favor going ahead with the Rio Grande question, leaving the other to a commission to be established later. The Mexican government, it is reported, prefers that one mixed commission make the survey of both rivers.

A postal agreement with more teeth in it than the one adopted at San Antonio, one that will make international swindling by mail so dangerous and unprofitable that it will be done away with, is the desire in this regard. These swindlers have been hampered, but far from stopped, by the existing agreement, it is stated; and it is believed, therefore, that there is need for a more drastic and more carefully drawn treaty. Letters from agencies promising immense dividends to purchasers of stocks in fake mines or oil companies are said to have been the principal offenders in this international swindling game.

In connection with the proposed migratory-bird convention, Maj. Oldman of the United States Biological Survey is going to Mexico to study the situation and help to draft the prohibitory clauses which Mexico will be asked to impose upon its hunters in order to prevent wholesale slaughter of millions of game birds. These birds, flying south, make their winter home in Mexico, with breeding places along the lakes and marshes; and the purpose will be to prevent hunters from killing them in vast quantities merely for sport.

Gen. Wilson volunteered and commanded a division of Gen. The general was educated at McKendree College, Lebanon, Ill., was graduated from West Point in 1860, and assigned to the topographical engineers. He was attached to headquarters of the Department of Oregon and later was chief topographical engineer of the Port Royal expedition. He served in the Department of the South, was at the bombardment of Fort Pulaski and was an acting aide-de-camp to Gen. George B. McClellan until October, 1862, being present at the battles of South Mountain and Antietam.

Gen. Wilson, after a short tour of duty at Washington, in charge of the Cavalry Bureau in the Army of the Potomac, bore a conspicuous part in the operations under Gen. Philip H. Sheridan from May until August, 1864, including the Richmond raid and combats near Petersburg. He also led his division during the Shenandoah campaign, including the battle of Opequan. In October, 1864, he was assigned to the command of the Cavalry Corps of the military division of the Mississippi, organizing a body of 15,000 mounted men, and contributing largely to the success that attended the armies of the West under Gen. George H. Thomas and Gen. William T. In twenty-eight days he captured five fortified cities, twenty-three stand of colors, 288 guns and 6820 prisoners, among whom was Jeffe Davis.

RUM BOAT TAKEN UNDER GUNFIRE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—After a chase of an hour and a half, punctuated with running gunfire, the police boat Gypsy captured the rum-running speed launch, War Bug in the North River off One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street, with three prisoners and 200 cases of liquor.

The Gypsy, which has two 250-horsepower engines, was patrolling the lower bay when the policemen heard a fusillade of shots which they realized came from a coastguard cutter. Out of the darkness a speed boat, running without lights, hove into sight and flashed by. The Gypsy started after her at top speed.

The fugitive rounded Governors Island and made for the Narrows, but was head back by the coastguard craft. Then the rum runner turned her bow toward Newark. The Gypsy's crew opened fire with a repeating shotgun and the fleeing launch circled the Statue of Liberty and started up North River.

The War Bug was obviously heavily loaded and was unable to shake off the police boat, which kept up her fire. Off One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street flames shot upward from the War Bug's engine room and the sound of an explosion was heard. She slowed down and the Gypsy ran alongside.

Patrolman Thomasson leaped for the run-runner's deck, but miscalculated the distance, crashed against the stern of the launch and fell in the river. He was hauled on board by his comrades.

STATE BILLS TO NUMBER THOUSANDS

Industrial Council Says 25 Per Cent of Measures Will be Enacted

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—About 20,000 new laws will be proposed in the various State legislatures this year, and from 4000 to 7500 will finally be enacted, the National Industrial Council estimated in a statement issued today.

"A fair volume of antibusiness proposals are to be found, although this class of law making is considerably less than usual," the statement said.

The number of proposals by legislators to appropriate State money for pet projects and the proposals in eighteen legislatures to increase taxation on gasoline, coal or other mineral or natural resources will, if adopted, cause higher retail prices and State taxes, the statement declared.

"To make it unlawful for a corporation to make any noise interfering with radio broadcasting from 6 p.m. until midnight; requiring State examination and license of beauty doctors; prohibiting the use of paint-spraying machines so union painters can use more time and get more pay by hand painting; making it unlawful for any employer or worker to offer or accept employment under an individual contract not to join a labor union; requiring corporation employers to file proof with State banking department of ability to meet pay roll; requiring motor vehicles to come to a full stop before entering upon paved State roads; providing semimonthly pay day for all labor; limiting freight trains to half a mile in length."

SCABIES WIDESPREAD IN ARIZONA HERDS

TWO COUNTIES QUARANTINED FOLLOWING INSPECTION BY VETERINARIAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Feb. 23. — Cattle scabies is widespread and in serious form in Northwestern Arizona, according to Dr. E. S. Douglas, State veterinarian, who returned today from the infected district. After inspection, in company with two veterinarians of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, proclamation was made of a blanket quarantine directed against exportation of any cattle from Navajo and Apache counties.

Later it is expected that more definite and smaller areas will be designated. According to the State official, the disease appears to have come down from the quarantine period of last year. Meanwhile large shipments of cattle have been made fro mHolbrook to California and other States. Dipping cannot be undertaken now, as the cattle are too poor to stand it.

The situation is declared very serious, with more cases than were known last year, and with affected herds beyond the limits of last year's quaratine, reaching within ten miles of Holbrook.

Actor, Son of Famed Dancing Pair, Kills Self

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Milton W. Nobles, Jr., died in a hospital here after drinking the contents of a phial of poison while aboard a train bound for New York.

Nobles left the cast of the Baltimore cmopany of "Rose Marie" Saturday night, convinced he was a failure in the profession in which his parents, Milton and Dottie Nobles, gained fame as a dancing team. He borrowed a pen from a fellow-passenger, wrote a note to his wife, and then drank the poison.

Nobles was 40 years of age. He was born in New York and educated at Kenyon College in Ohio. His first stage appearance was with the notable cast in the "Two Orphans." In this show were Clara Morris, Grace George, James O'Neill and others. He played with Frank Bacon in stock in San Francisco, later with him in "Lightnin'" and also with his father, Milton, Sr., when the latter assumed Bacon's role.

"When I was a girl at home I suffered with headaches and distress," said Mrs. Ray Edgar, of 345 North 5th St., Colton, Calif., whose picture appears above. "My mother gave me Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it relieved me of this condition. And since I married I have taken the 'Favorite Prescription' as a tonic to build me up whenever in a rundown and weakened state, as when my nerves were bad, and it has always been very beneficial. It has never failed to give me the desired help each time I have taken it. I always advise my friends to take this medicine if they are in any way rundown in health."

Girls, health means beauty. Do not fail to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in liquid or tablets. Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's in Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg. Write for free advice.—[Advertisement.

ROBINS WOULD OUTLAW WARS

Says International Agreement is Only Hope

Newspapers in Classrooms is Advocated

Educators Told They Form Public Opinion

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CINCINNATI (O.) Feb. 23.—An informed and definite public opinion in America, and throughout the world, demanding the outlawry of the war system in all lands must be created and the war institution must be outlawed by international agreement and made a crime under the law of nations, Lieut.-Col. Raymond Robins, of Chicago, declared before a general session of the department of superintendents of the National Education Association convention tonight. Col. Robins formerly held a post in the United States Army in connection with Red Cross work.

"Always the successful method for liberating society from the effects of an outgrown legal institution has been to outlaw the institution and make its exercise a public crime. The attack has never been on causes, because there are just as many causes for duels today, just as many persons who would like to get human labor without paying for it, just as many thirsts for liquor as there ever were, yet there are no duels, no slaves and no legal saloons in the United States."

RURAL SCHOOLS

No movement could contribute more to the realization of the ideal of a square deal and equal opportunity for all American children than the tendency in education during the past few years to overcome the handicaps under which the rural schools of this country have labored in the past, John J. Tigert, United States Commissioner of Education, told a group conference of the superintendents' convention. He pointed out that although slightly more than one-half of the school children in the country attend rural schools, the rural educational facilities have never been comparable with those of the city school systems.

Dr. Tigert spoke in favor of State financing and supervision of the schools.

Declaring that "a live newspaper is better than stale history" and advocating that students in the schools should be taught to study world news and to think in world terms, Augustus S. Thomas, Commissioner of Education of Maine, told a group session of the superintendence delegates that "international justice cannot be taught incidentally, collaterally, nor correlatedly with the effectiveness we desire."

NEWSPAPER FOUNDATION

The foundation of public opinion, in the creation of which he said schools and newspapers were among the most important factors, is laid in the public schools and for this reason, the schools must produce men and women socially minded, rather than students, Eric C. Hopewood, editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, said in an address to the educators.

Boycott of un-American school administrations which have opportunity to creep into the national education program through local authorities in communities, "either blind to American ideals or uninformed as to their application to school administrations," was advocated by Arthur C. Perry, Jr., district superintendent of New York city schools, before another group session. "America's schools constitute her first line of defense," he declared, "and an enlightened citizenry is more essential than armies or navies."

S. D. Shangland, executive secretary of the department of superintendents, told a group session that the child-labor amendment will eventually be ratified, despite the activities of moneyed mill owners working against the bill.

SHIPPING IS DELAYED BY BANK OF FOG

Density is So Great Even Rum Fleet Stands by; City Traffic Affected

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—A fog of smoke screen density covered lower Manhattan and the harbor today, so paralyzing shipping that not a single passenger liner had made her berth in twenty-four hours. Elevated railroad traffic, in lesser degee, also was affected.

Five liners were anchored outside in the thick bank of mist this afternoon unable to get to quarantine; one was at that station, but unable to make her pier, and the Royal Mail liner Orca, due to sail at 10 o'clock with 230 passengers for a twenty-nine-day West Indian cruise, was not prepared to cast off until 5 o'clock, seven hours later.

Rum runners, usually most active during foggy periods, took no chances in the murk which hung upon the waters, but stood by waiting for the mist to lift.

The Cunarder Cameronia from Glasgow, which arrived last night, but was unable to leave quarantine this morning, cast off in the earyl afternoon for a cautious trip up the river and docked at 3 o'clock. The liners at anchor off the bar were the Carmania, Cunarder, from Liverpool; the Minnetonka, Atlantic Transport, from London; the Pastores, United Fruit Line, from Port Limon; the Cedric, White Star, from Liverpool, and the Fort Victoria, Furness-Bermuda Line, from Bermuda. They carry approximately 2118 passengers.

FOUR KILLED, TWO HURT IN TRAIN CRASH

Auto Smashed on Crossing North of Kenosha, Wis., as Rain Blinds Driver

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

KENOSHA (Wis.) Feb. 23.—Four persons were killed in a collision between an automobile and a Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee electric trains at the Birch Road crossing, three miles north of here, today.

Two others in the machine were injured, both possibly fatally, according to reports. The occupants of the automobile apparently failed to hear the siren of the electric train or the crossing bells and lights because of the rain.

A northbound train swung around a curve and sighted the auto too late to check its speed. The dead and injured were placed aboard a southbound train and hurried back to Kenosha.

The dead, all of Kenosha, are: Mrs. Anthony Zelieski, John, 11 years of age, and Sophie, 9, her children, and Theodore Marchulis, 41.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—McDonald H. Wilson, Yale graduate and an authority on economics, who was in the habit of donning old clothes and taking long night walks for recreation and exercise, was arrested as a vagrant and held in $500 bail until his exoneration and discharge on Friday. The story of Wilson's experience leaked out yesterday despite the efforts of the police to prevent it.

Wilson said he was four days convincing the police that a mistake had been made. His appearance, of course, was not in accord with his protestations, and little attention was paid to what he said and requests he made to be permitted to telephone friends were ignored until a magistrate before whom he was arraigned ordered his story investigated.

HOBO FELINE RIDES LOCOMOTIVE TRUCK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BANGOR (Me.) Feb. 23.—Frank S. Whitney, foreman at the Maine Central roundhouse here, has just received one of his pet cats back from the railroad officials at Waterville. The tabby was missed at feeding hour one morning recently.

About this time in the yards at Waterville the engineer of a passenger train was cleaning up his locomotive when he heard frightened cries. He traced the calls and found the frightened cat, half frozen, perched on a tender bolster under the engine.

It seems the cat had fallen asleep in the warm spot on the engine and was carried out on the regular trip on the train, a distance of fifty-five miles. The cat was fed and shipped back to Bangor.

NORTH IRELAND WASTE SCORED

Accusation in Parliament Against Leaders

Former Chancellor Intimates Wrongdoing

Says Policeman Used for Every Six Families

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Former Chancellor of the Exchequer Snowden accused the Belfast government of illegally extracting money from the British treasury in a manner which, he said, did parliamentary etiquette permit, he would "characterize with an ugly word."

The trouble arose over the Home Office's supplementary estimate of £1,250,000 as a grant aid to the revenues of the Ulster government toward the expenses of its special constabulary. Mr. Snowden moved a reduction of the estimate on the ground that there was no legal authority for it, since the maintenance of law and order was an obligation laid upon the national government itself.

The objector said this estimate was the latest concession wrung from the British treasury, which had already been subjected to constant demands from the Ulster government for illegal financial assistance. These demands had become so intolerable that in 1923 Stanley Baldwin, then Chancellor of the Exchequer, had referred them to a committee.

Amid rising indignation and challenges from the Ulster members, Mr. Snowden further accused the Northern Ireland government of desiring this money for the unemployed and for the "support of the Orange ascendancy." He said, counting police and special constables, there was a policeman for every six families in Ulster.

Latest Device for Destroying Evidence Found

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STEVENS POINT (Wis.) Feb. 23.—One of the latest devices for the destruction of intoxicating liquor when a raid by dry agents seemed imminent was found in a saloon at Bancroft, raided by Sheriff Parks. A string and triggers arrangement built into the bar was so constructed that a slight tug on the string would precipitate all liquor underneath the bar into the basement below. A pile of rocks in the basement completes the invention, and the destruction of the evidence. Robert McIntee, inventor, pleaded not guilty to possession of liquor and destroying the evidence.

Merle declared that she thought he was too old, and "to get out of the way" had tried to stab him. Merle showed the marks in the courtroom of a knife wound, but police say he cut himself.

OE BENJAMIN DEFEATS JACK SILVER

OLLYWOOD SHEIK WINS FAST BOUT BY DECISION

Verdict in Ten-Round Scrap Elimination Tournament for Lightweight Championship

BY PAUL LOWRY
"Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—Joe Benjamin, the "Holly- Sheik," is California's representative in the lightweight tournament being conducted by the New York Commission to determine the man that shall wear Leonard's mantle. He won the right to enter the second by decisively whipping Jack Silver, the "Dancing Jew," 15,000 persons in the Recreation ball orchard this after-

Both Benjamin and Silver made the weight easily, which was 138 at 2 o'clock. The former sunk the scales at 136 1-2 and the latter at 134 3-4.

Clear skies and a mild sun collaborated in giving San Francisco perfect weather conditions for its first big open-air fight in years. The heavy rain of Sunday disappeared entirely and the sun came out bright and early. The ring was located at the pitcher's box and the soggy ground covered with an improvised board floor which saved the tootsies of all concerned.

Silver's defeat was somewhat of a surprise to the San Francisco betting fraternity who had installed their man a 10-to-7 favorite. But they were quickly disillusioned by Benjamin's easy copping of the first two rounds, and

MERCURY FIVE IS VICTORIOUS

L.A.A.C. Quintet Wins Over Hollywood Team

Score of Brilliant Battle is 22 to 16

Potter and Olney Are Bright Stars of Tilt

BY BRAVEN DYER

Several hundred wild-eyed, rabid basketball fans jammed the L.A.A.C. gymnasium last night to see the Mercury quintet score a sensational 22-to-16 victory over the battling Hollywood Athletic Club team in as thrilling an athletic exhibition as has been staged in these parts since Boyle Workman's dad used to ride down to the City Hall on his bicycle. By their victory the winners tied with Hollywood for the A.A.U. championship of Southern California, each team dropping two games during the tourney. There will be a play-off for the title later.

The Mercury tossers won because they were a bit smarter than their rivals and considerably better on the defensive. Starting the season in none too good form, the L.A.A.C. athletes last night formed a smooth-working machine that took the lead at the start of the battle and after getting one point behind in the middle of the first half, stepped out in front and was never headed.

POTTER IS STAR

Chief honors go to Glenn Potter, dubbed "The Orange Flash" when he used to play in the Big Ten, who scored four field goals and a free throw to make himself high-point man for the evening. Potter, a little fellow, put on a great act with Johnny Hawkins, who was assigned to guard him. The former U.S.C. athlete kept his man all bottled up in the first half, but in the second session Potter located the hoop four times with sensational shots.

Old reliable Fred Olney, who has been playing basketball as long as Bryan has been running for President, came through with his usual timely shots at the close of the game. With the score 18 to 16 in his team's favor and Hollywood in the midst of a desperate rally, Fred shoved the casaba through the net on two occasions. Maynard Laswell played a great floor game, but wasn't so good at finding the basket, especially during the first half.

The Hollywood team was reinforced by the addition of Louie Meilette, former Occidental star, and the way the ex-Tiger handled the ball caused the assembled folks to sit up and take notice. The brilliant guarding of Saunders and Larson kept both he and Chuck Kearney well in check, however, and neither man was able to do much damage. Warner, running guard for the losers, was their best man, four field goals being chalked up to his credit. He was easily one of the outstanding players of the night.

PUT ON SPURT

Score at half-time was 8 to 5 in favor of the victors, Hollywood having led for a minute at 5 to 4. The Mercury men ran the count to 14 to 6 in the second half, but a great spurt by their rivals made it 18 to 16, with five minutes to go. Olney then got a basket and Herf Saunders got three teeth knocked out and had to get a doctor. Slaughter took his place. Another basket by Olney put the game on ice.

Most of the spectators went home more tired out than the players, so intense was the rivalry between the two clubs.

Line-ups:

L.A.A.C.—22		Hollywood—16
Potter (9)	F.	Kearney (6)
Laswell (7)	F.	Mellette (2)

CLAIMS WORLD'S RECORD

KEARNEY (Neb.) Feb. 23.—By hanging up its thirty-sixth consecutive victory during three seasons, Peru State Normal School's basketball team claims to have established a world's record in intercollegiate basketball.

TENNIS FINALS ARE POSTPONED

Threatening weather yesterday caused the officials of the Southern California Tennis Association to call off the finals of the annual midwinter tournament. The remainder of the affair has been deferred until March 7 and 8, uncompleted semi-finals being scheduled for Saturday, March 7, and the finals the following day.

The event was postponed two weeks so as not to interfere with the Huntington Hotel invitational event.

HERE ARE THE CONFIDENCE MEN

WILKINSON INJURED IN SMASH-UP

Suffers Fractured Back in Speedway Accident; Cars Ready for Sunday

Although Stuart Wilkinson emerged from his spectacular smash-up Sunday on the Culver City Speedway apparently in good condition, examination yesterday revealed the fact that he fractured his back in two places when his car smashed into the guard rail at the top of the southeast turn. His injury is not as serious as might be expected, however, as there are no compound fractures to complicate matters, and his physicians expect to have him up and around in a few weeks. He will have to lie flat on his back for three weeks, it is said.

The three cars which featured the brief program of accidents at Culver City Sunday will probably all be ready to start again next Sunday. Elliott's car was the worst damaged of the three. Dr. Shattuck's mount will be ready for practice Thursday or Friday. Nothing had been done on Wilkinson's car yesterday, as he will be unable to drive, but if a driver is secured it will be possible to repair the car. None of the engines were seriously damaged.

In addition, Pete Kreis, who broke a crankshaft in practice last Friday, will have his car ready for the starter's flag, which will bring the list of entries up to nineteen.

WELTER CHAMP FAVORED BY ODDS ON BIG SCRAP

Whittier Mexican Granted Only Slim Chance to Triumph in Twelve-Round Battle

Mickey Walker, second world's champion to appear in California since the adoption of the new boxing law—will go into the ring tonight at Jack Doyle's Vernon arena a slight favorite over Bert Colima.

The odds of 8 to 5 are due mainly to the fact that Walker is the champion rather than the idea that the Pacific Coast middleweight star hasn't a chance.

To those who have watched both fighters in training for the past week Colima looks to be in the better form.

Walker is sometimes a slow starter and he won many of his bouts by his strong and spectacular finishes.

But Colima's admirers think that if the Coast boxer ever gets in front Walker will have to show more than he has in training to overtake him.

Another angle that favors Colima and crosses the betting odds is that Walker is figured to be from a week to two weeks away from his best form.

From the very start the champion has had trouble with his wind, and daily in his workouts it was hard for him to get up the speed he usually shows.

The climate has affected Walker and the California winter has upset his system. On whether the champion will be at his best or not seems to hinge the result. Some of the betting is that Walker will score a knockout before the tenth round. Other wagers are laid that if the bout goes the entire route Colima will win on points.

As no official decision will be rendered by the referee the picking will be done by the newspaper scribes. Outside the cut over Colima's right eye the Mexican boy is in fine shape. If confidence has anything to do with it Bert will be taking bows tomorrow and pointed to as the man who beat the middleweight champion of the world.

Dave Shade, the only eastern contender for Walker's title, was easily defeated by the speedy and clever Colima here some time ago.

The semi-wind-up brings together Ray Miller of Chicago and California, Joe Lynch of San Francisco in an eight-round bout at 124 pounds.

Miller is a new face in the West, but has a formidable record with eighteen knockouts in thirty-one fights.

Miller is a two-handed fellow who is constantly on the aggressive and against this style of fighter Lynch is at his best.

The four-rounder between Lew Rollinger and Young George, once known as Dynamite George, should also give the fans a thrill. Both are knockdown fighters.

Indications are the Vernon arena will be packed.

Promoter Jack Doyle said yesterday it looked like a sell-out which would gross around $60,000.

Of this Walker will pocket $25,000 and Colima $10,000.

The gallery section of seats, $35,000, will go on sale at 6 o'clock this evening.

All the ceremonies of a championship fight will attend the show.

The audience will be dotted with prominent movie stars, society folks and many prominent Spanish and Mexican fans.

Gov. Rodriquez of Lower California has a reservation. He is a great admirer of Colima.

Both Walker and Colima spent the day yesterday resting.

Colima has a three-inch reach advantage over Walker. His span is seventy-one inches. He is also an inch and three-quarters taller.

Dutch Meyers will handle Colima.

NURMI AGAIN TRIUMPHS

Sturdy Finn Wins Two-Mile Feature Race, But Fails to Set Record at Johns Hopkins Meet

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BALTIMORE, Feb. 23.—Paavo Nurmi, raced to triumph tonight in a two-mile race featuring the Johns Hopkins Fifth Regiment indoor games, but the Phantom Finn failed to hang up any new records in spite of a withering pace that forced four of the seven opponents to drop out.

Willie Plant, American walking champion, stepped a decisive victory in the 8000-meter handicap heel-and-toe event, but failed to threaten his own world record for the distance. His time of 13m. 28s. was more than thirty-eight seconds slower than his indoor standard.

Plant finished half a lap in front of Mack Weiss, New York, who started with a fifty-yard handicap. The rest of the field, conceded allowances up to 200 yards, was outdistanced.

J. McHugh, Georgetown University sprinter, captured the 100-yard open handicap dash, one of the early features, in 10s flat. McHugh had a seven-yard handicap. R. H. Bartholmew, Penn State, handicapped at three yards, finished second and E. E. Melton, Georgetown, 5 1-2 yards, third.

SCHOLZ VICTOR

Jackson Scholz, fleet-footed New York A.C. sprinter and Olympic 200-meter champion, captured the invitation 100-yard dash, but was hard pressed to withstand a strong finishing challenge by H. H. Cumming, University of Virginia star, who was barely a yard behind at the tape.

Scholz was off to a slow start, but quickly opened up a gap. He had several yards' margin at midway, but Cumming closed in the most of this gap in the final spurt. Bartholomew of Penn State finished third and Ziegler, Washington schoolboy, fourth. Scholtz's time was 10s flat.

Sid Leslie of the New York Athletic Club, raced to victory over four middle-distance rivals in a special 800-meter race. Setting most of the pace and holding his lead in a brisk finishing drive, Leslie broke the tape five yards in front of Ray Watson, Lllinois A.C., with Ray Dodge of the same club third and Jimmy Connolly of Washington, fourth.

Leslie was clocked in 1m. 57s., three seconds slower than the world's indoor mark set Saturday night at Washington by Alan Helffrich, Penn State flyer, who failed to toe the mark tonight, although he had been entered. Jack Sellers, New York A.C., found the pace

JOIE RAY CAPTURES MILE RUN

Chicago Distance Star Wins Feature Event of Boston Legion Games

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, Feb. 23.—Joie Ray, star Chicago miler, easily captured the "Legion mile" feature event of the American Legion games held here today, when Willie Ritola, Finland's Olympic distance champion, failed to appear at the meet, and Lloyd Hahn, B.A.A., present world's indoor mile record holder, withdrew from the race after covering three-quarters of the distance. Williard Tibbets, Harvard miler, came out of the ruck with a rush to win second place from Leo Larrivee of Holy Cross. The time was 4m. 31 3-5s.

Charles Gorman, in charge of the games, announced after the meet that he had wired Murray Hulbert of New York, president of the A.A.U., asking that Ritola be barred from further competition because of his action.

Ugo Frigerio, Italian Olympic walking champion, set a new indoor record in winning the 4000-meter handicap walk. Frigerio quickly made up the liberal handicaps allowed his local opponents and succeeded in lapping the field, covering the distance in 18m. 20 2-5s.

RAIN FAILS TO HALT PRACTICE

Seraph Contract is Signed by George Payne

Penner and Bryan Hold Out for More Money

Red Billman to Join Tiger Tossers Today

BY ROBERT E. RAY

Oscar Reichow, business manager of the Los Angeles club, yesterday announced that George Payne, star Angel hurler who has been holding out for more cash, had agreed to terms and signed his 1925 contract. This took an awful load off Marty Krug's chest, but the Angel pitching staff wouldn't be worth much without Payne, who should have a great year.

Doc Crandall, Joe "Shag" Horan and Ray Grimes are still on the Seraph hold-out list, buit it is expected that they will come into the fold before long.

Both the Seraphs and Bengals started spring training yesterday, despite the showers, which made all the hurlers throw spitters every time they let go of the ball.

HURLERS GATHER

Bill Essick gathered together a flock of pitchers and catchers at Maier Park for the Bengal workout. "Vinegar Bill" rigged the athletes out in monkey suits at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and sent them through a two-hour grind. Among those who worked out yesterday were Pitchers Clyde Barfoot, Jimmy Christian, Clay Carson, Ed Groat, Ernie Haycox, Wee Ludolph, Lloyd Stark and Lefty Thomas, and Catchers Rod Whitney and Bert Read. Johnny Butler, whom the Chicago White Sox have purchased from the Witchita club, also worked out with the Bengals.

Manager Essick announced that Ken Penner and Ed Bryan, two of the Tigers' best chuckers, were holding out for more cash, while no signed contract has been received from Denny Murphy, either. Murphy sometimes brings his signed contract out with him from Connecticut, so it is not known whether he is a hold-out or not.

Howard Lorenz, Vernon secretary, stated that Red Billman, who has been pitching good ball for Hannah's Tigers and Babe Twombly's club in the Winter League, has been signed to a Bengal contract and would report at Maier Park tomorrow. Phil Weinert, southpaw hurler obtained from the Philadelphia Nationals, is on his way out, while "Truck" Hannah will report for practice in a couple of days. Harry is now busy building a house.

TWENTY WORK OUT

Over at Washington Park, Marty Krug took a squad of twenty players, mostly rookies, for a workout at 10 o'clock in the morning. The athletes perspired for three hours before th eskipper called a halt until tomorrow.

Tom Hughes, Bill Whaley, Ed Spencer, Johnny Gunther and Babe Twombly were the Seraphs' regulars on hand. All were as frisky as young colts. Krug had to kick Twombly and Whaley off the infield in order that some of the rookies might get a chance to show their stuff.

Of the youngsters, Doug Taitt, a husky outfielder from Oakland; Frank Peckham, a young firstsacker whom Prexy Joe Patrick, who was on hand looking them over, described as being "as big as Jim Jeffries;" Pete Thompson and Ray Dwyer loomed up in the hitting practice.

Krug believes he has lined up some good hurling prospects in Bill Gould, from the University of California; Rex Hickox, a southpaw from Twombly's Long Beach club; Elmer Phillips and Harry Sanders. Other Angels out were Matt Offer, Spider Kelly and Russ Ennis catchers; Harry Benjamin, Bob Webb, Buzz Cleary and Lee Dempsey, infielders.

BENJAMIN WINS FROM SILVER

the third-round knockdown definitely swung the tide.

Those first three rounds were as fast and furious as any ever staged. Silver was game and fought back steadily, refusing to pedal his bicycle until later in the fight, but all he had was a series of right-crosses, and Benjamin's were better. Silver's left was simply a push shot, and did not damage whatsoever.

His best rounds were the fourth and seventh. In the fourth he landed repeatedly with right crosses to the head, but they were negatived by a stiff right-hand sock which Benjamin spun on Silver's chin, the Jew reeling from it. Silver took the sheik with head punches in the seventh.

Jimmy Dougherty refereed the fight against the advice of his physician. He was suffering from a bad attack of lumbago, but in order not to disappoint Commissioner Hanlon, he went through as scheduled, and performed nobly.

Just before the main event started Harry Morrison, the "father" of California's present boxing bill, was introduced from the ring. Ace Hudkins was introduced and challenged the winner. Dougherty called the principals together at 3:50 p.m. Benjamin was handled by Dolf Thomas, Johnny Dempsey, Eddie O'Connors and Lee Moore. Silver had Hutch Hutchinson and George White in his corner.

The curtain raiser between Johnny Buff and Frankie Novey resulted in a draw. The other bouts were as follows: Young Datto defeated Larry Murphy in four rounds; Stewart McLean knocked out Billy Kennedy in the fourth round, and "Windmill" Frankie Denny won the decision from Ernie Owens in the eight-round semi-wind-up.

L.A.A.C. HOCKEY TEAM WINS

The Los Angeles Athletic Club team defeated the Monarch Club, 3 to 1, in the opening hockey game of the season last night at the Palais de Glace. Capt. Howard starred for the winners, with the work of Shaffer and Jacobs featuring for the losers.

CAVALRY POLOISTS WIN GAME

Army Team Has Little Trouble Beating Coronado Squad, 12 to 3

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 23.—The Tenth United States Cavalry polo four overwhelmingly defeated the Coronado Country Club team today in a game, which, despite the one-sided score of 12 goals to 3, provided plenty of excitement. The fourth period was especially featured by thrills for both players and onlookers. During this chukker Capt. Ervin narrowly escaped serious injury when his pony stumbled, throwing Ervin; two minutes later Capt. Taylor and Phipps collided in a rush for the ball, Phipps also being thrown, but luckily escaped harm and resumed play.

The playing of Lieut. Thayer and Capt. Taylor of the Tenth Cavalry sparkled with brilliancy, each scoring five goals.

The score:

Tenth United States Cavalry, 12—Lieut. Basil Thayer, 5; Capt. James Taylor, 5; Lieut. John Healy, 0; Lieut. W. M. Biddle, 2.

Coronado Country Club, 3—L. B. Humphreys, 1; L. C. Phipps, 0; Capt. R. S. Ervin, 2; Maj. H. Russell, 0.

The winner of today's match will meet the Midwick four captained by Hal Roach which is to arrive at Coronado the latter part of the week. The San Mateo team is also expected to arrive with the Midwick outfit and both teams will remain for the annual midwinter tournament to begin early in March.

About 100 polo ponies from the northern part of the State will be shipped to Coronado this week.

GARNSEY ASKED TO MAIL TROUT LIMITS

Leigh Garnsey, manager of the Rainbow Angling Club, announces that during the last week he has been requested by nine different members to mail limits of trout to the members' friends in the east.

The angling club boss also declares that at the present time there are 1,500,000 eggs in the club hatchery. One million alone are Rainbow trout eggs.

SPRING IS HERE!

And with it spring showers and spring baseball training, both arriving simultaneously yesterday. Here are a few shots taken at Maier Park and Washington Park, the rival camps of the Tigers and Angels. The gent doing the leaping tuna is none other than Willie Whaley, the Seraphs's infielder-outfielder, while on the right is Clyde Barfoot, the new pitcher the Vernon club purchased from the Texas League. In the "high-low" game below are Johnny Butler (batting,) Chicago White Sox infielder who worked out with the Bengals at Maier Park, Barfoot, Lloyd Stark, young pitcher from Berkeley, and Wee Ludolph.

Baltimore Boxer on Floor for Three Counts

Goodrich Wins Over Wagner in Semi-Wind-up

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Feb. 23. Tommy O'Brien, Milwaukee lightweight, upset the dope here tonight when he knocked out George K. O. Chaney, Baltimore scrapper, in the sixth round. It was a first-round bout of the lightweight elimination tournament being staged here to find a representative scrapper to wear Benny Leonard's discarded crown.

Before the battle it was predicted freely that Chaney would topple the Milwaukee lad, but O'Brien proved to be the one with the deadly wallop.

FORCED GOING

O'Brien forced the going all the way and in the sixth knocked Chaney down three times before the latter took the count. The round had gone but one minute and two seconds.

The semi-wind-up, another elimination contest between Eddie "Kid" Wagner of Philadelphia and Jimmy Goodrich, Buffalo's representative, went to the latter after twelve rounds of fighting. The bout was called a draw at the end of ten rounds and the fighters sent two more frames.

VERDICT UNPOPULAR

The decision was unpopular, the fans voicing their disapproval in a wild demonstration that lasted fifteen minutes after the close of the battle.

Goodrich weighed 134½ and Wagner 132½.

McKillop and Dillon carried the baton for Boston College over the first two legs of the journey. Boettcher, running last for Lafayette, gained third place for his team by outrunning Elmer McLane of Pennsylvania. The winner's time was 7m. 39 2-5s.

University of Richmond captured a three-cornered one-mile relay race for South Atlantic colleges, leading Randolph-Macon College by thirty-five yards, with William and Mary third. The time was 3m. 35 3-5s.

MAY REINSTATE KERR

Former Star White Sox Southpaw Seeks to Get Back in Organized Baseball Once More

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Dick Kerr, diminutive left-handed pitcher who rose to heights of baseball fame during the world series of 1919, is seeking reinstatement in organized baseball and indications are that he will soon be wearing a White Sox uniform again.

Differences arose after the world series over the pay allotted Kerr, who is a Texas product, and he has been playing with semipros ever since. Stories credited to Kerr have been published, stating that he never had been paid more than $3300 a year and that Comiskey had pay. Kerr wrote Comiskey, denying having given any such interview and asking to be reinstated. Comiskey will be glad to reinstate him and the matter was taken up with Commissioner Landis, who, it is said, insists Kerr shall do penance for another year before being taken back.

The records show that Kerr was under contract for $6000, not including his share of the city series. Kerr will go to St. Louis to remain until he is formally reinstated.

TILDEN IN EASY VICTORY

Philadelphia Net Star Downs Rice in Straight Sets at Buffalo; Davies, Rice Lose Doubles

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BUFFALO (N. Y.) Feb. 23.—William T. Tilden of Philadelphia, world's tennis champion, today defeated Lawrence Rice of Boston in straight sets to win his second leg on the Buffalo tennis and squash midwinter indoor invitation tournament trophy. The score was 6-0, 6-4, 6-2. Watson M. Washburn and E. T. Herndon of New York, defeated James Davies of California and Rice in the doubles finals.

The doubles match was nip and tuck until at two games all Rice showed signs of tiring. Washburn was the mainstay for the winning pair. He drove, brilliantly down the center of the court to score and displayed a magnificent defensive game. Superior steadiness of the New Yorkers stood them in good stead in warding smashes at close range across the net.

Summaries:

Doubles, final round: Watson M. Washburn and E. T. Herndon, New York, defeated James Davies, California, and Lawrence Rice, Boston, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, 6-3, 6-4.

Pell won without difficulty, being pressed only in the final game when Mortimer forced him to the twenty-eighth point to win.

Except two years ago, when Mortimer defeated Pell in the final round, the champion has held unquestioned superiority in racquets for ten years.

UPSON WINS COLLEGIATE TITLE AGAIN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DEL MONTE, Feb. 23.—Lauren Upson of the University of California today for the second time won the California intercollegiate golf championship, when on the Del Monte course he defeated his fellow Californian, Lloyd Thomas, 6 and 4, in a thirty-six-hole match.

There was little to choose between the golf the two college stars played, in spite of the fact that the score apparently gives Upson a wide margin, from the tee and through the fairway. Thomas played at least on equal terms with the defending champion, but on the greens and around the greens Thomas was a bit nervous, while Upson's putting touch was little short of miraculous. Time after time he ran down long putts when under fire. Thomas, on the other hand, putted boldly for the back of the cup and took such chances as a good golfer should take—but the putts would not drop for him.

Ashton Stanley, former California junior champion, and now a student at Stanford, won the Del Monte play, defeating Campbell, also of Stanford, 5 and 4, in the finals.

MANAGER DIES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.— San Francisco mer- former heavyweight boxer and manager of Jim Jef- the time he lost the world's title to Jack John- 1910, died here today after illness.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER, BILL HENRY

THE Walker-Colima melee at Jack Doyle's black-eye bazaar out Vernon way tonight ought to settle a number of things. First of all—and most interesting, of course—it will give an initial peek at the present welterweight champion, who is pretty generally regarded down East as the greatest little fighting machine of his weight in the world, and the best champion that division has had for many a day.

Secondly—and just about as interesting—will be a line on Bert Colima's ability to scramble over the longer route. Bert is admittedly one of the greatest four-round battlers in the world at his weight, and he has held his own with many eastern ring stars over the sprint distance. In trying to hold off the battling title holder on the welterweight division he is trying something new.

• • •

From another angle just as interesting will be the response of the local public to championship fighting and championship prices. The boys who used to get ringside seats for a few bucks and have to pay fifteen tonight are going to be hard to please. It's perfectly true that they'd have to pay more than that to see Walker fight an equally good opponent in the East, but it hasn't been done before out here.

If Walker and Colima put up a good fight—and they certainly figure to do so—the chances are that this kind of battling will be staged for our edification every once in a while, but it is already apparent that the longer bouts and the higher prices have completely changed the business of promoting bouts from a "sure thing," as it was in the old four-round days—to pretty much of a gamble.

• • •

The Southern California Tennis Association seems at last to have found the combination with which to open up a new era in tennis south of the Tehachapi. The experiment of mixing things up so as to give the juniors a chance has proved to be a howling success, and practically every junior and senior who has participated has testified to the great success of the midwinter tournament, which is still in progress, thanks to J. Pluvius.

All the old doubles combinations were broken up and each of the older players was asked to take a junior as a partner, and the result has been more excitement than we've ever had at a tournament where the players were exclusively local talent. Juniors and seniors alike have enjoyed the new scheme, and the uncertainty that has resulted is the best thing that has happened locally in a good many years.

• • •

It used to be that every tournament was an absolute farce as far as men's doubles were concerned, since it was inevitable that Snodgrass and Wesbrook, Godshall and Ferrandini, and Sindorf and Warren would be three of the four teams in the semifinals. Inasmuch as these three teams had played each other in every tournament since the ark landed on Mt. Ararat, it was only natural that the public preferred a thrilling game of mah jongg or a wild afternoon doing crossword puzzles.

But this year it is all different. Godshall is playing with Howe Bancroft, 15-year-old boy champion from San Diego; Pep Jones played with Kussman from L. A. High; Gorchakoff of L. A. High played with Callahan; Sindorf is paired off with Craig, another junior; Ted Easton, not yet 15 years old, is playing with Roy Hornidge, and they have been the big riot of the tourney. There are several other similar combinations.

This is the first time in something like twenty years—if not the first time in history—that there has ever been a real attempt to encourage the juniors in Southern California. Hitherto the juniors never got a chance. Harvey Snodgrass rose to national prominence in the face of the most discouraging snubs by the older players, who never would play with him when he was a youngster.

It wasn't so much that the older players were deliberately trying to freeze out the youngsters — although there were a lot of them who were much inclined that way—but simply an absence of a definite policy of encouragement. The result of encouraging the junior players is shown in a total of fifty junior entries in the junior singles—a record-breaking entry list.

SENIORS IN BIG TOURNEY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PINEHURST (N. C.) Feb. 23.—Sixty players, including W. K. Wells, Newell, W. Va., senior champion, teed off today in the qualifying round of the annual seniors' golf tournament, limited to men 55 years old and over.

QUALIFY AT SAN GABRIEL

First Day of Medal Play Scheduled in Annual Invitation Tournament on Mission Links

The annual invitation tournament of the San Gabriel Country Club—one of the premiere events of the Southern California Golf Association's schedule each season—will open today with the first day of qualifying. The course is in the best of shape, and arrangements have been completed by the tournament committee headed by Andy Getty and including Grant Halstead and Tommy Langdon to make the visitors feel right at home.

Provision has been made for ten flights, trophies for the winners in each and in the defeated eights having been put up for competition. The prizes will be strictly practical for all but the medal round, for which the conventional cups will be offered. Last season's San Gabriel's trophies were conspicuously appropriate, and this year's collection is just as impressive.

The recent rains have done wonders for San Gabriel's course, which was frankly in only fair shape a few months ago. Now the fairways are covered with lush Bermuda, and the greens have been barbered to perfection.

Match play will start Thursday, as qualifying will also be permitted tomorrow. First rounds will be played Thursday, second rounds Friday, and semifinal and final matches Saturday in all flights.

Caddy Master Langdon announces that he he has plenty of caddies, but golfers who prefer their own bag carriers may bring them along. Drawings for the match play will be made tomorrow night, and will appear in these columns Thursday morning.

SEEK TO OUST WILLIE RITOLA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, Feb. 23.—Charles F. Gorman, athletic director of the Massachusetts department of the American Legion, announced tonight he had requested by wire the immediate suspension of Willie Ritola, Finnish Athletic Club distance star, as the result of the failure of the latter to appear in the American Legion track games here today.

Mr. Gorman said that Ritola had not come to the meet despite the fact that his manager had accepted $40 expense money.

Gorman also said he was contemplating a request to Amateur Athletic Union authorities to investigate the running of Lloyd Hahn, crack Boston miler, who dropped out of the Legion mile after running less than three-quarters of the distance.

The request for Ritola's suspension was sent to Murray Hulbert, president of the Amateur Athletic Union, and was directed to his offices in New York, Mr. Gorman said, adding he offered to submit his evidence to the registration committee of the metropolitan association.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 23.—Willie Ritola's failure to appear today in the American Legion track meet at Boston was due to failure to notify the Finnish-American distance star in sufficient time, according to a statement here tonight by Hugo Quist, track adviser of both Ritola and Paavo Nurmi.

Ritola was not advised of his engagement in Boston until this morning, Quist explained, as a result of misunderstanding and then did not have time to arrange the trip. Ritola had not filed a formal entry, however, according to Quist, who said he had merely promised verbally to have the runner compete. He denied knowledge of any expense money being advanced to Ritola, as reported in Boston.

Quist expressed regret over the mix-up and expressed belief that he could explain the incident to the satisfaction of A.A.U. officials. Ritola is now in New York.

FRESNO, Feb. 23.—Budge Clark, former California tennis captain, today won the net championship of Fresno county by defeating Bob Waring of Kerman in the singles finals, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3. Clark and Waring took the doubles title by defeating Walter Senior and Laurence King, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2. For the third consecutive season Mrs. Cora Bramblett Buford won the women's singles title. She defeated Mrs. B. A. Neuman, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4, today after a stubborn fight. Last season Mrs. Buford also vanquished Mrs. Neuman in the finals.

The championships this year were sanctioned by the U. S. L.T.A., and attracted an entry of over 260, the largest since the tourney was begun four years ago by the Fresno Morning Republican, under whose auspices the event is held.

BUFFALO (N. Y.) Feb. 23.—Palmer Dixon of Harvard University defeated C. C. Peabody of Boston in the finals of the national individual squash racquets championship today, 10-15, 15-8, 15-9, 15-6.

VIC ALDRIDGE HOLDS OUT FOR BIGGER WAGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PITTSBURG, Feb. 23.—Vic Aldridge, a pitcher obtained by the Pittsburg National League baseball club in a local deal with the Chicago Clubs, is a hold-out, and will not leave for the training camp at Paso Robles, Cal., tomorrow with the main squad, Pirate officials disclosed today.

"We have offered Aldridge a large increase over his salary last year with Chicago, and do not feel like going higher," Sam Dreyfuss, treasurer of the Pittsburg club, said today.

Dreyfuss added that there was a possibility of Aldridge joining the squad at Chicago and coming to terms with the club. The salary figure in the contract offered Aldridge was not disclosed.

Other Pittsburg players have signed contracts with the exception of Calvin Euliss, Dreyfuss said.

LABOR TROUBLE PANACEA URGED

Sage Foundation Seeks Cure in Co-operation

Results of Colorado Trial Not Satisfactory

Employers Must Understand Wage-Earners' View

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The success of employees' representation in industry, through which approximately 800 companies are now attempting to solve their labor problems, depends largely on the ability of employers to understand the point of view of wage-earners, to secure their co-operation, and to develop leadership among them. This is indicated in a 500-page report issued by the department of industrial studies of the Russell Sage Foundation.

While the report is based on a five-year study of employees' representation in the coal mines of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company—undertaken by the Foundation in 1919 and completed last summer—it is pointed out that the analysis of the relations between employer and employee in this industry is true also of the railroads, the packing industry, the textile industry, and other important branches of American business.

The report, prepared by Miss Mary Van Kleeck and Ben M. Selekman of the department of industrial studies, points out that though the labor situation in the mines of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company is much more satisfactory than before the employees' representation plan was introduced ten years ago, nevertheless there have been three strikes among the miners of this company since its introduction, and that during one of these strikes State troops were kept in the vicinity of the mines for several months.

COMPANY TYRANNICAL

The report reveals other instances of antagonism between the company and its employees. Thus, in all the camps the miners were prevented from holding union meetings in the buildings of the local Y.M.C.A., a majority of whose board of directors were officials of the company. And in one camp when the miners attempted to rent the only other available public hall—a dancing pavilion—for union meetings, the company, to prevent its use for this purpose, bought the pavilion and razed it.

The report attributes the partial failure of the employees' representation plan to the local officials of the company rather than to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who personally introduced the plan. The Foundation's investigators report that although the employees' representation plan limits the power of discharge—the abuse of which by foremen and superintendents caused many of the labor difficulties of earlier years—foremen and superintendents have to be trained and carefully supervised in carrying out a policy which involves changes in their traditional attitude.

Speaking of industry at large, the Foundation's investigators say: "Local rather than national organization of employees is exactly what is desired by many employers; some of these welcome employees' representation, because they see only that phase of it which limits its activities to employees within a single company, and they believe it offers an escape from their difficulties with trade unions.

CAUSES OF ANTAGONISM

Organizers and union officials irritate them, and many are the charges of arrogance and lack of responsibility or efficiency which employers heap upon the leaders of unions. Some of the criticisms are well-deserved; some are the natural result of the constant opposition of employers to unionism; some are merely efforts to justify irritation which a manager feels in being obliged to make concessions to the demands of labor. On the other hand, the men feel that a national organization alone has the power to protect them in a conflict with their employers.

"It is foolish to deny a divergence of interest between employers and employees. Every dispute over wages illustrates it. The need is to establish some means of adjusting these divergent claims without the wasteful conflict by which the power of each side is tested and the issue decided in favor of the stronger."

SOVIET REGIME HIT BY REPORT

Dark Picture of Conditions Drawn by Britons

Findings of Labor Delegates Given to Unions

Gagged Press, Idleness and Moral Decay Found

BY JOHN STEELE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Soviet Russia's public and press is gagged into silence, private enterprise is mercilessly suppressed, all home life is rapidly disappearing, and abortion is a legalized practice in government hospitals in Moscow.

These are only a few of the acts disclosed in the report just completed by seven British labor delegates who recently returned from an official investigation of conditions in Russia on behalf of the trade-union congress. The seven trade unionists are all prominent British leaders.

"No attack on the Communist party is permitted," the report reads in part, "to be devoted to the present condition of the Russian press. The dictatorship of the existing government in all cases is strongly upheld. Very few papers are self-supporting.

"A woman can procure abortion by an authorized physician in a state hospital, provided she is able to give the medical board a satisfactory reason why she should not have a child. Necessary reasons are inability to bring up a child or ill health.

"As it will be imagined, the result of the housing arrangements in the large cities is having a very marked effect on social and family life over a large section of the community. There is very little family life. Only in Leningrad is a whole flat obtainable for one family. There seems to be no housing shortage there, but in all the other cities not more than three rooms can be had."

Speaking of religious freedom in Russia, the returned delegates have this to say:

"Very strong propaganda in the press, schools, colleges, trade unions and clubs is being carried on against religion generally."

The report admits that only 5.4 per cent of the Russian workers formerly engaged in industrial pursuits now have employment under the soviet regime.

Girl is Earning Way in College Caring for Dog

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Of all the girls at Barnard College who are earning their way, Miss Ceridwyn Nolph has the most striking occupation. She is "governess" to Tommy, a Westhighland terrier.

Miss Nolph has a particular love for Tommy, because he is helping her to support herself while she studies for a degree. Tommy is the pet of Barnard campus, and is owned by Miss Virginia Gildersleeve, dean of the college.

Miss Nolph gets 50 cents an hour for taking care of Tommy. When Miss Nolph is not disposed to watch after the dog other deserving girls at Barnard have the opportunity to take him out, and also get the usual fee.

ARIZONA TO AID ARBORETUM

Bill Passed by One House of Legislature Would Exempt Thompson Institution from Taxation

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Feb. 24.—A bill that has passed one house of the Arizona Legislature exempting from taxation institutions designed for scientific research is intended to apply especially to the Boyce Thompson Southwestern Arboretum, recently started near Superior, sixty-five miles east of here.

It is reported that $4,000,000 will be furnished as an endowment by its founder, William Boyce Thompson, New York capitalist, who for years headed the Magma Copper Company, which has its mines and reduction works in Superior, a few miles distant from his new benefaction. In the East, at Yonkers-on-the-Hudson, is a similar plant, more a laboratory for plant research than an open-air field for development and study of rare botanical growths, such as is the Arizona institution.

The Arizona aboretum has been given a rare scenic setting. Behind it is the bulk of Picket Post Butte, a lone mountain that once was used for outposts of troopers of the commands of Gens. Cook and Stoneman, with a wonderful sweep of vision over a 100-mile segment of plain that lies open to the west, south and southeast, as well as dominating the hill region around. At the western base is a narrow canyon through which flows Queen Creek, and set upon a tufa conglomerate crag, is the Spanish castle that serves as winter residence for the founder. In front are a few thousand acres of rough desert terrain, through which has been built a State highway that leads from Phoenix to Superior, Globe and eastward.

Into this rough terrain is being gathered the most remarkable collection of desert flora on earth, specimens being brought to it from the farthermost parts of the globe. Hearty co-operation is being given by many botanical gardens of the East, from which a single collection of 1500 specimen lately was received. Agents will collect for the arboretum in Africa, Asia, Arabia, South America, Mexico and Australia. Every known desert shrub of Arizona, and some that are hardly of desert sort, are to be gathered within the sweep of vision from the rock terraces before the mansion.

All this, according to Col. Thompson, is not to be done with a mere idea of collection or of acquisition or with any desire toward completeness. He and the scientists he has called to his aid hope that among the many will be found plants that will add to the wealth of the desert land, that will be found possessed of commercial value; possibly plants that will contribute needed forage on hillsides that have been stripped of verdure that once supported herds and flocks.

"While I may have dates and oranges and other products of the semitropics," said Col. Thompson, "I don't propose to intrude upon the work of the ordinary horticulturist or scientific agriculturist in such rich and well-watered valleys as that of Salt River. I am going in for the unusual and I hope that the work, prosecuted long after I have left it, will have been of service to mankind."

MISSOURI'S MODEL MARKET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 23.—When St. Louis's new $1,350,000 union market, the second largest in the country, is turned over to public use next June it will have many unusual provisions to safeguard the buying public and to win their confidence. One of these will be the installation of six scales distributed at various points, where buyers may make free use of them to determine whether correct weights have been given.

Many drastic regulations will be imposed on the tenants or keepers of stands. Each will be required to sell only articles specified in his contract with the city and no leases will be granted, rentals being entirely on a monthly basis. If any dealer is found to be dishonest, the market master will refuse to rent to him longer and his stall will be turned over to another tenant. All tenants must pass careful investigation before they are permitted to locate in the market.

Cleanliness will be carefully enforced. All workers will be compelled to wear white aprons and all uncrating of goods, cleaning of vegetables or delivery of orders to market dealers will be made in the basement of the building. Refuse is to be taken away daily. The market place itself, has been designed to carry out a full effect of tidiness. The interior is to be of white glazed brick. All stalls also will be of white construction.

Lighting will be accomplished by large overhead lights, the fixtures being of bronze. Showcase lighting will be so arranged as to prevent any glare.

Although the market will not be finished until next June, the framework of the building has been completed. This is of reinforced concrete. The exterior will be of brick veneer. Only the first floor will be used as a market place, the three upper floors being reserved for public storage of automobiles—280 cars to the floor. There will be some storage space in the basement also for trucks. The building occupies an entire block, being 270 feet long and 195 feet wide.

All of the 200 stalls are to be inside of the structure, as city officials declare outside stands make for uncleanliness. There will be polished brass railings around the stands, much like the railing in the barrooms of bygone days, only in this case it is built for the buyer to set his basket of purchase on while debating his next move. The floors of the stands are to be of creosoted wooden blocks but the outside aisles will be of terrazzo.

The public market was one of the items provided for in the $87,000,000 bond issue voted in February, 1923. It is located at Sixth street and Broadway on the site of the old union market which was torn down after the bond issue was passed. The site was acquired by the city in 1866 for $245,000. In the number of stalls, the new market, according to officials, will surpass any other closed market in the world. In extent of space it is surpassed by only one—that at Newark, N. J.

Canadian Legislator Refutes Plea of Equality

No Privileges for Whites in Far East Lands

Oriental Menace Shown by Ontario History

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OTTAWA (Ont.) Feb. 23.—Canadian legislators, publicists and students of racial problems are keenly interested in the Pan-Pacific conference proposed for the coming early summer at Honolulu by the Young Men's Christian Association of the United States. Several Canadians have been invited to address the conference, and one or more of them will accept.

Canada's point of view as expressed at Honolulu will be essentially the point of view of the western Provinces of the Dominion, and particularly that of British Columbia.

In this matter British Columbia is the California of Canada. It is the geographical, political and social promontory of Canada, standing forth in the Pacific. All Pacific impulses British Columbia feels with especial sensitiveness. Every Pacific question of human welfare touches British Columbia before it touches any other region of Canada.

"We people out against the western ocean are pioneers. It has cost heavily in hardship and sacrifice to make our country," said H. H. Stevens, British Columbian Conservative member of the House of Commons.

TAKE OTHERS' FRUITS

"Our valleys have yielded their fruits only after prolonged and expensive experimentation and labor. Our Asiatic immigrants are not pioneers. I wish to speak of them in all sympathy. But they are not pioneers. They come into our developed valleys, buy land, settle, multiply, spread and cause the original settlers to sell their property at low prices and leave.

"Asiatic immigration on a large scale—and we should have it but for the watchfulness and the resistant efforts of British Columbia—would mean nothing less than the subjugation or disappearance of the white man in the Canadian West."

"Twelve years ago I spoke in Kingston and London, Ontario, on the Asiatic problem as British Columbia sees it. My audience was incredulous. It felt that I was discussing visionary perils. At that time there was one Chinaman in Kingston and one or two in London, and these were regarded rather in the nature of public pets. They were laundrymen.

"Recently, I was asked to return to Kingston and speak on the Asiatic question. Instead of one Chinese, Kingston had nearly 400. All the laundry and restaurant business had passed into the hands of the Chinese and they were invading the grocery business.

"Similar developments had followed my visit to London and my former incredulous fellow-citizens were asking how they were to be saved from the Asiatic menace."

"Ethically, I think we have a right to perpetuate ourselves undiluted and unchanged, as have our colored world neighbors. As for reason, Canadians are much more generous to the Japanese, for instance, than the Japanese are to Canadians.

"We have no sacred rights—no white man has any sacred rights in Japan. Japanese in Canada, though not, of course, in the United States, have every agricultural, mineral, industrial, commercial and financial opportunity enjoyed by native-born citizens of the Dominion.

"No reciprocal privileges are extended to Canadians in Japan. We cannot own farm land or forests or mineral resources there. Only in a few treaty cities can we own anything, and even this privilege tends to be swept away rather than fortified or extended.

"Nor can we get justice in Japanese courts. Japanese jurisprudence operates in such a way that white litigants prefer to settle all cases out of court. And we are discriminated against by Japanese freight vessels. For illustration, let a Japanese and a Canadian shipper send the same kind of rice on the same day in the same Japanese boat from Yokohama to Vancouver and the Canadian shipper will be compelled to pay 20 per cent more for the service than will the Japanese.

"Frankly, I am astounded when Japanese complain of their treatment by the white man in view of the treatment they mete out to the white man. This contrast merely underlines the divergent ethical views of the two races and emphasizes their mutual need for detailed and unreserved exchange of thought if they ever are to understand each other."

Dark Picture of Conditions Drawn by Britons

Findings of Labor Delegates Given to Unions

Gagged Press, Idleness and Moral Decay Found

BY JOHN STEELE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Soviet Russia's public and press is gagged into silence, private enterprise is mercilessly suppressed, all home life is rapidly disappearing, and abortion is a legalized practice in government hospitals in Moscow.

These are only a few of the acts disclosed in the report just completed by seven British labor delegates who recently returned from an official investigation of conditions in Russia on behalf of the trade-union congress. The seven trade unionists are all prominent British leaders.

"No attack on the Communist party is permitted," the report reads in part, "to be devoted to the present condition of the Russian press. The dictatorship of the existing government in all cases is strongly upheld. Very few papers are self-supporting.

"A woman can procure abortion by an authorized physician in a state hospital, provided she is able to give the medical board a satisfactory reason why she should not have a child. Necessary reasons are inability to bring up a child or ill health.

"As it will be imagined, the result of the housing arrangements in the large cities is having a very marked effect on social and family life over a large section of the community. There is very little family life. Only in Leningrad is a whole flat obtainable for one family. There seems to be no housing shortage there, but in all the other cities not more than three rooms can be had."

Speaking of religious freedom in Russia, the returned delegates have this to say:

"Very strong propaganda in the press, schools, colleges, trade unions and clubs is being carried on against religion generally."

The report admits that only 5.4 per cent of the Russian workers formerly engaged in industrial pursuits now have employment under the soviet regime.

The Boyce Thompson Desert Flora Research Project

ARIZONA TO AID ARBORETUM

Bill Passed by One House of Legislature Would Exempt Thompson Institution from Taxation

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Feb. 24.—A bill that has passed one house of the Arizona Legislature exempting from taxation institutions designed for scientific research is intended to apply especially to the Boyce Thompson Southwestern Arboretum, recently started near Superior, sixty-five miles east of here.

It is reported that $4,000,000 will be furnished as an endowment by its founder, William Boyce Thompson, New York capitalist, who for years headed the Magma Copper Company, which has its mines and reduction works in Superior, a few miles distant from his new benefaction. In the East, at Yonkers-on-the-Hudson, is a similar plant, more a laboratory for plant research than an open-air field for development and study of rare botanical growths, such as is the Arizona institution.

The Arizona aboretum has been given a rare scenic setting. Behind it is the bulk of Picket Post Butte, a lone mountain that once was used for outposts of troopers of the commands of Gens. Cook and Stoneman, with a wonderful sweep of vision over a 100-mile segment of plain that lies open to the west, south and southeast, as well as dominating the hill region around. At the western base is a narrow canyon through which flows Queen Creek, and set upon a tufa conglomerate crag, is the Spanish castle that serves as winter residence for the founder. In front are a few thousand acres of rough desert terrain, through which has been built a State highway that leads from Phoenix to Superior, Globe and eastward.

Into this rough terrain is being gathered the most remarkable collection of desert flora on earth, specimens being brought to it from the farthermost parts of the globe. Hearty co-operation is being given by many botanical gardens of the East, from which a single collection of 1500 specimen lately was received. Agents will collect for the arboretum in Africa, Asia, Arabia, South America, Mexico and Australia. Every known desert shrub of Arizona, and some that are hardly of desert sort, are to be gathered within the sweep of vision from the rock terraces before the mansion.

All this, according to Col. Thompson, is not to be done with a mere idea of collection or of acquisition or with any desire toward completeness. He and the scientists he has called to his aid hope that among the many will be found plants that will add to the wealth of the desert land, that will be found possessed of commercial value; possibly plants that will contribute needed forage on hillsides that have been stripped of verdure that once supported herds and flocks.

"While I may have dates and oranges and other products of the semitropics," said Col. Thompson, "I don't propose to intrude upon the work of the ordinary horticulturist or scientific agriculturist in such rich and well-watered valleys as that of Salt River. I am going in for the unusual and I hope that the work, prosecuted long after I have left it, will have been of service to mankind."

Girl is Earning Way in College Caring for Dog

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Of all the girls at Barnard College who are earning their way, Miss Ceridwyn Nolph has the most striking occupation. She is "governess" to Tommy, a Westhighland terrier.

Miss Nolph has a particular love for Tommy, because he is helping her to support herself while she studies for a degree. Tommy is the pet of Barnard campus, and is owned by Miss Virginia Gildersleeve, dean of the college.

Miss Nolph gets 50 cents an hour for taking care of Tommy. When Miss Nolph is not disposed to watch after the dog other deserving girls at Barnard have the opportunity to take him out, and also get the usual fee.

MISSOURI'S MODEL MARKET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 23.—When St. Louis's new $1,350,000 union market, the second largest in the country, is turned over to public use next June it will have many unusual provisions to safeguard the buying public and to win their confidence. One of these will be the installation of six scales distributed at various points, where buyers may make free use of them to determine whether correct weights have been given.

Many drastic regulations will be imposed on the tenants or keepers of stands. Each will be required to sell only articles specified in his contract with the city and no leases will be granted, rentals being entirely on a monthly basis. If any dealer is found to be dishonest, the market master will refuse to rent to him longer and his stall will be turned over to another tenant. All tenants must pass careful investigation before they are permitted to locate in the market.

Cleanliness will be carefully enforced. All workers will be compelled to wear white aprons and all uncrating of goods, cleaning of vegetables or delivery of orders to market dealers will be made in the basement of the building. Refuse is to be taken away daily. The market place itself, has been designed to carry out a full effect of tidiness. The interior is to be of white glazed brick. All stalls also will be of white construction.

Lighting will be accomplished by large overhead lights, the fixtures being of bronze. Showcase lighting will be so arranged as to prevent any glare.

Although the market will not be finished until next June, the framework of the building has been completed. This is of reinforced concrete. The exterior will be of brick veneer. Only the first floor will be used as a market place, the three upper floors being reserved for public storage of automobiles—280 cars to the floor. There will be some storage space in the basement also for trucks. The building occupies an entire block, being 270 feet long and 195 feet wide.

All of the 200 stalls are to be inside of the structure, as city officials declare outside stands make for uncleanliness. There will be polished brass railings around the stands, much like the railing in the barrooms of bygone days, only in this case it is built for the buyer to set his basket of purchase on while debating his next move. The floors of the stands are to be of creosoted wooden blocks but the outside aisles will be of terrazzo.

The public market was one of the items provided for in the $87,000,000 bond issue voted in February, 1923. It is located at Sixth street and Broadway on the site of the old union market which was torn down after the bond issue was passed. The site was acquired by the city in 1866 for $245,000. In the number of stalls, the new market, according to officials, will surpass any other closed market in the world. In extent of space it is surpassed by only one—that at Newark, N. J.

PROTEST DESECRATION OF HISTORIC FOREST

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Thousands have added their voices in opposition to the plan of the London, Midland and Scottish Railway Company to run a line through the famous Sherwood Forest, the legendary home of Robin Hood and his friends Little John and Friar Tuck.

Sherwood forest is said to be the most beautiful woodland in England and is visited annually by tourists from many parts of the world.

GARNER'S CONDITION IS MUCH IMPROVED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Representative Garner of Texas, who has been suffering from pneumonia, was declared by his physician tonight to be in a much improved condition. His temperature, pulse and respiration have been normal, it was announced for twenty-four hours, and all that remained to be done for him was to guard against any relapse and restore his strength.

WIFE WILDER THAN HIS LION

Trainer Sleeps in Man-Eater's Cage When Mate is on Rampage

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Feb. 23.—Jules Garonne, an animal trainer in a traveling circus, is suing for divorce, charging cruelty.

"Whenever I come home late my wife refuses to permit me to enter the circus van where we live, and frequently I am forced to go to the menagerie and sleep in a cage with Brutus, my man-eating lion," the husband says.

Canadian Legislator Refutes Plea of Equality

No Privileges for Whites in Far East Lands

Oriental Menace Shown by Ontario History

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OTTAWA (Ont.) Feb. 23.—Canadian legislators, publicists and students of racial problems are keenly interested in the Pan-Pacific conference proposed for the coming early summer at Honolulu by the Young Men's Christian Association of the United States. Several Canadians have been invited to address the conference, and one or more of them will accept.

Canada's point of view as expressed at Honolulu will be essentially the point of view of the western Provinces of the Dominion, and particularly that of British Columbia.

In this matter British Columbia is the California of Canada. It is the geographical, political and social promontory of Canada, standing forth in the Pacific. All Pacific impulses British Columbia feels with especial sensitiveness. Every Pacific question of human welfare touches British Columbia before it touches any other region of Canada.

"We people out against the western ocean are pioneers. It has cost heavily in hardship and sacrifice to make our country," said H. H. Stevens, British Columbian Conservative member of the House of Commons.

TAKE OTHERS' FRUITS

"Our valleys have yielded their fruits only after prolonged and expensive experimentation and labor. Our Asiatic immigrants are not pioneers. I wish to speak of them in all sympathy. But they are not pioneers. They come into our developed valleys, buy land, settle, multiply, spread and cause the original settlers to sell their property at low prices and leave.

"Asiatic immigration on a large scale—and we should have it but for the watchfulness and the resistant efforts of British Columbia—would mean nothing less than the subjugation or disappearance of the white man in the Canadian West."

"Twelve years ago I spoke in Kingston and London, Ontario, on the Asiatic problem as British Columbia sees it. My audience was incredulous. It felt that I was discussing visionary perils. At that time there was one Chinaman in Kingston and one or two in London, and these were regarded rather in the nature of public pets. They were laundrymen.

"Recently, I was asked to return to Kingston and speak on the Asiatic question. Instead of one Chinese, Kingston had nearly 400. All the laundry and restaurant business had passed into the hands of the Chinese and they were invading the grocery business.

"Similar developments had followed my visit to London and my former incredulous fellow-citizens were asking how they were to be saved from the Asiatic menace."

"Ethically, I think we have a right to perpetuate ourselves undiluted and unchanged, as have our colored world neighbors. As for reason, Canadians are much more generous to the Japanese, for instance, than the Japanese are to Canadians.

"We have no sacred rights—no white man has any sacred rights in Japan. Japanese in Canada, though not, of course, in the United States, have every agricultural, mineral, industrial, commercial and financial opportunity enjoyed by native-born citizens of the Dominion.

"No reciprocal privileges are extended to Canadians in Japan. We cannot own farm land or forests or mineral resources there. Only in a few treaty cities can we own anything, and even this privilege tends to be swept away rather than fortified or extended.

"Nor can we get justice in Japanese courts. Japanese jurisprudence operates in such a way that white litigants prefer to settle all cases out of court. And we are discriminated against by Japanese freight vessels. For illustration, let a Japanese and a Canadian shipper send the same kind of rice on the same day in the same Japanese boat from Yokohama to Vancouver and the Canadian shipper will be compelled to pay 20 per cent more for the service than will the Japanese.

"Frankly, I am astounded when Japanese complain of their treatment by the white man in view of the treatment they mete out to the white man. This contrast merely underlines the divergent ethical views of the two races and emphasizes their mutual need for detailed and unreserved exchange of thought if they ever are to understand each other."

Dodge folks who have~ Colds

Colds are infectious. A sneeze or a cough will spread them. So will close contacts—so will kisses.

One with a cold is ostracised, or should be. Colds are dangerous. Nobody knows where a cold may lead.

But a cold can be stopped in 24 hours. The fever and headache can be ended. La Grippe can be checked in 3 days. So there is no excuse for colds.

Millions know that Hill's Cascara-Bromide-Quinine tablets stop a cold at once. They are so sure that all druggists guarantee them. They are so efficient that 25 years have developed no way to improve them.

W. H. Hill spent his life in the study of colds. He devoted decades to research. And he created the best remedy we yet have found for colds.

It not merely checks colds. It removes the poisons they have caused. It tones the whole system, so vitality returns to normal.

Don't dally with a cold. Fight it at once, and in the supreme way. Do everything to rectify conditions. The way is to use the Hill method. Get the genuine. Start it promptly, for every hour of delay at the start gives impetus to the cold.

You will never treat colds in other ways when you once know this.

GAS EXPERT IN DEATH INQUIRY

Authority on Lethal Fumes Called in McClintock Case

May Testify on Poisons That Leave No Trace in Victim

Judge Olson Determined to Have Brother Disinterred

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Fresh sensations are expected Wednesday when the inquest into the death of William N. McClintock is resumed. Prof. Lee W. Lewis of Northwestern University, inventor of Lewisite, most terrible of war gases, and foremost authority on gas poisons, is expected to be one of the new witnesses.

It has been hinted by chemists connected with the Coroner's office, that if McClintock was poisoned, no common poison was administered. Physicians who performed the autopsy on McClintock's body without finding any trace of a lethal drug, scouted a theory that any of the better-known cyanides or the more obvious poisons, such as arsenic or aconite, had been administered internally.

It was admitted, however, that Cyanogen or some deadly gas of similar nature might have produced death without leaving any trace in stomach or lungs. It is said that Dr. Lewis will be particularly questioned concerning a poison of deadly swiftness—mercuric cyanide— which in a gaseous form might be administered as amyl nitrite is administered—in glass pearls crushed under the nostrils. The traces of such poison are so minute that an ordinary autopsy would fail to disclose them, even when complications such as typhoid are absent.

"A number of the cyanides could have caused death promptly and leave only a slight odor that would disappear in ten minutes," said one widely-known chemist today. "Post-mortem examinations in cases of this kind are almost worthless."

Chief Justice Olson said today he would ask for a court order for the exhumation of the body of his brother, Dr. Oscar Olson, who was a close friend of young McClintock and his family, and who died under mysterious circumstances. This action follows testimony at the McClintock inquest that a few hours before his death, Dr. Olson had been visited by Mr. and Mrs. William D. Shepherd, foster-parents of McClintock who inherited his $1,000,000 fortune. A doctor signed the death certificate, saying death was due to heart disease, although he did not see the body.

PHILADELPHIAN GETS FRENCH DECORATION

KING GEORGE IS RECOVERING

Condition so Satisfactory That Physicians Do Not Issue Bulletin; Plans Sea Voyage

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The King's progress in so satisfactory that for the first time since he was attacked by bronchitis, his physicians today decided that it was needless to issue a bulletin. All three of them, however, visited the palace tonight as usual.

The King is now sleeping better and is quite cheerful. One of the minor drawbacks of his illness is the ban put on him by his doctors, who have forbidden him to smoke. But he took the deprivation with good humor, merely remarking: "Even Kings must obey."

It is not known yet when His Majesty will be able to start on his cruise in the Mediterranean for which preparations are being made, in keeping with the advices of the attending physicians, but it is generally expected about a fortnight hence.

Under present arrangements, the Prince of Wales, who returned to London tonight to fulfill some engagements, will act for the King at the two levees at Buckingham Palace on March 10 and 19; thus these functions will not be abandoned as was first supposed. This will be the first occasion on which the Prince of Wales will fill such an important state ceremony.

The King has canceled an engagement to visit Lord Derby at Knowsley on March 25 for the grand national race; hence it may be assumed that he will not be back in London in time to see the Prince of Wales off on his tour March 29. The Queen will accompany the King on his cruise, which will be strictly a holiday trip and it is thought that one of the King's physicians will be with him also.

After the Prince of Wales has started on his tour there will be a period when the King, Wales and the Duke of York will all be abroad at the same time, an unusual—if not unprecedented coincidence. It becomes necessary, therefore, to settle how the royal functions will be carried on in the King's absence, and this has provoked much speculation in the press. The King's secretary, Lord Stamfordham, today discussed the matter with Premier Baldwin, but nothing is yet settled, and it is probable that as soon as the King is well enough, a meeting of the Privy Council will be held to decide what sort of commission shall be appointed for this purpose.

When the King visited India in 1911, a special council of state was appointed; but, as his absence this time will be brief, it is likely that some simpler form will be adopted. In any case it seems certain that there will be no change in the plans of the Prince of Wales.

Japanese Rush to West Coast of Mexico Denied

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

VICTORIA (B. C.) Feb. 23.—No appreciable movement of Japanese to Western Mexican ports will be made, Eduoard Hay, for ten months Mexican Minister to Japan, declared when he arrived here today aboard the liner Empress of Russia on his way to his home in Mexico City.

Stories about a Japanese movement to Mexican Pacific Coast States are untrue, he asserted. Numbers entering the country could not be described as an immigration influx, Mr. Hay said.

While business relations between Japan and Mexico are increasing, Mr. Hay declared there is a great field for expansion of trade between the two countries.

Mr. Hay will proceed home by way of California, he said.

CELESTIALS GATHER FOR BOMB DAY EVENT

MARYSVILLE CELEBRATION CENTER; DRAGON'S SIZE IS REDUCED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MARYSVILLE, Feb. 23.—Chinese from many sections of Northern California were here tonight to participate in what is known to the orientals as bomb day, a competitive event which always arouses a wide degree of interest. Marysville virtually is the only place in this State where the day is observed.

Many of the visitors arrived here in the more expensive type of automobiles, in picturesque contrast to those who came afoot or in humble conveyances.

This year's observances, for the first time in many years, will be marked by a dragon parade. The 300-foot dragon which has appeared at big Chinese festivals in former years will not be in evidence. A dragon fifty feet long will be used, partly because enough of the older Chinese are not available as carriers and because the younger generation of Chinese, the oldsters say, will not carry the dragon.

The contest consists in firing into the air bombs which release rings. Winners of the rings are expected to pay different amounts toward the upkeep of the local joss house

RUMOR MARRYING HIM TOO OFTEN

King Boris Fears When He Does Wed No One Will Believe It

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

SOFIA, Feb. 23.—Commenting on a report in the foreign press that he is to marry Princess Giovanna of Italy, King Boris recently said through one of his secretaries to representatives of the press:

"Will not they finally let my modest personality alone? They are wedding me from time to time without my consent. They are leading me to the altar without my knowledge. When some day I make up my mind to marry and the fact is communicated to the press, the news of the wedding will not be credited."

ADVANCE IN HOG PRICES PREDICTED

Live-Stock Exchange Chief Sees Better Tone to Beef and Cattle Situation

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Everett C. Brown, president of the Chicago Live-Stock Exchange in a statement issued today said the 76,000 hogs today, with an estimate of 32,000 for tomorrow, indicates that the big hog runs for this winter and the coming spring are over. Hogs will undoubtedly sell well over $12 this week.

"Eastern shipping keeps up strong," the statement continued, "which is forcing the hog market up on the packers. For the first time this winter hogs are practically on a paying basis relative to current prices for corn in the country. With a material reduction in receipts for the next six months any bullish prediction on hog prices is apt to be realized and $14 to $15 is almost a sure thing some time during the next four months.

"The beef and cattle situation also exhibits a much better tone and cattle prices also have seen bottom."

DOG STEALS ANKLETS OF FAIR WOMEN

Owner is Arrested While Trying to Pawn Trinkets Received From Pet

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Feb. 23.—The police today arrested a man charged with training a fox terrier to snap gold and platinum anklets from the shapely ankles of fair Parisiennes and carry the valuable baubles, usually set with rubies, emeralds, sapphires or diamonds, to his waiting master.

Complaints were received from several women that the canine crook tried to bite their legs, tearing their stockings, and then running away. They afterward discovered that the animal had carried off their anklets.

Two thousand of the nation's builders . . . members of the National Association of Builders' Exchanges . . . will gather today in Los Angeles from all parts of the United States. The Los Angeles convention will mark the fourteenth milestone in the progress of the National Association. Something more than high quality materials and skill of workmanship has contributed to our growth and success. ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation; then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases, which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, while it is effervescing, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of stomach sufferers with excellent results.—[Advertisement.

MILLION WOMEN TO WAR ON REDS

Pledge Given at Conference on Defense

Coolidge, in Talk, Stands for Peace of Law

Gen. Helmicks Asserts Radicals Influencing Youth

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—After hearing an address by President Coolidge, Maj.-Gen. Ely, commandant of the Army War College, and Maj.-Gen. Eli A. Helmick, inspector-general, delegates to the Women's Conference on National Defense as Peace Insurance, today pledged the aid of their organs, having a membership of 1,000,000 women, to combat the efforts of "those who would overthrow the government by force."

The vote followed a speech by Gen. Helmick, who described the attempts of "Reds" to undermine the youth of the nation. He outlined the growth of revolutionary movements in Russia and declared that organizations affiliated with the Third Internationale and having similar aims had sprung up in America.

President Coolidge told the delegates the United States "can and should set an example of moderation in agreement and should invite others to pursue a similar program."

WEEKS GIVES TALK

"And whenever a particular nation shall convince its neighbors of such a purpose of moderation without aggression, it will be easier for other nations to adopt a similar attitude," said the President. "The only enduring peace must be the peace of law or order, of security and honor."

The day's program ended with a speech by Secretary Weeks, who told the women the "affection for the ideals of the nation, spiritual, humanitarian, love of liberty and justice, has been perpetuated largely by American womanhood."

"Man's role in the defense of these virtues, whether staged on the battlefield or in the home," he added, "is but the heritage of the home, inspired by his womankind. The fact that force is needed does not impair the righteousness of ideals."

PROUD OF WARS

Contending that technically the United States did not fight the Spanish and Revolutionary wars on self-defense grounds, Mr. Weeks declared, "we should be proud of the fact that we started those wars—the Spanish was in defense of the ideals of humanity, and the Revolutionary War was to maintain ideals of justice and right which have been perpetuated in this country and which shall forever continue to be the ideals of the republic."

A suggestion that Armistice Day be observed throughout the country as national muster day, marked by demonstrations that the nation is prepared adequately to defend itself, was advanced by Gen. Ely in his speech.

"Proportionally, as the nations make progress in creating effective tribunals for peaceful settlement of international differences, they will find themselves able to lessen their military establishments. If the rule of law were established and certain, then there would be less need of armaments. So as we advance toward security under the law, we shall be able to reduce the strength and cost of armaments.

"A country so powerful in numbers and wealth, so fortunate in its location as our own, can and should set an example of moderation in armament and should invite others to pursue a similar program.

WARS NOT STOPPED

"Universal and assured peace under the law of nations is an ideal to which all of us are devoted. It is true that we have not stopped wars. But it is also true that there is today a more definite and more widely entertained conception than ever before of the possibility to prevent war under an effective rule of law. This is the great advance. We have not reached the end; probably we shall not reach it for many generations. But it can hardly be doubted that the purpose and aspiration of humankind are definitely, intelligently and insistently enlisted in the effort to make war an impossibility in this world.

"But we are compelled to recognize that national safety requires such a measure of preparedness as shall be the guaranty against aggression, without committing the nation to militarism. For the present, the most we can hope is to secure general acceptance, in good faith, and without reservation of the view that whatever armaments we create, whatever preparations we make shall be limited to the reasonable requirements of security.

"I do not think we should set a good example by abolishing our Army and Navy. But we can afford to limit our military and naval establishments so as to assure that, while determined and able to defend ourselves, we have no intent of aggression. If every nation would enforce such a policy, the cost of armaments would be enormously lessened, and the general welfare of humanity correspondingly promoted."

SEEKS PAY FOR CHASING BULL

Field Driver Demands $5 Reward; Town Board to Consider Bill

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LYNN (Mass.) Feb. 23.—Whether or not Willis E. Penny, field driver for the town of Saugus, is entitled to $5 for chasing the bull, must be decided by the voters at the annual town meeting next month, the Selectmen have decided. Nearly two months ago a young bull escaped from a herd and after going on the rampage through several small towns was captured by Penny, whose best trousers were torn in the chase.

GIRL, SIX GIVES LIFE FOR SISTER

Little Mother Burns to Death Beating Flames in Tot's Clothing

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—"I am leaving you now, Josephine, dear," said the mother of Josephine Ouimet, a year ago Christmas, as she lay dying. "You must take my place and be a mother to your little sisters."

Josephine, then 5 years of age, took the admonition of her dying mother to heart and she has cared for her little sisters to the best of her ability. Last night she made the supreme sacrifice when she yielded up her own life to save that of Beatrice, her 3-year-old sister, whose clothing had caught fire. Josephine clasped the little sister closely to her and beat out the flames, but her own dress caught fire and before she could get to the bathroom she suffered burns that resulted in death a few hours later.

Neighbors heard the children screaming, but arrived too late to save the life of the little heroine. Her father, who had been attending church services, arrived at the hospital just in time to hear the expiring cries of Josephine.

"She's better off," he said. "She dearly loved her mother and is with her now."

Playmates of the 6-year-old heroine will be the pallbearers when the tortured little body is carried to the grave.

VICTIMS OF MINE BLAST ARE BURIED

Sullivan Grand Jury Asks Inquiry; $10,000 Given by State for Relief Work

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TERRE HAUTE (Ind.) Feb. 23. While Sullivan's bereaved families and members of the local miners' unions were busy today burying the dead, authorities were laying plans for a thorough investigation into the cause of the disaster at the City Coal Company's mine Friday morning which snuffed out fifty-one lives.

Funeral corteges were winding through the streets of Sullivan for hours today.

In a report to the jury of the Circuit Court, the Sullivan county grand jury recommended that the prosecutor, Norval K. Harris, conduct an immediate investigation of the tragedy and that if the facts warranted, the grand jury be reconvened to make a formal investigation.

The work of relief was turned over to the national committee of the American Red Cross this afternoon.

Relief workers were cheered by word from Indianapolis that the State Legislature had voted $10,000 to be used in the relief work.

HOPE FADES FOR ACTION ON SHOALS

Legislation in This Session Unlikely as Leasing Bill is Sent Back

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Prospects for enactment of Muscle Shoals legislation at this session of Congress were materially reduced today with the recommitting of the Underwood leasing bill to conference by the Senate.

By a vote of 45 to 41, the ruling of President Cummins that the conferees had exceeded their authority, by writing new matter into the bill, was sustained. The ruling had been debated for three days and was on a point of order raised by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, who is leading the fight for government ownership.

Party lines were completely submerged in the vote, Republican and Democrats alike dividing almost equally. Twenty-three Republicans voted to sustain Senator Cummins on the appeal taken by Senator Underwood, Democrat, Alabama, author of the leasing measure and twenty-four Republicans voted against it.

The division among the Democrats was wider, twenty voting to support the ruling and seventeen casting their ballots in favor of the Underwood appeal. The two Farmer-Labor Senators, Johnson and Shipstead, supported the ruling.

Immediately after the vote, Chairman Keyes, of the Senate managers, communicated with Chairman McKenzie of the House managers, with a result that the conferees probably will get together late tomorrow for reconsideration of the measure.

Fendler Fears No Reversal in 'Paradise' Suit

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, Feb. 23. — Belief that a motion for a new trial by the defendants in the $1,000,000 suit involving the plagiarism of the "Bird of Paradise," filed Friday in New York City, will be denied, was expressed tonight by H. S. Fendler, husband of the plaintiff, who is making Riverside his temporary headquarters.

Mrs. Grace Altman Fendler was awarded judgment by the New York Supreme Court last May in her contention that Richard Walton Tully's play, "Bird of Paradise," was a plagiarism of her "In Hawaii."

In asking a motion for a new trial before the Supreme Court Friday, Tully presented forty-five affidavits concerning his authorship of the play.

The plaintiff never claimed she wrote the "Bird of Paradise," Fendler said, but he says did write "In Hawaii," and she charges that Tully took what he wanted from "In Hawaii" and used it with other material.

JURY QUIZ LOOMS ON M'CLINTOCK

Judge Hopes That Death of Rich Orphan Will be Further Investigated

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Chief Justice Harry Olson, responsible for the continued Coroner's inquest into the death of "Billy" McClintock, "millionaire orphan," today said he expected that State's Attorney Crowe would "get into the case again" and permit the investigation to be carried before a grand jury.

State's Attorney Crowe said his office had never dropped the case and that an assistant assigned to the Coroner's office had watched every move made in the inquiry, but that no action would be taken until the Coroner completes his part of the investigation. Judge Olson said the Coroner's jury had been unable to unearth information which might be brought out before a grand jury.

Several witnesses who have not previously testified are expected to appear at the continued inquest Wednesday. Prof. Lee W. Lewis of Northwestern University, inventor of Lewisite, the deadly war gas, and an international authority on chemistry, has volunteered to testify as an expert to clear up questions relative to the action of chemicals on the human body.

Mrs. William D. Shepherd, who was a guardian of McClintock and whose husband was chief beneficiary of the million-dollar will, may be called to the stand. At the last hearing Shepherd was called as a witness, but refused to testify, on advice of counsel.

Excitement of Seeing Herself in Films Fatal

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The thrill of anticipation of seeing the motion picture she played in proved too much for Mrs. Clara Weintraub, 85 years of age, and she died today from sheer excitement. Mrs. Weintraub was chosen some months ago to portray a character part in "Salome of the Tenements" by Director Sydney Olcott. Today she and the other aged residents at the Home of Old Israel were invited to attend a showing of the picture at the Rialto Theater tomorrow. The excitement caused Mrs. Weintraub to faint and she died before the arrival of a physician.

PULLMAN FEES ARE DEFENDED

House Committee Attacks Senate Measure

Opposed to Elimination of Railway Surcharge

Representative Huddleton Styles it a Class Fight

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Outlining their opposition to the Senate bill to eliminate the 50 per cent surcharge for travel in Pullman coaches, eighteen of the twenty-one members of the House Committee on Commerce joined today in an adverse report on the proposal.

Two Democratic members, Barkley of Kentucky and Parks of Arkansas, announced they would file minority views urging enactment of the bill.

Despite the committee's recommendation, the House will vote on the question, probably tomorrow, when it takes up the conference report on the independent offices appropriation bill, which carries a Senate rider to repeal the surcharge.

The report filed today by Chairman Winslow of the Commerce Committee declared the bill, which was approved by the Senate at the last session, "would initiate direct rate making by Congress—a serious and unwise departure from long-established policy."

"This precedent," it says," would open the doors for every interest dissatisfied with any existing rate to ask Congress to take on the Interstate Commerce Commission's statutory duty as to rate making.

"The removal of the surcharge would reduce service rates for those best able to pay and result in raising other passenger and freight rates or postpone reductions in general passenger rates, or postpone general reductions in freight rates on agricultural products, including live stock and other articles, and would interfere with and retard a general survey and adjustment where possible of freight rates as directed by the Hoch-Smith resolution recently enacted."

The report said that undisputed testimony showed that railroads in 1923 received about $37,000,000 from the surcharge.

"Assuming that carriers can stand a revenue reduction of $37,000,000," it continued, "there is no reason why the entire reduction should be made for the benefit of Pullman travelers. If a cut in revenue of $37,000,000 cannot fairly be made and nevertheless the removal of the surcharge as such is desirable, other sources of income must be determined. No suggestion was made as to what rates should be increased in lieu of surcharge income.

"But $18,000,000 of the $37,000,000 goes to railroads earning a total of less than 5 per cent on their book value investment. A large part of the $19,089,564 which accrues from surcharge to railroads earning 5 per cent or more goes to carriers which would earn less than 5 per cent if the surcharge were removed. Only $8,627,000 goes to railroads earning more than 6 per cent. The earnings of certain important railroads earning less than 5 per cent would be depleted to an embarrassing extent if their surcharge income were taken away."

In additional views, Representative Huddleton, Democrat, Alabama, said he declined to yield to the demand "of the small, well-organized, well represented and politically influential group of Pullman car users for a reduction in rates which would benefit that group alone."

HARD-BOILED MAN IS TAMED

Chicago Detective Wipes Gore Off Gunman After "Slapping" Him With Ham-like Hand

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—"Louie" Alterie, the hardest-boiled man in town, his cards read, has had his face slapped and not a man died. In fact Louie apologized for being in the way of a hand like a ham that slapped him rolling on the floor in the Midnight Frolics, Saturday night, it became known as he fretted in a detective bureau cell.

Capt. John Stege of the detective bureau punctured Louie's bubble of badness. And he did it while the "lord of the underworld" had his hand on a cocked pistol, too. Then he rubbed it in.

"You're a ham actor," growled the captain, as he tenderly handkerchiefed the blood from the gunman's face. "You're a burlesque villain; who ever told you how tough you think you are?"

"Sorry, captain," said Alterie, almost tearfully, as he was led to the wagon.

And the underworld, which applauded when bold, bad Alterie publicly challenged the slayers of "his pal," Dean O'Banion, to meet him and shoot it out, rejoiced, policemen said.

Alterie swaggered into the Midnight Frolics on Twenty-second street at about midnight. With him was a beautiful blond, Myrtle Sherman, a tired business woman seeking pleasure after a long week of shearing nails in a hotel. Joseph Gould and one Alfred Marlow rode hard on Alterie and the favored one.

Louie swaggered to his post. He put one of the men on each side of him and assured Miss Sherman that he'd take care of anyone who tried to get him. He reached for his hip and twenty strong men dodged behind their women folk.

But Louie only pulled out a bottle. As the ebb line gradually ran down the chromatic or chemical scale on the flask, Louie got louder and tougher and funnier. The music was drowned out.

From nowhere appeared Capt. Stege. Alterie's hand dashed into his coat pocket and to the handle of a cocked revolver. But he never fired.

Leisurely Stege reached over and slapped Alterie. Stege then had to help him to his feet and wipe away the bad man's gore.

TAKATA SYSTEM EXPOSED

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TOKIO, Feb. 23.—The gradual unfolding of the story of the Takata's hopeless struggle against overwhelming liabilities develops features illustrating a system which permits a private bank to make advances upon frozen assets to a firm in the last stages of dissolution.

This appears definitely to be the charge laid at the door of the Eiraku Bank, known as the Takata's Bank, which closed its doors Saturday. It appears that the bank loaned the Takata $1,500,000 after the firm's death struggle began. It now seems that the Takata's realizable assets were not more than $10,000,000 against $25,000,000 liabilities.

Indirectly, it is asserted, the speech of Gov. Ichiki of the Bank of Japan, on the occasion of the semiannual meeting on January 21 cannot be regarded in any other light than as a solemn warning of other impending disasters unless the whole people practice economy and business houses conduct their affairs along more conservative lines. It also advised that manufacturers and exporters take more care as to quality and that, unless the present overwhelming volume of imports is reduced, it will be impossible to maintain the yen even at its present depreciated figure.

Gov. Ichiki pointed out that notwithstanding the efforts of the government and the bankers and industrial concerns, the situation in Japan was becoming worse. It was evident, he said, that the leading bankers and heads of the long-established business houses realized the gravity of the situation, while the vast majority of metropolitan shopkeepers, the small manufacturers and the get-rich-quick concerns were all continuing their expenditures and expansions without heed to the signals of danger held out during recent months.

Doris Kenyon is Operated on for Appendicitis

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Miss Doris Kenyon, screen and stage star, was hurried today from the First National studios to Lexington Hospital, where she was operated on for appendicitis.

Miss Kenyon became ill last week, but was improved today, and reported at the studio to start work on a new picture, "The Halfway Girl." She was preparing to make up when she was seized with violent pains and was taken at once to the hospital, where Dr. Max Rhode decided that an immediate operation was imperative.

MADRID, Feb. 23. — Samuel Goldwyn has just paid $40,000 out of court in order to avoid the trial of Maurice Maeterlinck's suit in the New York Supreme Court for breach of contract, it was announced today by Dudley Malone, M. Mr. Goldwyn broke the contract after M. Maeterlinck's tour abruptly closed.

CAPPER HITS STATE AND CITY TAXES

Senator Says Decrease in Federal Levies is More Than Offset

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Economy is "not a thing of saving at the spigot and wasting at the bung" Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, declares in the March issue of the Nation's Business, in urging State and local governments to take an equal share with the Federal government in lightening the taxpayers' burden.

The article states that, during the last four years, Federal taxes have decreased appreciably while State and local levies generally have shown increases.

"Municipal taxes are so high today that the home owner is no better off than was the tenant a dozen years ago," he says. "Taxes now are in many instances as much as the amount formerly paid in rents.

"Nor is the payment of taxes the end of the matter. High taxes mean high prices. High prices mean—at least in some degree—a curtailment of buying power. There is not a single commodity on the market today that could not be sold for less, and thereby be made more generally available, if tax tolls were not so heavy. So it is quite time to begin not only to talk economy, but to practice it."

ROAD BONDS VOTED

It has been agreed that $1,000,000 in Federal aid will be given to this project for approximately ninety miles of roads.

Pullman Heirs Reach Harmony in Estate Row

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—A suit for accounting brought a year ago against Frank C. Lowden, trustee of the George M. Pullman estate by Mrs. George M. Pullman, Jr., and Mrs. Sanger Pullman, sisters, and widows of the twin sons of the late George M. Pullman, Sr., was settled by a circuit court decree signed Saturday, it was learned today.

According to financial agencies, the widows receive $90,000 in cash, Chicago real estate worth $190,000 and property in New Jersey and California.

The settlement leaves the will without further contest, and attorneys for both sides have announced that complete harmony has been restored to the Pullman family.

Crescent City is Devastated by Windstorm

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

EUREKA, Feb. 23.—According to details reaching here this afternoon from a newspaper correspondent, a high wind which struck Crescent City at 9:45 this morning, wrecked the wharf, carried three lumber-laden cars awaiting shipment overboard, unroofed both the Masonic Building and the Ender Theater, besides more or less wrecking a large number of small residences. The wind appeared to accompany a whitish cloud from the sea and after tearing its way along Second street, the city's main thoroughfare, disappeared to the north. No one was injured.

Discoveries

There is a remarkable article by H. G. Wells in the March number of The American Magazine.

"What," he asks, "are the ten great discoveries through which the race has reached its present place?" Out of his unique experience as the author of the "Outline of History" he gives a startling answer.

The wheel was a great discovery but —"a little reluctantly I put it aside," he says. "There are stronger claims."

Bronze and iron and pottery were great discoveries. But Wells argues that "they produced no profound and fundamental changes." They are not included.

"For there were greater discoveries than any of these," says Wells. Starting with the man of "a million years ago" who "bullied his dependent females" and "saw his own sons as rivals and killed them or drove them away," Wells traces the upward struggle. It is a moving picture of human progress—an historical pageant you will not forget.

There are nineteen other features in this March American Magazine and they, also, deal with discoveries—

Discoveries in the most fascinating of all realms: the mind and character and careers of interesting people. In such articles every reader sees himself, catches a new vision of his own strength and weakness, gains an enlarging faith in his own possibilities.

By such articles the circulation of The American Magazine has grown to 2,200,000, and will continue to grow. For there is no limit to the interest which men and women feel in the exploration and discovery of Life. And this magazine is LIFE.

AN OBLIGING BEAUTY DOCTOR

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home-Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair.

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statment regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one fourth ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be purchased at any drug-store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and will not rub off."—[Advertisement.

NEVADANS WANT GOOD OLD DAYS

Nevada Sports Would Turn Back Clock of Progress

Gambling, Vice, Licensed in Bill in Legislature

Bait of Lower Taxes Hoped to Insure Passage

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RENO, Feb. 23.—The sporting element of Nevada, backed by certain citizens and business interests, has launched a determined campaign to bring back the old days of wide-open gambling and establishment of gaming palaces at Reno, Tonopah, Ely and other leading towns of the State. Members of both houses of the Legislature admit they have been asked to support a gaming bill which would permit operation of roulette wheels and other forms of gambling, such as flourished in the State prior to October 1, 1910, when wide-open gambling was banned by statute.

Reno supporters of the plan frankly admit they are working for repeal of the antigambling statutes and a return of the wild days of the frontier. It is planned to rush the bill through the closing hours of the Legislature before public sentiment can be crystallized against it, and its advocates assert it has an excellent chance of being passed and approved by Gov. Scrugham.

WOULD DRAW "SPORTS"

Advocates of wide-open gambling say it would bring large revenues to the State, lower taxes on legitimate business and property, and attract thousands of pleasure-seekers of Nevada. It is contended that gambling in some of its worst forms flourishes under cover without any revenue accruing to the State. Most of the towns license gambling resorts although percentage gaming is specifically prohibited by State laws. Keepers of such resorts evade the laws by charging the players for tables, chairs, cards, lights and similar privileges, and this practice is generally condoned by the authorities.

The forces of law and order are lining up against the plan and have countered with measures to establish a Redlight Abatement Act, copied from the drastic California law, a State dry law, and a bill prohibiting gambling in all forms. Nevada is said to be the only State in the Union permitting operation of houses of prostitution under legal regulation.

The old-timers of Nevada, particularly politicians, property owners and persons of questionable occupations, derived large incomes from gambling, prostitution, liquor and the divorce business. The element styling itself "liberal" insists the State should return to the old days, again stage the varied attractions of frontier times, and wax fat off the gains. The higher class of Nevada's citizens are equally as insistent that the wild days of forty years ago shall not be brought back.

The growing burden of taxation is one factor that may swing Nevada into the hands of the sporting faction. The tax rate in Reno, under the new county budget submitted by County Auditor Boyd, is $4.10 per $100 of valuation, a gain of 47 cents over 1924. In Sparks, a railroad town three miles from Reno, the tax rate is $4.35. What adds to the burden of the property owner is the fact that property is rated at a high value and assessments levied close to full valuation. Conditions existing in Reno and Sparks prevail to a lesser extent in other towns of the State. Consequently capital is penalized and property-owners are clamoring for relief.

The divorce business, a few years ago extremely profitable to Reno, also shows a decline. Divorces granted last January were the smallest recorded in any month during the last four years. The February record is proving equally dismal from the standpoint of the Reno merchant. The people of wealth formerly seeking Reno divorces are now turning to Paris and some Eastern States where it is claimed decrees can be obtained in satisfactory ways. And only from the wealthy seeker of a decree can the local merchant profit.

Headless Body, Bullet-Riddled, Found in North

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

REDWOOD CITY (Cal.) Feb. 23.—A man's headless body, bullet-riddled, was discovered on the beach at Pillar Point, near Half Moon Bay, this afternoon by a party of local people, clam digging, they reported to the Sheriff, who set out at once to investigate.

The man apparently had been dead for some time, according to the information. The Sheriff expressed the opinion that the dead man might have been the victim of bootleggers, or hi-jackers. The finders discovered no marks of identification.

Quizá Salve a Gloria la Sangre de su Marido

PARIS, Febrero 23.—Díjose esta noche que era grave el estado de Gloria Swanson, actriz americana de cine, que lleva una semana de estar enferma en ésta. El 10 del actual fue operada de apendicitis, y se halla ahora en el Hospital Quirúrgico de Auteuil.

Las complicaciones que se presentaron estuvieron a punto de llevarse el domingo a la estrella californiana de la pantalla, según dijo hoy el doctor Baudestal, que tiene la paciente a su cargo. El citado facultativo llamó esta mañana a consulta a dos eminentes especialistas franceses, después de haber publicado un boletín, en el que decía que "aunque persistía la infección, esperaba salvar la vida de la artista."

Después de la consulta, se convino en que iba a ser tal vez necesaria la transfusión de sangre para conservarle la vida a la actriz. Con todo, en el boletín de la noche se decía que su condición general había mejorado ligeramente, y que, aunque seguía siendo crítica, había esperanzas de alivio.

El Marqués de la Falaise, esposo de Gloria, convino esta noche en que era grave el estado de su esposa, y dijo que se hallaba dispuesto a ceder la sangre necesaria para la transfusión.

"Gloria está muy débil", dijo el Marqués hoy en la noche, "y es gravísimo su estado, debido al envenenamiento de la sangre. Desde hace una semana no ha comido nada y lleva varios días sin dormir. Su alta temperatura se ha mantenido arriba de 103 grados."

"Estoy listo para dar la sangre que se necesite, en caso de que los médicos recurran a la transfusión."

"Por supuesto que no hay ni que hablar del viaje a América, pues Gloria no podrá viajar en varios meses. Hoy dije esto por cable a la compañía Paramount", agregó el Marqués, que lleva cuatro días de no pegar los ojos y está afligidísimo por el grave estado de su mujer.

"No puede estar sin mí", dijo el marqués con una sonrisa. "No está en situación de ver a sus amigos y sus enfermeras no hablan inglés; en tal virtud, tengo que estar con ella continuamente. Naturalmente la marquesa se desanima a veces, pero, por regla general, tiene gran determinación. Está convencida de que pronto se va a poner mejor."

El marqués no oculta el hecho de que está todavía alarmadísimo por la condición de su señora, y de que los mismos doctores no pueden todavía declararla fuera de peligro.

THIRTY DEAD AS EGYPTIAN TOWN BURNS

Many Women and Children Perish When Herded Into Warehouse for Safety

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CAIRO (Egypt) Feb. 23.—Thirty persons were killed and thirty-eight injured when fire wiped out the town of Rahmanieh, in lower Egypt, last night and today. It is feared that the casualties will be found much higher when the lists are completed.

The fire started from a stove in the room of a laundress. The flames spread to thatched roofs of other houses in the neighborhood and were soon out of control. The Egyptians have only the most primitive fire-fighting apparatus and before real engines arrived the whole village of 500 was blazing.

A tragedy resulted when pitiful attempts were made to save women and children by putting them in a brick warehouse in the center of the village. While the menfolk fought the fire, women, babies and cattle were herded into the isolated building. Before it was noticed flames had completely surrounded the building and all in it perished.

Chicago Cardinal Spends Half Hour With Pontiff; Ranks Conferred

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ROME, Feb. 23.—The Pope today granted a private audience to Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, who presented a report of his diocese. The audience took place in the Pontiff's private library.

The visitor and the Pope discussed for half an hour the various religious questions concerning the archdiocese of Chicago and the religious situation in the United States. The Pontiff granted Cardinal Mundelein several favors, including the conferment of the rank of monsignor on several ecclesiastics of the latter's diocese.

After the audience, the cardinal presented several prelates to His Holiness, including his secretary. He later visited Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State, and several other prelates of the Vatican.

Cardinal Mundelein, during the audience, presented the Pope with the "Peter's pence" from the Chicago archdiocese. This was declared to be one of the largest ever brought to Rome by an American archbishop. The Pontiff thanked the Chicagoan warmly, remarking that the generosity of Americans was traditional in the Vatican, having been experienced not only by himself, but also by his predecessors. He said he would employ a large portion of the money received for the relief of women, children and the aged.

Far North Find of Graphite Said World's Richest

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The American Chemical Society today made public a report from Horten, Norway, which said that J. B. Sweet, an American engineer, had discovered in Greenland the richest graphite deposits ever found.

The report asserted that Sweet had been working on the deposits for a year and had concluded that they would support large-scale mining for at least a century.

Another report said that in Sweden steel as good as Bessemer steel has been produced direct from iron ore. This has not yet been made commercially profitable, although efforts to reduce the cost of the process are under way, the society's informant said. He also disclosed that large gold fields had been found in Siberia on the shores of one of the tributaries of the Lena and that prospectors were hurrying to the place.

LOCAL HOSPITAL BILL REPORTED

Appropriation Measure Sets Aside $1,500,000

Like Sum Provided to Aid in Forest Fire Fight

House Committee Gives Air Mail $250,000 Fund

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—A deficiency appropriation bill carrying $54,426,562, or $476,674 less than budget estimates, was reported today by the House Appropriations Committee. It is the last supply measure of the session, and will be taken up tomorrow in the House. Items in the bill include $30,000,000 for naval construction; $1,500,000 for a 500-bed hospital at the Pacific branch of the National Home of Disabled Volunteer Soldiers at Santa Monica, Cal.; $925,000 for a new Coast Guard cutter to replace the Bear in Alaskan waters; $1,342,700 for fighting fires in national forests; $25,000 for the public health service to investigate the oyster industry as a result of the recent typhoid situation, and $300,000 for the Alaska Railroad.

Of the $30,000,000 allowed for naval construction, $9,000,000 would be used toward modernization of the battleships New York, Utah, Florida, Texas, Arkansas and Wyoming, the total limit of cost of which is to be $18,360,000; $14,000,000 for continuing construction of the aircraft carriers Lexington and Saratoga; $3,000,000 for aircraft and accessories for these two ships and $4,000,000 for beginning construction of six gunboats and two of the eight cruisers recently authorized by Congress.

RADIO ITEM DELETED

The committee also announced an additional $100,000 for prosecuting suits in connection with the naval oil reserve leases and $15,000 for payment of fees and expenses of witnesses testifying before a grand jury here in the new proceedings of Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana. The bill, however, did not carry $100,000 requested by the Department of Justice for further prosecution of war-fraud cases.

Items eliminated included budget requests of $125,000 for use in inspections by the Department of Commerce in connection with interferences in radio-receiving sets.

The bill provides that not to exceed $250,000 of the appropriation made available for the coming fiscal year for transportation of mail can be used by the Postmaster-General in contracting for air-mail service. The Postoffice Department, the committee's report said, plans to make contracts for air-mail service between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City, Chicago and St. Louis; Boston and New York and perhaps a route from Elko, Nev., to a point near Portland, Or.

WAR MEMORIAL AIDED

Included in the bill are $150,000 to be used toward erection of a memorial to the women of the World War in the form of a building on the site of the American Red Cross Building here; $374,465 for the Omaha Indians of Nebraska for interest awarded by the Court of Claims; $42,000 for an international conference on oil pollution of navigable waters to be held here; $75,000 for the International Radio Telegraphic Conference; $6000 for debt commission expenses, and $20,000 for distribution of German war trophies.

The committee allowed $228,000 for increased subsistence costs at national homes for disabled volunteer soldiers; $31,000 for sugar-cane investigations and experimentation and $75,000 for a special study of the foot-and-mouth disease.

Girl Offers to Sell Herself to Get Education

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23. — For Sale—One young woman suitable for marriage to a man willing to put $5000 into the partnership. Buyer must believe in separate careers for wives. Terms cash, or its equivalent. Address Miss Jessie Hislop, 764 East One Hundred and Sixty-fifth street, New York City.

Investigation of this in a New York newspaper a few days ago revealed a pretty, well-educated Southern Illinois farmer's daughter, not long out of a Valpairiso (Ind.) boarding school, who is willing to sell herself for enough to give her a few years more general education and four years' study of medicine. Now an undergraduate nurse, she sees no other way out of the qualifying as a physician.

PANAMA CANAL ZONE A SILENT DIPLOMAT

There is a special field of usefulness which the Zone occupies in a quiet, but most effective way. To Latin America, or to most of it, the Zone is the most accessible and get-at-able section of our land, and, as it is a perfect miniature of American life and activities, it can be most conveniently studied. Hardly a week passes without the arrival of a delegation; medical men to view the hospitals, or Boy Scouts on a "rodeo" bent. Committees come from the venerable San Marcos University in Lima to check up on some educational innovation, and architects from far-away Paraguay to examine the construction of our model schools. Traders and buyers come in droves, and, as you can buy what you want on the isthmus almost, if not quite, as well as you can in the more populous markets of the north, many tarry here where their language is understood by all and make purchases which spell an advance in the cultural equipment in the localities from which the buyers come. Second only to the transit of merchant ships is the passage of ideas and the exchange of thought made possible and direct by the great "ditch." The "cut" that separated the land has brought together the two great races that have peopled America, not in slavish imitation, but in beneficial co-operation.—[Stephen Bonsal in Mentor Magazine.

HAS DEVICE TO RELIEVE DEAF

Scientist Perfects Way to Assist Hearing

Artificial Sound Waves Are Produced

Natural Tones Carried to Ear on New Wave

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Dr. Byron E. Eldred, scientist and inventor, one of the foremost authorities in the country on combustion, and winner of the John Scott legacy and medal, and the Elliott Cresson medal of the Franklin Institute, has perfected a device for the relief and assistance of the deaf, which holds large possibilities for the afflicted. The invention and its development were not prompted by commercialism, since the doctor undertook his mission to perfect a cure for the deafness of the wife of one of his friends and his experimental treatment without fee.

And at the outset of his modest account of his achievement, he takes occasion to caution the deaf against false hopes, with the added admonition that he has had many failures along the route. But this caution is the excessive reserve of a man too well known to science to require it, and his invention one might say, literally speaks for itself to the deaf.

It is a small box-like arrangement, impelled by an electric motor attachable to any electric light socket, which induces vibrations that put into practical effect the phenomena observed in the latter half of the seventeenth century by Willis, that many deaf persons hear well under conditions in which there is noise other than the conversation they hear. Such persons find themselves able to hear, under this law, in trains, subways, street cars, automobiles, etc.

What appears to the auditor to be taking place is that a sound wave is artificially produced upon which the natural sounds travel to the ear of the patient, supplying the deficiency in magnitude that is required for the deaf.

The new wave, designated as a sensitizing wave, is practically inaudible to persons of ordinary hearing. It is, likewise, harmless. With the deaf, an excessive magnitude of sound vibration to which involuntary ear muscles respond, is essential, but while this magnitude is maintained, sounds of ordinary magnitude are also heard distinctly.

The improved condition of hearing often remains for some time after leaving the wave. In some cases this condition has been maintained for twenty-four hours before the return of deafness.

NUDE PARTY BROKEN UP BY POLICE

Four Americans Caught in Paris Apartment With Forty Others

BY HENRY WALES
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Feb. 23.—A scandal involving members of leading families of Paris society and including four Americans—two men and two women—is expected following a police raid on an apartment in Rue Notre Dame de Nazareth, where four Russians, members of the old aristocracy—were holding an orgy entitled "art spectacles."

The suspicions of the police were aroused by the appearance of a score of luxurious limousines drawn up nightly outside the apartment. An investigation showed that wealthy callers visited the apartment of a former captain in the Czar's imperial navy, who lived with his beautiful young wife, Martha, a member of one of the oldest Moscow families, and a cousin and his wife.

The detectives believed gambling was going on and staged a raid. They found the quartet of Russians doing nude poses while forty spectators, under the influence of liquor and cocaine and in various stages of undress, sprawled around the thickly carpeted floor on huge silken cushions. The police examined the names and addresses of everybody present, experiencing difficulty because the male and female spectators could not find their clothing from the pile of garments tossed around the room.

CHOOSE ALIENS

British Import No Foreign Labor Unless Actually Needed

A great deal of ignorance prevails as to the conditions under which alien labor is now imported into Great Britain. In no circumstances is an alien allowed to land in Great Britain to search for work. The would-be employer of an alien, whether he requires a French governess for his children, a German correspondent for his office or a Dutch glassblower for his works, has first to obtain permission from the Minister of Labor.

The Minister does not give the necessary permission until he is completely satisfied that the applicant has taken all possible steps to find labor in this country, that he will pay the alien no less wages than those usually received by British employees for similar work, that he is prepared to repatriate the alien if required so to do, and that no labor will be displaced by the engagement of the foreigner in question.—[London Times.

The Status of Shirt Sleeves

The Supreme Court of Oklahoma has backed up the proprietor of the Harvey chain of restaurants in refusing service to a patron who insisted in a refusal to wear a coat while in one of the establishments. The patron was a very distinguished resident of the State and insisted that it was his right to dispense with the formality of wearing a coat on account of the temperature, but the Harvey man refused to give service under the circumstances. The case went through several courts and it seems to be practically settled that the proprietor of a cafe may use his own pleasure about the shirt-waist problem.

NEW WIRELESS PLANT AT PORT

Service Links Mainland and Catalina Island

Expedition in Transaction of Business Expected

Entry is Welcomed in Harbor Shipping Circles

A new radio service for commercial business between Catalina Island and the mainland was opened yesterday by the Catalina Wireless Service, headed by Dewey Beraldo and I. R. Colbert, for years with the Radio Corporation of America.

The service has established offices at 611 Crescent avenue, Avalon, and at 119 Canal street, Wilmington, with stations at each place, and connections whereby messages may be delivered either by messenger or by telegraph to or from any part of Southern California and the island. The service will be the same as telegraph rates, 60 cents for ten words and 30-cent wire charges where telegraph also is used in forwarding messages to or from the Wilmington terminal to Los Angeles or other near-by points.

The stations also will operate on 1613 and 1713-meter waves, 1000 above broadcast waves, so there will be no chance of interference, according to Colbert, in charge of the Wilmington station.

He asserts the firm is in position to give a five-minute service between the island and the mainland. It is understood William Wrigley, Jr.'s, companies are giving the new firm much of their business, and shipping men herald the line's entry as filling a definite need, particularly in summer, when the telephone companies' cable to the island is taxed to capacity.

TUG BAHADA PASSES TO NORTHWEST COMPANY

The seagoing tug Bahada, a familiar figure in Los Angeles Harbor for years, has been sold by the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Drydock Corporation to Gilkey Brothers Company of Anacortes, Wash., and sailed for that port yesterday afternoon with a crew of the Red Stack Towboat Company. The purchase price is said to have been around $15,000.

The Bahada was rammed and sunk in the port here two years ago by a tanker; later fished out, reconditioned and was used at odd jobs by the Wilmington Transportation Company under charter. It is understood she will be used to tow log rafts in the Northwest. She was built in Seattle in 1903, has a length of eighty-five feet, a net tonnage of ninety and 350 horsepower.

An unusual amount of gasoline is proceeding out of this port this week. The Standard Arrow sailed Sunday night with 97,000 barrels for New York; the Broad Arrow will depart for New York today with a similar cargo; the Watertown sails for the east coast tomorrow with a like amount, and the W. W. Mills and Bohemian Club will take cargoes for the Atlantic in two days. The Yankee Arrow, Capt. I. Andersen, departed this morning with a cargo of kerosene for the Far East. Capt. Andersen said he was thirty-three days crossing the Pacific on his last voyage out, encountering the worst storms in his career. The India Arrow in the same storm suffered a smashed-in bridge and much other damage and now is at San Francisco repairing.

The Hammond Lumber Company steamer Samoa, which has been carrying lumber for that company between Eureka and this port, has been assigned to carry ties between Eureka and Guaymas, Mex., having 2,000,000 feet for this trip. It is the first such sized shipment in years.

The palatial yacht Goodwill, owned by Keith Spalding, is due to come off the ways at Craig's Shipyards, Long Beach, in a few days, after overhauling, and will make ready for a cruise to the South Seas, starting about the middle of March. Mr. and Mrs. Spalding will be accompanied by two guests.

Transfer of the Sea Coast Canning Company at the harbor to the Austin-Nichols Company, nationally known wholesale grocers, was announced yesterday. Tuna and sardines will be packed by the company, and oils and fertilizers manufactured. Of the sardines, 75 per cent, it is understood, will be exported to foreign countries. J. W. Evans will manage the plant, which hereafter is to be known as the Sea Coast Packing Company. R. W. Sturgiss will be vice-president, in charge of the company's entire Pacific Coast interests, which include large packing plants in the salmon ports of the Northwest. C. W. Patterson, president of the concern, said to be the biggest packer of corn and peas in the country, maintains a winter residence at Pasadena.

Shipping experienced its quietest day this year yesterday, with only ten arrivals, mostly lumber and oil carriers. Fog delayed the vessels in the forenoon, while rain checked loading, and shipping offices all over the port district functioned at half pressure, due to observance of Washington's birthday wherever possible.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—The movement of incoming and outgoing shipping was resumed here today, following a cessation in the storm Sunday, which virtually stopped all shipping activity.

Between five and six vessels cleared port shortly after sunrise. Most of them were sailing for coastal ports.

The Union Oil tanker Cathwood was among the barbound arrivals which came into the harbor.

The President Wilson is scheduled to arrive tomorrow from the Orient with a full list of cabin and steerage passengers. Another Pacific Mail boat, the San Juan, will be due at the same time with passengers from Mexican and Central American ports.

William F. Sullivan, for more than twenty years secretary of the Shipowners' Association of the Pacific Coast, died at his home here yesterday after an illness of two years.

The keel of the Union Oil Company's new motorship, which is to be the largest and most modern river-plying tanker here, will be laid tomorrow in the yards of the Moore Shipbuilding Company, Oakland. Among those who will participate in the ceremony will be C. W. Ralph, director of sales and transportation, and William Groundwater, manager of transportation, from the general offices of the company at Los Angeles; A. R. Atwood, San Francisco; S. T. Hertmer, Sacramento; D. R. Ensigner, Oakland, and W. Hollingsworth, Stockton.

SEATTLE, Feb. 23.—Work of reconditioning the steamships Northwestern, Victoria and Redondo, preparatory to providing more frequent sailings to Southeastern and Southwestern Alaska points, was progressing satisfactorily, the Alaska Steamship Company announced here today. The liner Victoria is to be used in the Nome Alaska run.

Returning here from Puget Sound calls, the Furness Pacific Line motorship Pacific Trader is expected to complete loading outward consignments tomorrow and depart for the United Kingdom.

With a fair list of passengers, the N. Y. K. liner Iyo Maru is to depart from here Wednesday for Japan and China.

The freighter Hakata Maru of the N. Y. K. service shifted today to Everett to load lumber for Japanese ports and is to return here later in the week to conclude her outward cargo.

The American Oriental Mail Line steamship President Madison, which has been undergoing improvements for several weeks, is to commence loading for her next voyage to the Orient tomorrow and is scheduled to sail March 4.

TACOMA, Feb. 23.—On her first trip to Tacoma, the Akibasan Maru of the Mitsui Line, arrived here last night and loaded copper at the smelter. The vessel is expected to shift late tonight for British Columbia.

The West Ison of the American Oriental Line arrived today and will be in port two days, loading for the Orient.

Tuesday the Isthmian Line steamer Steel Engineer and the Matson Line steamer Mauna Ala are due. The former vessel will load for the east coast and the latter for the Hawaiian Islands.

The Africa Maru of the O. S. K. Line is expected tomorrow from China. The vessel has considerable oriental freight, including matting, porcelain and oil to discharge here. The Africa this voyage had one of the most valuable cargoes of silk brought across the Pacific in some time.

The steamer Pennsylvanian of the American-Hawaiian Line arrived here today to discharge several hundred tons and to load out general cargo for Atlantic Coast ports. She is expected to sail Wednesday or Thursday.

With several hundred tons of general cargo from the North Atlantic the fast freighter Horace Luckenbach arrived today. She will probably sail tomorrow.

ASTORIA (Or.) Feb. 23.—The sailing ship Tonawanda of the Alaska fleet will leave tomorrow for Portland dry dock and conditioning preparatory to her Alaskan fishing trip for the Columbia River Packers' Association. The schooner Chillicothe of the same fleet will follow the Tonawanda on dry dock.

The British motorship Elmworth is due in the harbor tomorrow on her maiden voyage. She has been discharging European freight at British Columbia ports. She will load 300,000 feet of lumber at Westport and proceed to Portland for 2,000,000 feet of lumber for Australian delivery.

VICTORIA (B. C.) Feb. 23.—The O. S. K. liner Africa Maru was to arrive here late today with $10,000,000 worth of silk. The consignment is composed of 7830 bales of raw silk and 110 cases of silk goods. The shipment is said to be the largest in point of tonnage ever transported across the Pacific Ocean, but, due to a drop in silk prices, it is not the most valuable.

PRINCE RUPERT, Feb. 23.—A heavy run of herring in the harbor here today provided relief from the shortage of halibut, which has been experienced along this coast since the season opened.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Feb. 23.—C. Banks, a Norwegian sailor aboard the French Line steamship Oklahoma, was killed as the vessel neared this port today when he fell through a hatch and broke his neck.

ARMS TALK IS OPPOSED BY GERMANS

Berlin Attitude Balks Parley Plan; Allies to Discuss Subject

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Feb. 23.—The French opposition to any consultation with the Germans on the question of their disarmament became practically official today by statements from authorized sources that Germany cannot pretend to participate in discussions of its own failure to fulfill the peace treaty.

It is clear that Premier Herriot's position is that the Allies most first seek an accord between themselves on the problems of security before they can either send Germany a note or convoke a general inter-Allied conference. While Premier Herriot is willing to attend such a conference he does not wish to go into a meeting without a solid understanding with England first. Quai d'Orsay believes that England will not attempt to force the Allies into consulting Germany, however strongly Germany may demand it.

The date of the new conference, if decided on, will be settled during Austen Chamberlain's visit with Premier Herriot on March 6, and the French hope the general lines of an inter-Allied accord will be settled then in advance.

HIDING MAN SNEEZES AT WRONG TIME

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—A sneeze he could not restrain brought Thomas McLaughlin to a cell charged with attempted burglary. A tenant heard some one tinkering with the door of a store on the street floor occupied by Benjamin Lipshitz. A blow shattered a panel and the tenant called Patrolman Storey.

Storey and the tenant went through the house and cellar, but all seemed serene. Storey was about to credit the tenant with a vivid imagination when they heard a sneeze, which they traced to a dumb-waiter shaft.

Storey opened the door and a pair of legs trembled in the throes of another sneeze. Storey grabbed an ankle and hauled out McLaughlin. He had fastened the safety catch and hung upside down by the rope. Ashes from the dumb waiter two floors up had trickled into his face.

CHANGES NAME

Other Institutions Have Set Precedent for Duke University

Recently Trinity College of Durham, N. C., decided to change its name to Trinity College Duke University—a change signifying the acceptance of $40,000,000 proffered by James Buchanan Duke, tobacco man.

But the case of Trinity College is by no means unusual. Many United States colleges have changed their names.

Trinity (Connecticut) was once Washington.

Columbia was once King's.

Colgate was once Madison.

Georgia was once Franklin.

George Washington was once Columbian.

Princeton was once College of New Jersey.

Cincinnati was once McMicken.

Bucknell was once the University at Lewisburg.

Syracuse was once Genessee.—[Time.

SLIGHT SAG IN COPPER PRICES

January Consumption Above Production Total

Healthy Demand Comes From Foreign Consumers

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS

The demand for copper during the last week has been light, the price running slightly under 15 cents. Consumers appear to have resolved that copper is not entitled to sell above the 15-cent mark at this time and all efforts to put the metal firmly at that point or beyond during the present buying lull have failed. As yet producers have not evidenced ability to stay out of the market sufficiently long to force prices above this mark. Since considerable sales were effected during the soft market of more than a week ago it is not likely that any heavy buying will materialize for another week. The ever-present supply of second-hand and custom copper makes price advances difficult for it is always offered at slightly below the market level.

Taking the broad outlook, copper prospects are bright. Indications are that consumption during the first half-year will be above mine output. It seems logical to anticipate a substantial drop in refined surplus at the end of the first quarter as compared with the beginning. The general feeling seems to be that the current prices will be maintained or slightly increased over the next few months. Although buying at the moment is rather light consumption rate both here and abroad is at record levels, and statistically the metal is in the best position since the war.

CONSUMPTION AHEAD

As reported by the American Bureau of Metal Statistics the January production of copper was 107,213 tons, an increase from the December production of 101,304 tons of copper. December showed the largest production of any month in 1924, the average for the year running at about 97,500 tons. However, consumption is still running ahead of production for the American refiners took a total of 110,277 tons of copper during January. So long as this condition exists and we find production lagging behind we may expect continued strength in the market.

Domestic takings of copper in the final quarter of 1924 were large. Electrical manufacturers consumed 90,000,000 pounds; automobile industry, 42,000,000; building and construction, 17,100,000; shipping, 900,000; and the railway industry, 12,000,000 pounds. Total manufactured for export was 25,700,000 pounds. These huge takings of copper by large American consuming industries in the fourth 1924 quarter explain somewhat the present temporary dullness of the metal.

For all of 1924, electrical lines consumed 391,000,000 pounds of copper; automobile industry, 188,200,000 pounds; construction, 81,000,000 pounds; shipping, 4,200,000 pounds; and railways, 46,500,000 pounds. Manufacturers for export were 108,000,000 pounds. Consumption figures compare for 1923: Electrical, 357,000,000 pounds; automotive, 200,500,000; construction, 76,100,000; shipping, 5,200,000; and railways, 56,800,000 pounds. There were manufactured for export in 1923 102,900,000 pounds.

INDUSTRIES ACTIVE

Reports from both England and Germany are to the effect that the weakness of the copper metal market in the last two weeks is largely past and indications are that a sizable and increasing demand will materialize in both countries during 1925. The English position is said to be remarkably healthy and encouraging, with all industries using copper in quantity, showing increasing activity and laying plans for a broad future expansion. As for Germany, the very recent financing in this country of German General Electric and of Siemens & Halske, one of the largest electrical manufacturing companies in the world, indicates the direction of the trade wind in that country and the great potential demand for copper existing there. Both concerns have just offered $10,000,000 bonds here. In 1924 Siemens did a gross business of over $92,000,000. It has twenty-six factories and is operating at 100 per cent capacity. German General Electric also manufactures all forms of electrical apparatus, and in 1924 purchased in this market over 60,000,000 pounds of copper. Germany is showing a decided return as a copper purchaser. Since the war the country has been consuming copper at far under the rate prevailing in prewar years. Now however, a return back to the old consuming levels is indicated.

DEALERS STIMULATE RADIO SALES

Jobbers Find Good Demand in Mexico; Lamp Sales Are on Increase

With the recent reduction of 25 per cent, radio retail sales have been stimulated so that dealers' overstocks are now moving, but meanwhile jobbers are beginning to accumulate local stocks on certain items. Electrical jobbers in the Bay region report export business good, especially Mexican according to Electrical World.

Action of Northwest lumber manufacturers in inaugurating a five day week for a short time in an effort to curtail production and stabilize prices is being felt by all lines of business, in the electrical industry. Central-station companies are active and are placing large inquiries as well as orders, especially for switching equipment. A sale has been announced by the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company of nearly $1,000,000 worth of turbo-generator equipment to the West Penn Power Company. The Siemens Schuckert Company, Berlin, Germany, has entered with the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company into a ten year "Patent, Experience and Practice" agreement whereby each company will benefit mutually from research, inventive genius and electrical methods of the other. Rapidly growing lamp sales have caused the National Lamp Works of the General Electric Company to establish three new sales divisions with headquarters at Atlanta, Kansas City and Minneapolis.

Steel operations continues, active, but there has been some slowing up of current buying. Prices are holding firm, and it is believed that the present slackening is more or less seasonal. In New England central-station companies and industrial firms are figuring actively in the market and the outlook is good. Industrial sales are improving gradually, though slowly in the New York district.

In the Southeast expansion of the larger central-station properties through the purchase of smaller plants has resulted in much interconnection construction activity with a consequent demand for poles and line materials. The volume of industrial sales in the Middlewest is very good with individual orders comparatively small.

TRADE'S PACE DELIBERATE

Heavy Clearings Reported by Banks in Reflection of Commercial Turnover; Steel Slower

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Contrasting trade developments last week served to emphasize the more deliberate pace of business activities. Although additional progress was made in certain fields, it was nowhere pronounced and there was a distinct abatement in demand for certain products, notably iron and metal.

Favorable news, however, was by no means lacking. It was found in an unusually heavy volume of bank clearings, the maintenance of freight traffic at record seasonal levels, indicating a substantial movement of merchandise and further beneficial curtailment of petroleum production.

STEEL SLACKENS

Forward buying of iron and steel products slackened noticeably, although operations continued at a high rate. The weekly trade reviews predicted that unless there was a revival of new tonnage to replace the heavy inroads made on first-quarter bookings, a slowing down of the present speed of productions was not far distant. Prices held firm, however, and it was generally believed that a normal seasonal increase in buying would greatly stimulate the market. Stockholders of the Gulf States Steel Company were voted a stock dividend of 11½ per cent during the week.

The extent of last year's depression in the textile industry was strikingly reflected in the annual report of the American Woolen Company, which reported a deficit of more than $11,000,000 after the most unsatisfactory year in its history. The Baldwin Locomotive Works also incurred a deficit in 1924, but these unfavorable showings had been discounted in advance by the stock market, which indicated that it was looking forward to improvement in both fields. A compilation of the 1924 earnings of more than 100 representative industrial companies showed only a slight decline from the preceding year.

RECOVERY IS QUICK

"The quick recovery of the stock market after the most drastic reaction which has taken place since the past election bull movement began, indicated that confidence in the general forward trend of business could not be easily undermined. One of the advantages of the slower pace of expansion, it was held, lay in the fact that the Federal Reserve authorities had not found it necessary to exercise a restraining hand by raising the rediscount rate.

Grain and cotton markets offered few new features of interest during the week, with prices fluctuating irregularly. Mill takings of cotton, however, expanded to almost 590,000 bales in January, the largest month since May, 1923. Trading in sugar was the most active of any time this season, sales of the raw product on one day approximating 500,000 bags.

Local Company Buys Randsburg Mining Property

Entrance of Los Angeles capital into the development of the Randsburg mining district, located in the Mojave desert near Bakersfield, was announced yesterday by officers of the San Francisco Gold Mining Company, who have acquired a bonded lease on the property known as the King Solomon mine. The San Francisco company owns property in the Oatman mining district of Arizona and its stock is listed on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange.

The properties in the Randsburg area have been mined for years, but outside capital has never participated in the development until recently when a syndicate of eastern men purchased an option to buy the California Rand Silver, operating the famous Kelley mine, which has a long dividend record. It has been reported that the Yellow Aster has been sold to a syndicate, and negotiations begun for the transfer of other properties. The Randsburg district contains both gold and silver mines and is generally known as the last great mining camp in California.

The King Solomon mine acquired by the San Francisco company has been operated on a small scale for about fifteen years by the Shipsey interests, and has produced in that time about $500,000 in gold values. The ore body contains principally gold, averaging about $26 a ton in value. The property is equipped with a five-stamp mill and other machinery. It is the intention of the San Francisco company to begin immediate development work to open new ore bodies, although a year's supply of ore is in sight for the operation of the mill.

The property was acquired on a bonded lease payable on a 15 per cent royalty basis. The San Francisco company has $25,000 in the treasury to prosecute the development of the new ground and operate the mine. The stock is owned principally in Southern California and Arizona and the officers are well-known mining men. The officers are: W. K. Ridenour, director of United Eastern, president; J. A. Hassell, vice-president, and C. E. Miller of Miller & Dobbs, Inc., assistant secretary and treasurer. The directors include the foregoing and W. B. Phelps, general manager of the Tom Reed Mining Company; J. O. Knight, former member of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange; J. A. George of Oatman, Ariz., and J. H. Thomas, member of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange.

Winnipeg Shows Gains; Liverpool Also Advances

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Liverpool and Winnipeg were the only wheat markets open today. Winnipeg closed at the highest of the day, with gains of 1¼ cents on May, ⅝ on July and 1⅞ on October, while Liverpool closed ⅝@1⅛d higher. Rye in Winnipeg broke sharply at one time on local selling by the bears, who were active in selling the entire grain list there.

The decline ran into resting orders and rallied, with the close 2⅝ cents higher on May and 1⅜ cents higher on July. Barley was ½ to ⅝ of a cent higher, and flaxseed 3 cents higher. Oats, after a sharp break, closed ¼@½ cent from the top, with May futures ⅛@½ cent higher, and October ⅛ cent lower.

That wheat values should show some strength in the face of an increase on ocean passage was a surprise to the trade, and was probably due to the fact that wheat is going to more countries than usual at this time of the year. There was also anocher surprise in the world's shipments. The trade is looking for a good decrease in the visible supply in the United States and for a better market. Reports from Winnipeg said that Stewart was a large buyer, with Cathcart the principal seller.

Cash wheat values were relatively strong, and Winnipeg said that a little export business was traceable out of Vancouver to the United Kingdom. Holders of cash wheat hedged in May, which is still unsold in the East, and are becoming nervous on account of the action of the May-July spread, which is 7⅛ cents.

A Winnipeg message said the selling agent of the Canadian wheat pool, just back from the United Kingdom and continent, reports a continuance of demand for all wheat this country can spare for the balance of the crop year.

World shipments of wheat and flour from leading export countries for the week were 19,020,000 bushels, against 18,729,000 bushels the previous week and 15,934,000 bushels last year. Corn on passage was 1,892,000 bushels, against 2,452,000 bushels the previous week and 542,000 last year. Oats, 720,000 bushels, against 1,340,000 the previous week and 1,572,000 last year.

There is more wheat on ocean passage for importing countries than has been known for a long time. The aggregate is 82,326,000 bushels, against 71,328,000 bushels the previous week, 48,960,000 bushels a month ago and 59,264,000 bushels a year ago.

MEXICO AGRARIANS SEIZE FARM LANDS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 23.—Urged by Red agitators, more than 400 armed agrarians have seized extensive cultivated and irrigated lands from the haciendas of Lucero and other farms in the State of Durango in which the owners have just invested more than $100,000 under assurance of protection from the State government. President Calles has ordered the agrarians to be dislodged, but the latter assert they will fight for possession of the lands.

Well-known Financial Magazine Says:

"The lumber business is one of the four largest industries in the United States. If the supply of timber was hidden like coal, gold or silver, timber land values would be largely speculative . . . but practically every acre of timber in the country is known and mapped and the timber measured. The present annual demand exceeds the annual growth by over 400 per cent . . .

"A unique feature of timber as security is that it is alive, growing. There is no depreciation. The investment therefore in this raw material is of a permanent nature."

—Coast Banker, August, 1924.

The security and profit of timber operations is unquestionable. Ask us to send full details on the Seymour Inlet Timber and Pulp Company—an opportunity for you to become a partner in some of the finest timber in North America.

Security Markets Pulled in Different Directions

Constructive Forces Have Slight Advantage

Stock Values as Rule Fall Off on Good News

Howard G. Rath Company

Conflicting influences engaged in a constant struggle for control of the security markets during the past week, with the constructive element somewhat in the lead. Subjected to heavy selling pressure during the early part of the week, stocks forfeited a considerable portion of previous gains. Strong support of such pivotal stocks as American Can soon restored order and brought about short covering, with the technical position greatly improved. While no connection between the French situation and the decline in stocks was established, there is little doubt that confidence was temporarily shaken, at the expense of market values.

The market furnished not a few inconsistencies. For instance, Goodyear of Akron 7 per cent preferred stock sold at a new high price, crossing 98 7-8 for the first time in years, whereas the common stock sold off several points from its recent high. Baldwin Locomotive, which declined several points on publication of the unfavorable report which had been anticipated for many weeks, gained 10 points in the midweek rally. Gulf States Steel, which recently sold above 95 in anticipation of a stock dividend, sold off 8 points from its recent high and recovered but 4 points since declaration of an 11 1-2 per cent stock dividend. Shell Union Oil, which recently sold as high as 29, dropped to a small fraction above 25 on announcement of increase in the annual cash dividend rate from $1 to $1.40. All of which would seem to recommend the sale of specific securities just prior to publication of good news.

ARMOUR HOLDINGS SOLD

A powerful banking syndicate made public offering of 750,000 shares of Armour & Co.'s $25 par value class A common stock at $23 a share on Wednesday. This apparently marks the final adjustment of the financial situation of J. Ogden Armour. The stock was eagerly taken by the public and on the open market, both in New York and Chicago, the price quickly mounted to $24. A comparative earnings statement shows that the company has never failed to earn a profit since its incorporation in 1900, with the exception of the postwar period. Average annual earnings have exceeded $5,000,000 for the past twenty years, while last year's statement reveals $4.50 a share earned on the class A common.

The ease with which this block of $17,000,000 worth of stock was distributed furnishes an eloquent example of the public purchasing power and disposition to buy stocks which afford good incomes. The same public disposition is responsible for the strength in Pan-American issues which had been expected, and on Friday did increase the dividend rate from $4 annually, at which they yielded about 5½ per cent, to $6, the yield becoming over 8 per cent, or about the higest of any large oil stock.

OILS STRONG

While there was a great deal of profit taking just prior to the recent reaction, the vast amount of oil shares sold was very well taken. It appears that there were many orders for oil shares somewhat below recent highs, thus preventing any severe decline in this particular group. Conversely, there are many selling orders hovering over the market at the present time, orders placed by traders who did not sell previous to the decline and who now feel that they should take profits when another opportunity is offered. This, of course, is no true indication of underlying conditions. It is merely one phase of the technical situation which must sooner or later be righted.

Oil stocks still find an excellent market and it is very doubtful whether they will decline to any considerable extent in the near future. Tremendous gains have been made in intrinsic values, due to advances in the prices of crude oil and gasoline and the stock market has been saying, through the medium of quotations, that numerous dividend increases are on the way. Every once in a while new rumors of mergers among oil companies crop up and bring about spirited buying. Among the California oil companies, probably United and General Petroleum enjoyed the greatest favor during the past week. The advance in United Oil stock created a record high price of 156 for United Oil first mortgage 7s, representing an advance of 56 points in less than a year.

DISCOUNT RATE HOLDS

Both the bond and stock markets were helped by maintenance of the rediscount rate by the Federal reserve banks. In recent years the Federal reserve ratio and rediscount rates have been looked upon as barometers of approaching financial weather. Hence, the fact that the government's financial experts see a continuance of easy money rates is construed as a portent of continuance of the upward movement in securities. Dealers report a scarcity of bonds and listed issues are again moving upward. The public demand for sound issues is practically unabated. This condition is expected to exist, even after money rates show a tendency to rise.

"STOLEN" CHICKENS DEAD IN BROODER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Feb. 23.—Mystery of the disappearance of 165 baby chicks was solved by Deputy Sheriff Dwyer, who found that instead of the chicks having been stolen they had been roasted in their own little home.

Mrs. Arthur Ahr reported to the Sheriff's office that the chicks had disappeared and Dwyer hastened to the scene. He found the chick run uninhabited and looked into the brooder, where he found the entire flock dead. The brooder had become too hot.

Railroads and Motor Industry Take Machinery

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Betterment in buying by the railroads in the East and by the motor-car industry was one feature of the machinery and machine-tool market in the past week, American Machinist reports. Inquiries continued prominent and improvement of production in the Cincinnati and New England districts was reported.

Steel mills through the week worked at better than 85 per cent capacity, with the United States Steel Corporation reported operating at nearer 95 per cent. Exporting continued to improve and is reported better now than it has been at any time since the war. Italy is reported to be an excellent machine-tool customer and there are promises of further industrial expansions in that country.

New orders for machine tools from the car builders are in prospect. The purchases are expected to resudt naturally in time from the pick-up in the last fortnight of equipment purchases by the railroads. Agricultural-implement makers continue busy with orders and see months of activity ahead.

Machinery and machine-tool men believe the outlook for their field is better than it has been in two years. They see no signs of labor troubles. Finances of machine-tool buyers are sound.

AMERICAN MARKETS PAUSE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—All American financial and commercial exchanges and banks were closed for the Washington's Birthday holiday and there were no quotations today.

With the approaching end of February what is traditionally known as the "dead season" in American finance, industry and general trade also approaches its termination. This does not mean that the ending of the late winter season and the preliminary signs of spring-time activities always and necessarily result in a changed position on the markets. There have been years in which the month of March was a period of distinct financial disappointment. The absence of an expected revival of trade or the tightening of money in connection with the season's new requirements has sometimes disclosed the fact that the general situation was not favorable. It is a Wall-street tradition that the spring months apply to such a situation the real test, which in the nature of things could not be applied at the time of financial predictions made around New Year's Day.

But if March and the approach of spring disclose such adverse conditions as may not have been apparent during the season of midwinter inertia, it is equally true that at that time the underlying good points of a favorable business situation begin to come into sight.

In four different directions, developments of the coming season will unquestionably make the financial position clearer. In each there is considerable doubt and difference of opinion. The course and scope of business expansion is an annual one, especially in regard to what is still described as the "hand-to-mouth policy" of consumers. The action of money rates is another; it may be dependent on the extent of business recovery and may at least conceivably be found to have some relation to our gold exports and the attitude of the Federal Reserve Board. Movement of commodity prices will be a third consideration; thus far the season's really striking advance has been for the most part confined to cereals.

Finally the spring season will hardly pass without some clearing up, for better or worse, of the European situation. In one respect the underlying influences will be changed in March. After the present Congress goes out of existence on March 4 there will be nine months of immunity from the harassing doubts occasioned by the proposals of meddlesome and injurious legislation such as have been unpleasantly familiar during the two past years.

MARKETING BILL PASSAGE NEAR

Action Set for This Session Despite Protests

Federal Co-operative Plan is Incorporated in Act

Board of Five Men Created at $10,000 Salaries

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23. — Although leaders of farm organizations are far from satisfied with the measure, indications now seem to be that Congress will pass the administration co-operative marketing bill before the end of the session.

Hhe House is likely to pass the bill on Wednesday, having completed general debate. Many amendments will be offered and it will require several hours of discussion to dispose of them.

Among the amendments are expected to be various other pending farm bills of a more far-reaching character. The likelihood is that most of these will be voted down.

The Senate Republican leaders are expected to provide for consideration of the bill in the Senate within a day or two after it is passed by the House. The Senate Committee on Agriculture yesterday reported the bill in substantially the same form as pending before the House. There will be opposition in the Senate and attempts made to amend the bill, but the leaders now believe that it will be possible to pass it with somewhat less difficulty than was anticipated.

The bill as pending creates a Federal Co-operative Marketing Board composed of five members appointed by the President and the Secretary of Agriculture. The appointed members will receive salaries of $10,000.

The bill sets up a voluntary plan of registration for co-operative marketing associations. All associations, whether they register or not, will be able, because of amendments made to the Capper-Volstead Act by the bill, to operate without restrictions as to dissemination of crop and market information and as to production, pooling and storing agricultural products.

Spring Weather Boosts Business Volume Upward

That the few days of spring weather this week speeded up business activity throughout the State is clearly shown in the forward surge of bank clearings in the larger populated centers as telegraphed to the California Development Association. Almost sensational advances were scored in the six day period ended the 19th inst., as contrasted with the week preceding which was handicapped not only by widespread, and, in some sections, continuous rains but also by a bank holiday. Nearly all cities also scored gains over the corresponding week of last year.

San Francisco with clearings of $197,600,000 showed an increase over the week before of $47,700,000 and over the corresponding week of 1924 of $14,500,000. Los Angeles with clearings of $174,764,000 showed a gain of $44,961,000 over the week before and $5,160,000 over the year before. Oakland with clearings of $21,856,000 exhibited a gain over the preceding week of $6,018,000 and over the year before of $5,289,000. San Diego with clearings of $12,599,700 registered a gain of $877,000 over the week before.

Some of the other notable increases in bank clearings over the period immediately preceding were as follows: Long Beach $8,458,256, gain $3,139,441; Sacramento $7,878,238, gain $1,269,478; Pasadena $7,189,142, gain $1,597,143; Stockton $2,589,500 gain $98,900; Santa Monica $3,376,781, gain $836,463; Bakersfield $1,349,907, gain $435,594. Hollywood with its clearings of $6,958,000; San Jose with $2,651,475; San Bernardino with $2,111,975 and Riverside with $906,792 also scored large increases.

YOUR INCOME TAX

[This is the last of a series of income-tax articles based on changes in tax legislation as embodied in the Revenue Act of 1924. The reduction in rates, 25 per cent credit on "earned income" and other benefits of the new law as they affect the average taxpayer, are fully set forth.]

No. 30

When by reason of illness or absence from home additional time for filing an income-tax return is required the taxpayer should address to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Washington, D. C., a request for an extension. Collectors of internal revenue are not, as under preceding acts, permitted to grant such extensions. The request must be made before the return is due—March 15, 1925, if made on the calendar-year basis—and must contain a full recital of the causes for the delay.

An extension of time for filing the return does not extend the time for payment of the tax or any installment thereof unless so specified in the extension. As a condition of granting the extension the commissioner may require the submission of a tentative return and estimate of the amount of the tax and the payment of at least one-fourth of the estimated amount.

A tentative return should be made on the usual return form, plainly marked "tentative" at the top, contain a statement of the estimated amount of tax believed to be due, and be properly executed. No other data need be given. Tentative returns will not be accepted unless permission is obtained previous to filing. A copy of the authority to file the tentative return must be attached thereto.

Where a taxpayer files a tentative return and fails to file complete return within the period of the extension granted him the complete return, when filed, is subject to the penalties prescribed for delinquency.

Except in the case of a taxpayer who is abroad no extension will be granted for more than six months.

PRICE OF BONDS AT HIGH LEVEL

Recovery is Effected in New York Market

Rumors Cause a Fall in French Securities

Canadians Are Favorites in Wall Street

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—After reacting in sympathy with a decline in the stock market, bond prices recovered last week and again held around the year's highest levels. The record of trading, however, offered no fresh developments of importance being largely a retracement of ground lost by railroad and industrial obligations.

The attention of investment circles was directed mainly upon the French financial situation, which seemed to offer prospects for the flotation of an additional loan in the United States this year.

EARLY LOAN DOUBTED

International bankers disavowed knowledge of negotiations for a new loan of $100,000,000 or more to France, which Finance Minister Clementel assured the Chamber of Deputies had been promised. They admitted, however, that the question of foreign financing was certain to arise later in the year, although no bond offerings are expected for at least three and possibly six months.

One of the obstacles in the way of immediate French financing, it was pointed out, was the existing market situation. With the debt-funding question clouded in controversy and uneasiness over the government's financial policies, accentuated by vague talk of a capital levy, both French governmental and corporation bonds have declined in the face of an advancing market for other securities. New issues which were sold here last fall are now from 3 to 7 points below their offering prices.

With new bond flotations so far this year already exceeding $850,000,000, it is apparent that the American investing public will have absorbed almost $1,000,000,000 worth of securities by March 1. Flotation of the $35,000,000 Polish loan last week swelled the volume of new financing to approximately $89,000,000, compared with $61,000,000 for the week before.

FINANCING PLANNED

Preparations were under way for the sale of several important bond issues, although some of the offerings may be deferred until March. The United States Rubber Company was said to be planning a $30,000,000 note issue, the proceeds of which would be used to pay off bank loans. A prospective Canadian borrower is the Carillon Electric Development Company, seeking $50,000,000, but bankers indicated that the project was not yet ready for financing. Outbidding Canadian bankers last week, New York investment houses were awarded a $10,000,000 bond issue for the city of Quebec, which was quickly sold.

Although price movements of listed bonds last week were not particularly significant, Southwestern rail issues responded to reports that a new consolidation, including the Frisco, Katy, St. Louis Southwestern and Kansas City Southern roads was beginning to take form. Favorable earnings and dividend reports contributed to the rise.

WILL RUSSIA COME BACK

Indications strongly point to the restoration of the Monarchy and recognition of Czarist debts almost any day.

BULLETS CRIPPLE DREDGE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Feb. 23. A half-peck of rifle balls, sucked into the slush pipes of the huge dredge used in improving the port at Corpus Christi, recently put the big machine out of commission temporarily. Residents are trying to explain the origin of the bullets. Many were of the opinion that Gen. Zachary Taylor held target practice here during the Mexican War, while others hold out that the bullets were shot into the bay at a more recent date.

"100,000" "Gallons a Day"

That's the target I'm shooting at, and if every citizen that drives a car, just puts their shoulder to the wheel and boosts for "LIGHTNING," it won't be long now.

Here's the low Folks. During the past three weeks, we have jumped our daily retail gasoline sales from less than 20,000 gallons a day to about 60,000 gallons a day now, and at the same time, we are doing just 18 times the volume of lubricating business.

On this "LIGHTNING" product of ours, it only takes one trial to convince the most skeptical motorist that "LIGHTNING" has every other gasoline backed off the board so far that the others are really funny competition, and if every person that gives "LIGHTNING" one trial will just tell their friends about the results they get, it's going to be "LIGHTNING" all the way.

I figure there is sold in Los Angeles and suburbs every day, about 300,000 gallons of gasoline, which should show a profit of, at least, 3 cents a gallon net, so if we can grab 100,000 gallons a day of this volume, and that only means jumping our sales 40,000 gallons a day over what we are now doing, we will be able to cut a million dollar dividend on "JULIAN PETE" from retail sales alone during 1925.

Now Folks, it's not a case of any mercenary thought on my part that I am asking every citizen that possibly can, to use and boost "JULIAN PRODUCTS," because I'm here to tell you and ready to support my statement with a thousand affidavits, that I never yet have drawn one five cent piece from the "JULIAN PETROLEUM CORPORATION" since the day of it's inception, either in salary or any other way, shape or form, but I do want to put her over the top for the people who have their money invested, and who have stood so loyally behind me even through the darkest hours of our career, and with the patronage of the "Public" in general, on retail products, you may take it from me folks, "JULIAN PETE" is out in front and a sure winner.

You know, things are breaking lots better for us this year, and I really feel we have shaken the hoo-doo loose.

Our No. 1 Well at Athens on the Hill, while we were making a water test yesterday, flowed at the rate of about 1700 barrels a day, and while we had to kill her to re-cement, she has the earmarks of one of the best in the field and should be on steady production in ten days at the longest.

We are building the rig now for our Athens No. 3 also on the same tract, and will be drilling on her almost immediately.

We have made our location for No. 4 at Athens also, and it won't be so long until we tip in a few nice ones. With oil over two dollars these high gravity babies count up awful fast.

No. 9 in the Rosecrans field, is nearing the grease and should bark any minute.

We have worlds of good looking oil land but have been a little short on bank roll to drill it up.

Our pipe lines are showing a very nice revenue now and we are running lots of crude every day.

So taking it all round, the picture looks awfully good, considering what we've come through, and if you will just try and think "JULIAN" when you need gas or oil, I'm going to appreciate your patronage more than you will ever know.

That quarter of a mile list of people who "HAVE NOT" yet escrowed their stock, is getting shorter every day, so the sooner "YOU" kick in with yours, the sooner that will be off my mind.

BY ROBERT J. PRITCHARD

The largest gas well since the giant gassers of Santa Fe Springs, in the opinion of field men, blew in at Athens yesterday morning, the George F. Getty, Athens No. 2, spouting mud and gas with such violence as to blow the fittings off the casing head, and to damage the derrick. Yesterday afternoon the blowout was continuining without signs of diminution, and according to observers, seemed likely to demolish the derrick unless it sanded up soon. Nothing could be done to check the outburst, the drillers were standing at a safe distance awaiting a lull to try and kill the flow.

Getty cemented the well at 4234 feet, where a good oil sand was found, and the well was passed by the Mining Bureau for a water shutoff. In drilling into the sand, coring at regular intervals, the well began to show signs of life, and at 2 o'clock Monday morning made a short flow, accompanied by a gas blowout. Drilling was stopped immediately, and a "Christmas tree" valve fitting installed, preparatory to bringing in the well. Yesterday a.m., the gas blowout came with such force as to tear the "Christmas tree" from the casing head, and blow several planks from the crown-block. Mud was rained on the surrounding district for several blocks, this eventually subsiding, and the well settled down to a pure gas flow.

Getty No. 2 is located in the Athens district of Rosecrans field, near the Miley-Athens No. 1. It is the third gasser in this part of the field. The Sentinel Oil Company's Athens No. 1 was the first gasser, and is said to have made about 10,000,000 feet a day. The Marine Corporation's No. 31 well also blew out when it was first completed, with a production estimated at about 5,000,000 feet, but was brought in under control.

No estimate of the gas production in Getty No. 2 has been attempted, but oil men describe it as the largest gasser in the Los Angeles Basin since Santa Fe Springs.

Test Wildcat Well

The Winwell Oil Company, drilling the Gillette Manor wildcat well, at Lawndale, three miles west of the northern end of the Torrance field, is making a test of the well, according to field reports. The well was drilled to 5574 feet, and set six-inch casing at 5200 feet. The cement was drilled out on Sunday, and yesterday a production test of the well was started.

This well has reported showings at various times since work was resumed several months ago. Two 1000-barrel tanks have been built and a gas separator installed on the property.

To Deepen Wells

The Wesco Petroleum Company, controlled by K. C. and Don Wallace, Los Angeles operators, has started its No. 22 well in the old Temblow field, in Kern county, and is to start deepening all the old wells on the property, according to K. C. Wallace.

The Wesco property, comprising 200 acres, includes twenty-one shallow wells, with a total production of about fifty barrels a day of 17 de. gravity oil. Most of these wells are about 300 feet in depth, and the Wallace brothers believe that by deepening, their production can be considerably increased. Wesco No. 19 was recently deepened from 305 feet to 385 feet, and production increased from three barrels a day to fifteen.

Tuck Edens, well-known California driller, recently brought in a twenty-five-barrel well on his forty-acre sublease from the Wesco company, and is starting a second well about 250 feet west of the first one.

To Drill New Well

The Elk Hills Development Company plans to drill a new well on its holdings in the west end of the Elk Hills, offsetting the naval reserve, according to officials of the company. The new well will be located about one mile west of the company's No. 1 well, which found production at about 2800 feet, but was unable to take advantage of it because of mechanical trouble.

Elk Hills No. 2 wil be about one and one-half miles from the well recently brought in by the Washington Petroleum Company, which came in about one month ago, causing a considerable sensation in Kern county oil circles. The Washington well is now making about 200 barrels a day, from a depth of 2640 feet. It is in a new area.

Well is Wet

E. J. Miley will recement his Athens No. 3 in the Athens area at Rosecrans, according to official reports. During the combined water and production test on Sunday, the well proved to be wet. It is down 5150 feet with casing set 5119 feet.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE: Fairly active demand developed for yesterday's moderate supply and a fair clearance was made. The early rounds showed more action than later trading. However, the more desirable kinds were practically all sold by that time. Prices on steers generally held around steady, while she stock went over on a steady to 25 cents higher basis, mostly 10 to 15 cents up. The practical top on steers was 8.25, paid for a load of 1157-pound fed Californias. However, ten head on the baby beef order averaging 880 pounds realized 9.00. The price spread of 7.00 to 8.00 took in the bulk of steers, mostly 975 to 1200-pound weights, numerous loads going over from 7.25 to 7.60. Common kinds turned largely around the 6.00 mark.

Cows were comparatively scarce, yesterday's run being mostly steers. The price spread of 4.50 to 6.00 took in the bulk of fat cows and heifers, while a part load of cows averaging 1202 pounds topped for the day at 6.15. Small lots and odd head were rather numerous from 6.25 to 6.75, with a few heifers as high as 7.00. Canners and cutters held fully steady, the bulk clearing from 2.00 to 3.75. Bulls were rather active and sold on a steady to strong basis, with spots showing some advance. Most bolognas cleared from 4.00 to 4.50, while beef bulls, mostly fed kinds, turned from 5.00 to 5.50.

CALVES: Active demand developed for the small supply of vealers, most of which were milk calves, and these sold readily at unevenly higher prices, mostly 25 to 50 cents up. A part load of choice 198-pound milk calves realized 13.50, while the bulk of vealers, 165 to 200-pound weights, cleared from 10.00 to 11.00. Less desirable kinds were numerous from 7.00 to 9.00, while common kinds, including woody Arizonas, sold downward to 6.00.

HOGS: The bulk of the run was late in arriving. However, the broad demand that existed enabled salesmen to turn their offerings readily. Prices were generally 10 to 25 cents up, light lights showing the most advance. Yesterday's top of 13.00, paid for a load of choice 187-pound grain feds, was the highest in the history of the yards. The bulk of good and choice 165 to 195-pound butchers turned from 12.60 to 12.85, mostly 12.75 to 12.85. Light lights and strong weight slaughter pigs, mostly 125 to 145-pound weights, turned from 12.00 to 12.35. Pigs averaging 110 to 120 pounds turned from 11.40 to 11.75, while light weight pigs, averaging less than 100 pounds, sold downward to 10.50. Packing sows were very scarce, the few here going over from 10.25 to 10.50.

SHEEP: Yesterday's small supply of lambs was cleaned up readily at fully steady prices. A deck of 64-pound springers cleared for 16.50 straight, while two decks of 74-pound wooled Utahs realized 15.50 without a sort. Choice light weight ewes are quotable upward to 10.25.

PASTEUR'S TOOLS GO TO A MUSEUM

APPARATUS OF FRENCHMAN GIVEN TO COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY

Columbia University, New York City, announces in a recent press bulletin that it has just received three pieces of apparatus which were used by Louis Pasteur with his own hands while he was dean of the faculty of sciences at the University of Lille, from 1854 to 1857. They were sent by Prof. Pascal, dean of the school of chemistry at that university. By direction of President Butler, they have been turned over to the Chandler Chemical Museum, where they will be displayed as soon as a special case is made ready for them. Explaining the significance of the apparatus, the curator of the museum, Dr. Ellwood Hendrick, is quoted as follows:

"It was at Lille that Pasteur began his work on fermentation, and where he reached the conclusion that this is due to living organisms. This was the first great step and, indeed the key to the discovery of bacilli and other living organisms in their relation to disease.

"These simple instruments that any glass-blower could make — a little flask with a long neck, another little flask with a special ground cap and a U-tube with side pieces—take on a new significance when we realize how millions of lives have been saved and hells of suffering avoided by the wisdom, the understanding of Nature's ways, reached by the master with these tools in his hand.

"Of what merit would be the sword of Caesar, compared with these precious relics? How much greater was the conquest of Pasteur! Until he studied and pondered and saw the light, we were helpless in the presence of any septic, rotting sore, and didn't know what to do with it.

"The apparatus is such as any tyro in chemistry might use—and break. But consider to what mighty effect the man of vision used them.

"Anyone can see that such simple equipment does not make a chemist; that instruments do not, of themselves, swing about like a divining-rod and point to the light of truth, to discovery. Whoever looks at these little tubes and bulbs will also read the words of their erstwhile owner, that 'in the field of observation chance only favors the mind that is prepared.'

"They may inspire the worker in chemistry to prepare his own mind, which no university alone can do for him. They may lead to resolution. They may induce somebody to follow the dictum of Lafcadio Hearn: to 'play God and breathe the breath of life into his work.' That is their significance."—[Literary Digest.

WORKERS MUST SAVE

A saving of at least 10 per cent of their wages is compulsory for the 1400 employees of the Brown utilities interests with headquarters at Abilene, Kan. The rule applies to the highest official as well as to the humblest worker. According to C. L. Brown, president of the United Power and Light Corporation, United Telephone Company and other interests: "Give me a man with a family and a home that is paid for, and ninety-nine times out of a hundred we have a contented worker. On the other hand, although by no means always, the man who does not have something tangible to show for his job is usually ready to seek another with the slightest excuse for the shift."

Horses in the Way

A Los Angeles ordinance now bars the downtown section to all horse-drawn vehicles because they slow up and block motor traffic. Next pedestrians should be shooed off the streets to give the motorists full right of way.—[Capper's Weekly.

Porto Bello Gold

by Arthur D. Howden Smith

Synopsis: Darby O'Gill brings news from the water front that pirates had been met at sea. Peter Corlaer, chief of the fur traders, and Robert Ormerod repair to the elder Ormerod with the news. They find him conferring with the captain of the chased craft and other officials. The elder Ormerod concludes it is Capt. Rip-Rap, a notorious pirate. The merchant Ormerod's captain comes to terms on his cargo.

"I ha' no quarrel with such terms," said Farraday, fishing a silken-wrapped packet from his coat-tail pocket. "Here you are, Master Ormerod. And I'll be off to the George Tavern for a bite of shore food and a mug of mulled ale."

My father fidgeted the packet in his hands for a moment.

"You are certain 'twas Capt. Rip-Rap who chased you?" he asked then.

"I'd swear to his foretops'ls," answered Farraday confidently. "Mark you, my master, when I first sighted him I made sure he was a King's ship, and I lay to until he was abeam. Then I saw he showed no colors—and moreover, there was that about him, which I'll own I cannot put a name to, made me suspicious. So I hoisted colors. And still he showed none. I fired a gun, and wi' that he bore up for me, and I made off, wi' every sail set; aye, until the sticks groaned. For I knew he was up to no good purpose, and I made certain that he was Rip-Rap.

"As I said afore, he chased me once in '43, and Jenkins he took off Jamaica in the snow Cynthia out o' Southampton, when Flint was for drowning the lot o' them; but Rip-Rap, in his cold way, says there was no point to slaying without purpose, and they turned 'em loose in the longbat. And there's none left 'on the Account' that sail in a great ship fit to be a King's frigate, save it be Rip-Rap—Flint's Walrus is a tall ship and heavy armed, but hath not the sail-spread o' the Royal James. Jenkins says she was a Frenchman, and 'tis to be admitted she hath the fine-run lines the Frenchies build."

My father was hard put to it to make head against this flow of talk, but at last he succeeded.

"It was my understanding," he said, "that Capt. Rip-Rap disappeared from the West Indies during the late war."

Capt. Farraday shrugged his shoulders.

"Like enough. There were too many cruisers o' both sides at large in those seas to suit him. But now he knows we ha' back the piping times of peace—and when nations are at peace your pirates reap their harvest. You may lay to that, Master Ormerod."

"'Tis not to be questioned," assented my father. "I give you thanks, captain. Pray call upon me at your leisure and if I can be of any service to you I am at your command."

Capt. Farraday stumped off toward the George, a tail of the curious at his heels, and I grinned to myself at thought of the strong drink they would offer him in return for his tale. There was no chance of his being sober inside the twenty-four hours.

My father nodded absently to Peter, who had stood throughout the entire conversation, his flat face sleepily imperturbable.

"I like it not," he muttered, as if to himself.

Peter gave him a quick look but said nothing.

"Is there anything wrong, father?" I asked.

He frowned at me, then stared off at the housetops in a way he had, almost as if he sought to peer beyond the future.

"No—yes—I do not know."

He broke off abruptly.

"Peter, I am glad you are here," he added.

"Ja," said Peter vacantly.

"You have not looked at your letters yet," I reminded him.

"I have no occasion to," he retorted. "There is that which—But the street is no place for such conversation. Come home, my boy; come home."

We set off over the snowy ground, and the people we passed bowed or bobbed their heads to my father, for he was a great man in New York, as great as any after the Governor; but he walked now with his eyes upon the ground immersed in thought. And once again as we turned into Pearl street he muttered—

"Nay, I like it not."

Darby McGraw met us at the door, and from his wild gaze I knew him to be half expecting to behold the pirates hot-foot at our heels.

"Have you performed your tasks, Darby?" questioned my father as the lad backed into the counting-room on the right of the entrance hall.

"Yes, master."

"Be off with you, then. I wish not to be disturbed."

"See if can you find us late news of the pirates, Darby," I added as he slipped by.

He answered me with a merry scowl, but my father spun on his heel.

"What mean you by that, Robert?" says he.

I was nonplussed.

"Why, naught, sir. Darby is daft on pirates. He—"

Peter Corlaer shut the room door upon the Irish boy and came toward us, moving with the swift stealth that was one of his most astonishing characteristics.

"Ja, he does not know," he said.

"What?" challenged my father.

"What you andt I know," returned the Dutchman calmly.

"So you know too, Peter?"

"Ja."

I could restrain my impatience no longer.

"What is this mystery?" I demanded. "I thought I knew all the secrets of the business; but sure, father, I never thought to hear that we were concerned as a firm with pirates!"

"We are not," my father answered curtly. "This is a matter of which you know nothing, Robert, because until now there has been no occasion for you to know of it."

He hesitated.

"Peter," he went on, "must we tell the boy?"

"He is not a boy; he is a man," said Peter.

I flashed my gratitude to the fat Dutchman in a smile, but he paid me no attention. My father, too, seemed to forget me. He strode up and down the counting-room, hands under the skirts of his coat, head bowed in thought. Tags of phrases escaped his lips:

"I had thought him dead—Strange, if he bobs up again—Here is a problem I had never thought to face—Mayhap I exaggerate—it cannot have significance for us—Certes, it must be accident—"

"Neen, he comes for a purpose," interrupted Peter.

"Who do you fancy this Capt. Rip-Rap to be, Peter? Speak up! You were right when you said Robert is no longer a boy. If there is danger here, he deserves to know of it."

"Andrew Murray!" mused my father. "Aye, 'twould be he. I have suspected it all these years—held it for certainty. But I made sure when he failed to show himself after the last war that Providence had attended to him. It seems I was wrong."

"Whoever he is, this pirate cannot do harm to us in New York," I made bold to say.

"Be not too sure, Robert," adjured my father. "He happens to be your great-uncle."

He reached up to the rack over the fireplace and selected a long, clay pipe, which he stuffed with tobacco the while I was recovering from my astonishment.

"Your uncle?" I gasped then.

Corlaer hauled forward a couple of chairs, and we all sat in the circle of the firelight, my father on one side of me and Peter on the other. The evening was drawing on apace, and the room was aswarm with shadows a few feet from the hearth. My father stared long into the leaping heart of the flames before he answered me.

"No; your mother's," he said finally.

"But he was the great trader who conducted the contraband trade with Canada!" I cried. "I have heard of him. 'Twas he established the Doom Trail to enable him to supply the French fur-traders with goods to wean the far savages from us! You have told me of him yourself, as hath Master Colden. 'Twas he whom you and Corlaer and the Iroquois fought when you broke down the barriers of the Doom Trail and won back the fur trade for our people. Why, 'twas then you—you—"

I knew the deep feeling my father still had for my long-dead mother, and I scrupled to stir his memories. He himself took the words from my lips.

"Yes, 'twas then I came to love your mother. She—she was not such as you would expect to find allied by any ties with so great a scoundrel. But she was his niece—past doubt, Robert. She was a Kerr of Fernieside; her mother had been Murray's sister. Kerr and Murray were out together in the '15; Kerr fell at Sheriffmuir. His widow died not long afterward and Murray took poor waif Marjory.

"He did well by her—there's no denying that. But he always intended to use her to further his own designs. He had a cold eye for the future, with no thought except of his own advantage, and if I— But there's no need to go into that. You know, Robert, how Corlaer and the Seneca chief, Tawannears—he who is now the Guardian of the Western Door of the Long House—and I were able to smash the vast power Murray had built up on the frontier.

"We smashed him so utterly, discrediting him too withal, that he was obliged to flee the province, and even his friends, the French, would have none of him—at least, aboveboard. I have always fancied he still served their interests at large; for he is at bottom a most fanatical Jacobite, and eke sincere in a queer, twisted way. Aye, there is that about him which is difficult to understand, Robert. Himself, he hath no hesitation in believing he serves high purposes of state in all he does."

"But a pirate!" I exclaimed.

"Oh, that is nothing to him!"

"Not'ing," agreed Peter. "He was a pirate on der landt."

"Only a madman could lay claim to serving the State as a pirate," I objected.

"You speak with overconfidence," rebuked my father. "There are men alive today who can remember when Morgan and Davis and Dampier and many another brave fellow of the same kidney lived by piracy and served the King at one and the same time. Some of 'em were hung in the end, and Morgan died a knight. It can be done."

"How?"

"Consider, my boy! Murray—your great-uncle, mind you!—is a Jacobite. For our present government he hath only hatred and contempt. Any means by which that government was undermined would seem to him justifiable as aiding to bring about its downfall. Look to the fantastic humor of the man in naming his ship the Royal James!"

"If he be, indeed, the man you think he is," I returned, none too well pleased with the thought of having a pirate a great-uncle. My father laughed kindly, and tapped me on the knee with his free hand.

"I know how you feel, dear lad," he said. "'Twas so identically your mother talked. Bless her heart! We were fresh married when the precious rascal sent us by one of his tarry-breeks that necklace which lies now in my strongbox—the loot of some Indian queen mayhap. Afterward—after she had died—when you were scarce breeched—he sent again; those silver plates upon the sideboard in the dining-room. Dishonestly come by, of course; but what was I to do? I could not cast them in the river, nor did I know how to return them to him. And after that again came a third messenger, this time with no more than a letter in which he condoled with me upon the loss of her whom we had both reverenced above all others!

"Then, I admit, I could have strangled him, for had he been successful in his plans he would have mated her with a Frenchman who was servant to the Foul Fiend. Yet in his way he cared for her, and he took much interest in all she did. By hook or crook he had word of us, however, far he wandered. He knew when you were born. He knew when she died. And now that you have reached manhood he shows his sails outside Sandy Hook. I do not know what it means, Robert, but I like it not! I like it not!"

"But we are not at sea," I protested. "We are in New York. There are soldiers in Fort George. Commodore Burrage will be down from Boston anon. What can a pirate ship, what can two pirate ships, affect against us? Why, the city train-bands—"

"'Tis not force I dread," my father cut me off. "'Tis the infernal cleverness of a warped mind."

"Ja," agreed Peter.

My father thrust the stem of his pipe toward him.

"You feel it, too, old friend?" he cried then.

Strange Fatality Pursues London Family; Three Die on Stroke

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Three in one family died at the same hour in four days. James Bellingham succumbed to influenza at 9 o'clock in the morning. Two days days later his wife was taken ill and died as the clock struck nine.

Mrs. Bellingham's sister-in-law living several miles from the Bellinghams, died the next mornng, also at 9 o'clock.

THE PARKING PROBLEM

Somewhat Like Working Out a Cross-Word Puzzle

Over 3,600,000 passenger cars and trucks were sold in the United States last year. This was considerably faster, we believe, than places were provided for parking them. The European situation is improving, the tariff is something for the politicians to worry about, income-tax day comes along four times a year, but the parking problem is assuming ever graver aspects.

Most cities are now grappling with this question, but without results. In a number of cities you are allowed to park only thirty minutes in one place. If you are engaged in a business conference or if you are getting a permanent wave or are having your teeth extracted, you must adjourn every half-hour and drive your car into some other section of the city.

In the shopping districts of some cities parking is strictly forbidden during business hours. So the best time to drive to a store and shop is after it has closed for the day, the clerks have gone home and the night watchman has surrendered to Morpheus.

In Paris they have a parking plan that is not without its points of merit. You can park your car on odd-numbered days on the odd-numbered side of the street, and on even days on the even-numbered side. We would like to see some alert American city adopt a plan which, we believe, would be an improvement on the French system, namely, that only blue-eyed drivers be allowed to park in the mornings and only black-eyed drivers in the afternoons. If a blue-eyed driver gets a black eye before 1 p.m., he has the privilege of coming back in the afternoon for another one. Any driver who gets a pair of black and blue eyes in the regular discharge of his duties has the right to park some place else the next time.

Looking for a place to park your car is like working a cross-word puzzle; it is hard to find words to suit the occasion.

Baffling as is this problem of parking your car, there is one question that is still more distressing. That is how to unpark or depark it. The best way is to go about it good-naturedly. Make a game of it. If you tear off somebody's running board it counts seven strokes. Knocking off a wheel gives you ten strokes. Making a fender look like a wilted collar, three strokes. And so forth, ad infinitum profanitus.—[Harry Daniel in Thrift Magazine.

Naps His Way to Hospital at Wheel of Auto

Mathew S. Swift, 22 years of age, son of Ernest Swift, Hollywood business man, is in the Hollywood Community Hospital suffering from injuries received early Sunday morning in an accident on Vine street near Sunset Boulevard. Young Swift suffered a badly crushed lower jaw and was operated on by Dr. S. R. Broadbent.

John W. Winnett, 932 San Vicente Boulevard, student at the University of California at Berkeley, driver of the machine in which Swift was injured, also suffered a crushed jaw, but his condition was not serious, Dr. Broadbent stated. Winston Ogden, 707 Palisades Beach, the third passenger in the automobile, was not injured.

Winnett, according to attending physicians, stated that he fell asleep at the wheel of the machine and it swerved over the curb and into a tree. The automobile was completely wrecked.

Children Must Visit Palestine to Get Legacy

To claim their patrimony, the children of Myer Zameres, Los Angeles Zionist, must each make a pilgrimage of piety to the land of their fathers before reaching the age of 30, according to Zameres's will on file in the office of the County Clerk.

It is provided in the document that if any one of his three children shall not have "set foot in Palestine" upon becoming 30 years of age the share shall be divided between those who have responded to the paternal desire.

The executors of the estate are required to invest its funds, as they accumulate, in realty in or near Jerusalem. The beneficiaries, after bequests to various Hebrew philanthropies, are two sons and a daughter, all minors, it being noted in the will that the widow's inheritance was commuted by a property settlement. The estate is valued at $25,000.

Coast Artillerymen Conduct Regimental Celebration

Rain failed to dampen the ardor of the battle fleet yesterday, likewise the Coast Artillerymen of Fort MacArthur. Nineteen fighting ships at anchor broke out in full dress at daybreak—signal and battle flags from truck to taffrail and peak to truck—while Fort MacArthur put on a colorful display in the celebration of the first regimental day of the Third Coast Artillery.

At noon eleven dreadnaughts simultaneously roared forth in the national salute of twenty-one guns, the intervals being taken up by the bark of the shore batteries at Fort MacArthur. Visitors estimated at more than 20,000 were present at the Washington Birthday exercises on board ship during the afternoon.

In the exercise at Fort MacArthur Col. Dan H. Dorsey presented the Third Coast Artillery with its new regimental colors, carrying seventeen battle streamers dating from Lundy's Lane to the World War. Following the review of the garrison by Col. Dorsey and Maj. George Ruhlen, Jr., commanding the Third Artillery, Col. Dorsey reveiwed the history of the regiment, which he characterized as the most illustrious artillery organization in the United States Army.

Yesterday was the seventy-leghth anniversary of the Battle of Buena Vista, where the Third Artillery won its spurs and saved the day by the heroism of its two batteries present. Maj. Ruhlen, in his address to the regiment yesterday, recounted that two-day battle, the turning point of the Mexican War, and declared that the Old Third's heroism on that day is one of the unfading heritages of the service.

"It is the glorious memory of that occasion which formulated our regimental motto — 'Non Cedo Ferio'—'I Yield Not, I Strike' "—said Maj. Ruhlen, "and that is why this day, the anniversary of that occasion, which shed unfading luster upon American arms, is celebrated as regimental organization day of the Third Coast Artillery."

An all-day program of sports and musical entertainment, with a barbecue on the quadrangle at noon, followed the review at Fort MacArthur, closing with a military ball at Recreation Hall in the evening.

All ships of the battle fleet awarded unusual liberty privileges to officers and men, leave extending from last Saturday over the week-end until this morning. All units of the battleship divisions in port will get under way this morning, however, for four days of hard work in completing all unfinished gunnery exercises, that the schedule may be complete when the fleet sails for southern waters on March 2, next.

HARBOR LAUDED BY LUCKENBACH

Five Millions May be Spent on New Coastal Ships

Terminal Facilities Here Are Held Equal to Any

Expressing himself as "astounded at the growth and improvement of Los Angeles Harbor," Edgar F. Luckenbach, president and majority stockholder of the steamship line bearing his name, declared here yesterday that approximately $5,000,000 will be expended by his organization in the improvement of service if other Pacific Coast ports impress him with the feasibility of such a plan. The ultimate decision, Mr. Luckenbach said, will rest upon corresponding strides in achievement that have been demonstrated by Los Angeles Harbor.

"I say this not as a program definitely decided upon, nor as a prediction," Mr. Luckenbach stated, "but from what I have seen here it seems reasonable to expect that such an expenditure on the part of the Luckenbach line is bound to come."

The executive said the remarkable growth of the local harbor was largely responsible for his present visit to the Pacific Coast, which he termed a "tour of investigation." It is his first visit to Los Angeles in several years. He left at noon yesterday aboard the Julia Luckenbach for San Francisco, where he expects to remain a week or ten days and then proceed to Portland and Seattle. From that point he will return to New York, home office of the company.

"I consider the terminal facilities at Los Angeles Harbor, at least those used by our line, as absolutely the last word in construction of its kind," he averred, "and that statement includes any port in the world, whether it be New York or anywhere else.

"Shippers and importers here have been lavish in their praise of the service given by the Luckenbach line and with such wholehearted support, the service of the line must be kept abreast—ahead, if I can make it possible—of the demands. It seems as if about five more ships are necessary to augment the fleet of twenty ships we now have in transoceanic passenger and freight service. My personal opinion is that these ships will have to be built as I know of none on the market which would meet the requirements I ask of Luckenbach steamers. Consequently, if these five ships are added to the service, I anticipate an outlay of about $1,000,000 on each. As they must be built for the trade, it will be January 1, 1926, or thereabouts, before they will be ready for service."

At the present time, he declared, the Luckenbach Line operates one ship a week in each direction between Atlantic and Pacific Coast ports. Pacific Coast executives, he said, have impressed him with the logic of at least a five-day service.

MEMBERSHIP GROWING

Rabbi of Beth-el Temple Plans Community Center

Rabbi Harry A. Alstet, pastor of Beth-el Temple of Hollywood, yesterday issued a statement commending Sam Kress and his membership committees upon the progress reported in the membership drive recently inaugurated by directors and members of the only Jewish worshiping place in Hollywood.

In his statement Rabbi Alstet predicted a membership of more than 500 within the next few weeks and stated that he would continue special arrangements to transform the popular headquarters of Hollywood Jewry into a Hebraic community center as well.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

THE average citizen would be stumped if you asked him who founded Los Angeles.

In rescuing the memory of the gallant Felipe de Neve, the Daughters of the American Revolution have done something notable and interesting.

Although it would seem proper that there should be a monument to his memory more imposing than a sundial.

WHY NOT A PARK?

Some of them—like the one at Dayton and Avenue Thirty-nine—have no names. It would seem that one of them should bear the name of De Neve, and another the name of Fra Junipero Serra—the gentle Franciscan who put California on the map.

IS WAR ALL?

All our memorials are commemorative of soldiers.

How are we going to turn the minds of children away from war if we remind them of nothing else?

In this matter, I can speak from experience. When I was a little boy in school, my mind was stuffed full of war heroes and battles. It seemed to me that the future could not possibly hold anything desirable or worth while except getting into a war and thrusting swords and other hardware through human carcasses.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

I say "sold" because you have to put over a national hero as you do any other idea.

Columbus has always been a picturesque character in the minds of school children. Far beyond his deserts, in fact. Of late years they have been looking up old Christopher's record, and they have had to pass him along as an extremely dubious hero—to put the case mildly.

But Washington has always been shown to us as a pale washed-out prig. Whereas the truth is, the immortal George was perhaps the most interesting character in all our national history.

NOW WE KNOW

The scientific expedition sent to Lapland has just reported—and we can all breathe easier.

They penetrated the snows in order to find out if the Lapps are of the Mongolian race. They have reported that they don't know, and, furthermore, they doubt if there is any such thing as a Mongolian race, anyhow.

It would seem to be what racing men call a dead heat.

GLORIA SWANSON

The prayers of everybody will go to poor little Gloria, fighting for life in a French hospital.

That she was able to fight her way from a Mack Sennett bathing pool to an acknowledged crown as the most famous woman in the world bespeaks qualities of character and soul that the world can't afford to lose.

McKEE RETURNS FROM BUSINESS TRIP EAST

Henry McKee, president of Barker Brothers, and member of the Federal Reserve Board, has returned from Washington, where he attended a meeting of the financial governing body. Nothing outstanding occurred at the gathering, he declared. The only thing of consequence about the trip, he said, was his pleasure at getting back to Los Angeles.

GROUP GIVES ITS SUPPORT TO BLEDSOE

Nearly 200 of California Country Club Sign Letter Hailing Judge as Leader

Signed by nearly 200 members of the California Country Club, a pledge of support to Federal Judge Bledsoe in his campaign for Mayor was forwarded yesterday.

"At this time, more than ever before, the city of Los Angeles requires as its leader, a man of unquestionable ability, integrity, vigor and broad vision," said the letter. "These qualifications we believe you possess in abundance. Your dexterous and disciplined faculties, strong and subtle energies, will find exercise and fulness in the performance of the duties belonging to the officer of Chief Magistrate of this community.

"We therefore, together with all thoughtful citizens of Los Angeles, pledge you our unreserved support during the campaign and in office."

The earlier paragraphs of the letter declare that the campaign offer a real opportunity to insure needed improvement in civic government and law enforcement.

SAN CARLO COMPANY OPENS

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Without any excess of frills and furbelows, but with a certain well-defined air of self-importance the San Carlo Opera Company last night assumed a brighter place than usual in the realm of musical entertainment. "La Tosca," by the late Giacomo Puccini (it is the first time I have written "late" before his name in a critical review,") was the opening production of a two weeks' season and gave promise of a good, consistent series of performances of the popular order, and a renewed success not only for some of the principals of the organization, like Alice Gentle and Manuel Salazar, but especially on this occasion for the conductor, Fulgencio Guerrieri.

All the friends of the maestro, as he is known hereabouts, where he has resided for the past several years, were on hand to greet him. They called him before the footlights during each intermission with their applause, and following the second act he was presented with a silver loving cup by the cathedral chapel choir, of which he had assumed the direction for a series of planned concerts just prior to his departure. Carl Bronson made the speech of presentation and welcome, and Guerrieri was apparently all but overcome with emotion at the receiving of the tribute.

No one has ever achieved more favor perhaps as the director of popular operatic organizations than Guerrieri, (and he has also been with some of the bigger companies on occasion,) but in all the time that he has ever led operas before Los Angeles audiences he has seldom enjoyed such enthusiastic, or such well-deserved approval

It is possible perhaps, that he has conducted certain performances, as a whole, more effectively than that of "Tosca," last night, but as regards the second act in particular, and certain other portions of the opera, his reading emotionally and dramatically was of the most telling in appeal.

The lapses that might be decried in the general interpretation, were to be laid to the fact that this was the first performance rather than to any lack of energy and effort on Guerrieri's part. One may as a consequence look forward to the subsequent presentations for a growth both in character and beauty, as well as fundamental interest.

One thing that was especially to be remarked in Guerrieri's work was the notable increase in his finesse and the quality of his shad-

BUILDERS THRONG TO CITY

Almost 1000 of the more than 1500 delegates expected at the fourteenth annual convention of the National Association of Builders' Exchanges registered at convention headquarters at the Biltmore yesterday. They came from every part of the country, representation from the East being particularly heavy.

The high light of yesterday's convention events was the arrival of a special train in the afternoon, carrying 150 association members, including all the national officials. The train started from New York and paused at Pittsburg, Washington, Baltimore, Chicago and other eastern cities to pick up delegations. At the Santa Fe station the party was received by a large group of representatives of the Los Angeles Builders' Exchange, which will act as host to the visiting delegates.

A unique feature of the reception was the conveyance provided for carrying the national president, William F. Chew of Baltimore, to his hotel. After greetings had been exchanged and the handshakings were over, the president to his amazement was invited to enter an old-fashioned stagecoach to which was hitched a prancing four-horse team. He did so, a little nervously, it seemed to bystanders, and was whisked away in the ancient vehicle, which had seen service in the good old days when California and the West were young.

The first regular session of the convention will open at 10 o'clock this morning at the Biltmore. The program includes addresses of welcome by Gov. Richardson, Mayor Cryer and Godfrey Edwards, president of the Los Angeles Builders' Exchange. Most of the session will be devoted to the reading of reports and the appointment of committees.

The National Association of Builders' Exchanges has a membership of approximately 50,000 scattered all over the country, with headquarters at Washington. The membership of the Los Angeles branch numbers 800. This is the first time a national convention of the organization has been conducted west of the Rocky Mountains.

Its membership includes representatives of every branch of the building construction industry. The association pays special attention to legislation affecting the building industry, and much of the time at the present convention will be devoted to that subject, particularly the phase of it that relates to laws tending to curb individual enterprise in building.

The role of film extras was demonstrated by the delegates last night when they acted in a one-reel picture just three hours after their arrival in Los Angeles. The builders were filmed under the direction of Allen Ray Rockett at Universal City and were enthusias-

SCENARIST TO PRODUCE OWN FILMS

Frances Marion Enters Ranks of Independents; Company to Bear Name

Frances Marion, one of the leading motion-picture scenarists and writer of more than a score of the outstanding films of recent years, has entered the ranks of independent producers, it was announced in dispatches received yesterday from New York. Her producing company will be backed by western financial interests and will release pictures through the Producers' Distributing Corporation. The new company will be known as Frances Marion Pictures.

The formation of the company is the result of negotiations started by John C. Flinn, vice-president of the Producers' Distributing Corporation, during his visit to Los Angeles, last December. Plans of the company call for the production of two pictures at the Hollywood studios for fall release. Selection of the story, director anr cast for the initial picture will be made when Mr. Flinn arrives in Los Angeles next month.

In addition to writing ten of the most popular pictures made by Mary Pickford, Miss Marion wrote the script for "Abraham Lincoln," "Secrets," "The Lady" and other pictures for Norma Talmadge, "Sonny" for Richard Barthelmess, "East is West" for Constance Talmadge, "Humoresque" and others.

CONVENTION OF TAX MEN OPENS

School Assessment Scored as Hard on Poor

Many Minor Measures Are Disposed Of

Visit to Picture Studios is Scheduled Today

Legislation pending before the Senate and Assembly at Sacramento was subjected to a thorough scrutiny yesterday at the annual convention of the State Associations of County Auditors and County Tax Collectors at the Alexandria. One hundred and ten members of the associations had registered last night. Th econvention will continue today and tomorrow.

The two elements of the associations assembled in the ballroom and a committee room and proceeded to study those bills which affected county officers.

The convention was called to order by President I. J. Cornett, and the address of welcome was given by Supervisor Wright. Mr. Cornett responded.

Legislative committees, whose duty it will be to present the views of the associations to the legislators were appointed, and reports on the bills were then brought forward.

County Tax Collector Welch of Los Angeles reported the proposed legislation to the tax collectors after President A. McSweeney had opened the meeting. Opposition to the $5 poll tax, voted last November, sprung up almost immediately. The tax is to apply for school purposes, and is levied on all males of certain ages not taxed to the extent of $5 on real property.

Expressions were voiced to the effect that it was a poor man's tax, unworkable and afforded much opportunity for graft. Others stated that since it was a school tax the school authorities should collect the tax. A motion was passed expressing neither approval nor disapproval, but advising the legislative committee to act in their best interests when the operative bill came up before the Legislature.

County Auditor Payne of Los Angeles reported on legislation to the Auditors. No differences of opinion arose in this meeting, and many of the bills, mostly of little importance, were swiftly disposed of.

The visiting women were entertained yesterday at a tea at the Friday Morning Club.

Today unfinished business will be followed at 10 a.m. by a tour of inspection of the new Hall of Justice, an automobile ride and visit to the motion-picture studios in the afternoon, to conclude with a theater party at the Egyptian Theater in Hollywood.

Election of officers and selection of the next annual meeting place will be concluded tomorrow morning, to be followed by a trip to Long Beach and the harbor. A banquet as the guests of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce at the Alexandria will terminate the convention tomorrow night.

VALLEY CHAMBERS TO MEET

Two hundred members of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando Valley will gather at Girard tomorrow evening for their regular monthly meeting, as guests of the Girard Chamber of Commerce, according to officials of the Associated Chambers of Commerce. In conjunction with the meeting, which will be in charge of Leo P. Lesperance, president, there will be a banquet and entertainment. These meetings are held regularly as get-together meetings of all valley business men. In addition to several public officials, Harry H. Merrick, president of the Greater Los Angeles Association; W. Paul Whitsett, Commissioner of Public Service, and Victor Girard, will be present and deliver addresses of interest to the valley.

MURDER IN CANYON IS SUSPECTED

Blood-stained clews that may reveal a murder were being investigated yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Hunter, following a report by Mrs. May K. Rindge of Malibu ranch, of a grewsome discovery in Encinal Canyon. A handkerchief blankets and a shovel, all stained with blood, were described by Mrs. Rindge in a report to Capt. Harrod of the Sheriff's office. She expressed the belief that the discoveries had something to do with bootlegging activities.

The spot where the stained articles were found, Mrs. Rindge declared, was near a cove on the coast at which rum smugglers sometimes land their cargoes. She said a stolen automobile was found abandoned there not long ago and on another occasion the remains of a car that had been destroyed by fire were discovered at the same spot.

Deputy Sheriff Hunter headed a party of officers to go to the scene yesterday but was forced to turn back because of the seven miles of mud, caused by the rain of the last few days, between the end of the paved road and Encinal Canyon. Mr. Huner will leave again at 7:30 o'clock this morning to go to the scen eto make a thorough search for the body or a possible grave.

OIL MEN SENTENCE UPHELD

Promoters Convicted in Antelope Valley Scheme Lose Appeal in Federal Court

Martin J. Cullen, R. C. Dennison and T. V. King, convicted in December, 1923, on a charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud, must serve terms in the Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., in accordance with a mandate of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals received yesterday by Charles N. Williams, clerk of the United States District Court. Cullen and Dennison were each sentenced to serve three years in prison, and King to serve two years.

The three were tried on an indictment charging them with making misrepresentations in the promotion of the Great Angeles Oil and Land Syndicate, which owned land in the Antelope Valley. The case was heard before Federal Judge J. Whitaker Thompson in Federal Judge Bledsoe's court. The defendants appealed to the Circuit Court of Appeals and later carried the case to the United States Supreme Court on a writ of review, which was denied.

The sentences were imposed originally to be served at McNeil Island. Federal Judge McCormick yesterday ordered commitment in the prison at Leavenworth because of lack of room at McNeil Island.

A mandate of the Circuit Court of Appeals requires also that Joe B. Turman and E. N. Moore each serve three years at Leavenworth and pay $5000 fines on a similar charge. Turman and Moore appealed to the higher court after their conviction last summer before Federal Judge Bledsoe on a charge of making fraudulent representations in the promotion of the Joe B. Turman Syndicate No. 2. Their operations centered around the sale of oil units in the Santa Fe Springs oil field in 1923.

HIGHWAYS ARE BEING MADE SAFE

Hoover Says States Are Uniting on Measures to Cut Traffic Crashes

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—States and municipalities are moving actively toward establishing laws and customs that will make streets and highways safer, Secretary Hoover declared today in rendering the situation on the basis of the findings of a recent national conference here at which State and local officials sought to agree on uniform measures to reduce traffic deaths and accidents.

In thirty-eight State legislatures since January, Mr. Hoover said, measures have been introduced to better conditions or penalize reckless driving.

"This legislation, if adopted, will increase to twenty-three the number of States which require that all drivers of motor vehicles shall be licensed," he added.

"The national conference was unanimously of the opinion that no unlicensed person should be permitted to operate a motor vehicle."

In several States officials responsible for traffic control have been summoned to local or regional meetings, he continued, for the purpose of co-ordinating their activities, and legislatures and State establishments have moved to get their requirements for motor vehicles into uniformity with those of neighbors.

FEARS FOUL PLAY, URGES EXHUMATION

Bay City Woman Promised Inquiry; Brother's Death Laid to Heart Disease

Requesting that the body of her brother, Oscar H. Anderson, who died here on January 15, last, be exhumed and an autopsy made to determine the cause of the death, Mrs. Claire Ready of San Francisco visited the District Attorney's office yesterday and stated she believed her brother came to his death through foul means and not heart trouble.

Anderson died suddenly in his home and the death certificate filed with Coroner Frank Nance gave heart trouble as the cause, according to Mrs. Ready's statement to the District Attorney.

Chief Deputy District Attorney Fitts heard the statement and announced that an investigation will be made, adding, however, that present evidence does not justify the ordering of an exhumation of the body. Anderson owned several parcels of real estate, including East Fifty-fourth and South Wall-street property from which he was said to receive an income of $640 a month, according to Mrs. Ready, who announced that she will remain in Los Angeles until the District Attorney decides whether the investigation of the death can be reopened.

Chuck Hunter Stages Great Rally to Win

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DEL MONTE, Feb. 23.—Chuck Hunter, youthful Tacoma (Wash.,) golfer, today won the Washington's Birthday tournament at Pebble Beach, when he defeated H. A. Stranahan of Toledo, O., at the twenty-third hole, after a most remarkable comeback, having been 6 down and 8 to go. The record flight went to Louis Chardelli who won from H. W. Brownell, 3 and 2. The former match, in which Hunter was the victor, saw both very fine and very sloppy golf, and two or three times Stranahan missed short putts for wins on the extra hole.

GIRL'S DARE CALLED BY POLICEMAN

"Arrest Me," She Says, and He Does as She Pedals on Bicycle Against Traffic

There was no press agent in sight yesterday when a lone female, mounted on a bicycle, essayed a test of the new Los Angeles traffic ordinance at Seventh and Figueroa streets, but Traffic Officer Young suspects there was one in the background. She crossed against the traffic signal, paying no attention to Young's whistle and verbal remonstrances, went about half a block, turned, came back and started to cross again. This time Young caught her.

She promptly kicked his shin and told him she did not need the aid of a policeman for cycling. "You'll have to go to the station," Young told her. "I dare you to take me," she replied, and with some difficulty Young made good. At the Traffic Bureau she gave Capt. Heath a tongue lashing and was at last booked on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Alan Hale Will Direct New Play for Valentino

Rudolph Valentino has selected Alan Hale, film actor, who recently turned director, to direct "The Hooded Falcon." The story is a romance of fourteenth century Spain.

Hale has been an actor on the stage and screen for fifteen years and has played every type of role. He took part in "Robin Hood," "The Covered Wagon," "Hollywood," and "The Four Horsemen." He recently put aside his grease paint and directed a picture for Fox. Advance reports on this say he showed a fresh viewpoint and vitality.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Medical science is now directing its efforts toward making intoxication easier and less painful, according to reports received here of experiments by two Boston physicians.

Using a device similar to that now being employed here by the New York Edison Company, Drs. F. T. Hunter and S. G. Mudd of the Massachusetts city are said to be able to "bring you right out of it."

Dentists use gas to put you to sleep, but the gas used by the Boston medicos wakes you up immediately, regardless into what stage of alcoholic unconsciousness you have lapsed. Their treatment is said to consist of liberal doses of oxygen and carbon dioxide.

FORSTMANN ★ F.&H. ★ FABRICS

How the Courts Protect the Honest Merchant and the Public

THE FORSTMANN & HUFFMANN COMPANY is the originator and manufacturer of the finest woolen fabrics for women's garments. All of its fabrics are sold under a registered trade name and each yard is stamped with the distinctive Forstmann trade mark. In order to prevent the wilful sale of inferior substitutes for its fine materials, the company has been obliged at times to bring criminal actions against unscrupulous manufacturers and dishonest retail merchants.

In a recent instance of this character, having reference to the wilful misuse of the name of the Forstmann fabric Charmeen, Magistrate Simpson, of the Commercial Frauds Court of New York City, held the defendant for trial in the Court of Special Sessions under bail of $1,000. Speaking from the bench, Magistrate Simpson expressed tersely the attitude of the Court toward this type of fraud, when he said:

> "This is another one of the cases before this Court where, in order to make sales, dishonest individuals are trying to profit by the use of the meritorious names of those who have through years of effort placed upon the market an article of merit.
>
> "It is a fraud upon the public—the height of deception. The most reprehensible thing that can be done in the matter of conducting business is to sell the reputation of an individual by false representation."

The registered Forstmann Fabrics for Spring 1925 include:

Protect your gums and save your teeth

Just as a ship needs the closest attention under the water-line, so do your teeth under the gum-line. If the gums shrink, serious dangers result.

The teeth are loosened. They are exposed to tooth-base decay. The gums themselves become tender and bleed easily. They form sacs which become the doorways of organic disease for the whole system. They often disfigure the mouth as they recede.

If used in time and used consistently, Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea or check its progress. Forhan's is safe, efficient and pleasant-tasting. It preserves gum health, corrects tender gum spots, hardens gum tissues so they will offer proper support to the teeth, and keeps your mouth fresh and healthy.

Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

The third hour representing jazz had for its exponents Charlie Wellman, Prince of Jazz; Hatch Graham, Uncle Remus, Jerry Cope and Bill Hatch, pianist, whose talents as a composer, if permitted to bloom, will some day blossom into a flower of Victor Herbert's variety. Austrian Pupils' Exhibit May be Seen in Evening

In order that school children may have a greater opportunity to view the exhibit of Vienna school children's art now on display in the Los Angeles Museum, Exposition Park, the Museum will be open tonight from 8 and 10 o'clock.

The exhibit has been here about three weeks and will leave tomorrow. It consists of drawings and models made by children in the Austrian schools and has attracted widespread attention here. William A. Bryan, director, said 8037 persons visited the museum yesterday afternoon between 2 and 5 o'clock.

The museum regularly is open from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. The exhibition is free.

SCOUTS ASKED TO AID HUMANE OFFICALS

The Humane Animal Commission yesterday appealed to the Boy Scouts for aid in protecting animals in the city. Its eighteen inspectors are so busy with license duties, it was said, that they can pay little attention to enforcing the laws against cruelty. The Scouts are asked to make a survey of their home neighborhoods as to treatment of dogs, cats and other animals and to ask owners, where cruelty or lack of nourishment is found, to remedy the conditions. The resolution was forwarded to Scout Executive E. B. DeGroot, who sent out copies to all the councils in the city urging co-operation.

ROTARIANS TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Clubs of Southland Will Get Special Train to Fresno Meeting

Rotarians of Los Angeles are planning to take a special train to the district conference meeting of the second district at Fresno, March 19, 20 and 21, according to announcement of Harry S. Mason, district governor.

Members of Rotary clubs in surrounding cities will join the Los Angeles Rotarians here on their special train and it is expected that two sections will be necessary to handle them, in addition to the numbers who go by automobile.

Mr. Mason is advised that Fresno is arranging to care for 3000 Rotarians at the meeting, which will be held in the Municipal Auditorium. Many of the clubs will register 100 per cent of their members. San Jose was the first club to ask reservations for all its members, 105 in number. Santa Monica has also registered 100 per cent.

The district consists of California, Nevada and the Hawaiian Islands.

A successor to District Governor Mason will be elected at the meeting. He will take office at the international Rotary convention in Cleveland in July.

Man Places His Head on Track; Body Identified

A man kneeled down beside the track on which a string of freight cars were standing yesterday in the Southern Pacific yards north of the North Broadway bridge.

His actions aroused the interest of a yardman, who suspected that the man intended to end his life. The freight cars did not move and the man arose. The yardman returned to his work.

In a few minutes the man was seen to kneel down beside a string of cars on another track. The yardman knew that this string would move in a few seconds and tried to reach the man.

Police were called and took charge of the man's body. The suicide was identified by an uncle, Orste Merlo of Glendale, as John Sisignoli, 31 years of age, of 306 Le Roy street. No motive was learned by police. The body was taken to the Los Angeles Undertaking Company.

GOES BACK TO PRISON

Terrence Beltrane pleaded guilty before Federal Judge McCormick yesterday to a charge of selling narcotics in violation of the Harrison law. He was sentenced to serve two and a half years in Leavenworth prison. Beltrane said he had spent sixteen years in prison.

LIQUOR TAKEN IN RAID

Raiding a house at 2018 North Vine street early Sunday morning, members of the Hollywood vice squad, under Sergt. Gruey, arrested a man giving his name as O. Lambert, 37 years of age, on a charge of violating the Wright Act. A quantity of liquor, said to belong to Lambert, was confiscated by the officers. Lambert was later released on bail.

PLACE AND SHOW

Anyhow, the folks around the Ambassador were willing to give the horse a show. And it was a mighty good show, at that.

NOT IN SILENCE

The man in the derby hat says that women may suffer, but they are not doing it in silence. Where do they get the idea that women are always clamorous?

SWEDISH MOVEMENT

Sweden has been having the warmest winter the country has known for eighty years. Some of the natives are going around in perspiration instead of chilblains.

WET GROUNDS

A New Jersey man has been boasting of his capacity. He is drinking fifteen cups of coffee every day of his life. Now we know on what grounds Gov. Edwards based his claim that New Jersey could be made as wet as the ocean.

HIGH COST OF COLOR

A girl's reason for eloping with a house-painter the other day was that her parents wouldn't give her any money for cosmetics and the house-painter promised to make her up every morning before he went to work. Next!

THE WRECKING CREW

The paving men may think they are putting in a substantial and permanent job, but the wrecking crews of the utility companies only grin in derision as they sink their tools of demolition in the shining bosom of the highway. Nothing is sacred to the chap who seeks to make connection with a main.

MUCH AT STEAK

Reports from the range and the stockyards hold out the possibility of an acute shortage in the dearly cherished T-bone steak. Would the apostles of gloom intimate that the Texas steers are all running to hind legs? The men of the range would be foolish to raise a brand of heifers that were shy on their T-bones.

PISTOLS IN PRISON

During recent rioting at San Quentin the officials made a serious effort to gather up all the war material that had been accumulated by the prisoners. It is said that they discovered enough pistols and other artillery to give a replica of the battle of Gettysburg. How the inmates are able to arm themselves with revolvers doth not readily appear, but they certainly get a fair supply from some source. It is a wonder that the authorities are able to maintain the discipline they do.

COTTON IN AFRICA

It is said that when the British complete the Makwar dam of the Nile in the Sudan country it will develop nearly 3,000,000 acres of as fine a cotton-growing territory as can be found in the world. The Britons are in urgent quest of oil, rubber and cotton lands, because these are staples that make for permanent progress. It is upon these commodities that the empire is based. If the English could get all the cotton they needed from their own dominions they would be in luck.

SWEETS AND YOUTH

One of the greatest of dietary experts has spoiled his reputation with the rising generation by the emphatic assertion that school children should never be permitted to eat pies, cake, puddings, candy or other sweets. To his thinking it is a crime to establish confectionery shops in school districts. They might be permitted to dole out fruits and vegetables, but nothing else. Pastries should be positively forbidden. They provide no exercise for the jaws and teeth and merely pamper the appetite. It is all right for a child to take as much as three ounces of butter in a day. It will both fatten and strengthen where the sweets will do positive harm. This authority can hardly expect any delegation of youngsters to wax enthusiastic over his program.

FACTS AND ART

It has often been shown that a work of art may be impossible in fact and yet be a work of genius. Bacon ridiculed "Midsummer Night's Dream" because the scenes were laid in Athens, and yet such characters as Bottom were plainly English. But the genius of Shakespeare transcended all the facts of Bacon. There never was a painter who could portray anything with the accuracy of a photographer—but the world's great artists are painters, not photographers. If an artist is great enough to make us overlook his deflections from fact and utterly lose ourselves in his illusion he therein shows himself far greater than any realist who shows us an uninspired creation with photographic accuracy.

It is pleasant to be reminded now and then that ideas are the things which live and keep the world alive. Facts are dull things at best, and often today's facts are tomorrow's dishonored fallacies. Facts are all right in business—in which they are not used nearly as much as they should be—but in art, thank heaven, imagination still reigns, in spite of all the realists.

WHERE DO WE STOP?

Is democracy an unmixed blessing? Present controversies in Washington, in the liberty of speech allowed and the variety of silly notions expressed, recall the whims of Nero and his harp when Rome was ablaze. Congressional jokes on the hearing of an ode dedicated to President Coolidge's form of exercise, cracks at his economy in White House oats, oars for the Mayflower and boyish playful allusions to Presidential Pullman fares mingle with criticisms on the Army, Navy and airplane forces. Stubborn challenges at battleship graft contracts are flung across the aisles of the nation's councilroom from prospective airship builders, whose simon-pure patriotism is presupposedly impeccable.

Voters elected members to the House and the Senate to represent their serious interests in a serious manner. Serious business of the nation is to be taken seriously. For that reason the nation indulges in two parties to give serious discussion fair play with an eye to arriving at the best conclusions.

And here we have a picture of one part of Congress swapping stories regarding President Coolidge's use of a gymnasium horse for his daily exercise; Congressmen using the nation's time to amuse themselves at the expense of the President; and the other part engaging in a personal fight over adoption of the safest means to protect the nation in time of war. The first is a deplorable departure from Congressional dignity, the second an ominous demonstration of serving personal interests rather than national welfare. Assuming that battleship protection is antiquated and air forces the best coming defense, personal attacks and retorts shoot past the bull's eye. The nation does not ask if Mitchell is right or if Wilbur and Weeks are right. It looks for protection defense and strength.

A critical moment for democracy arrives when national issues are overshadowed by personal strife for place among legislators. Strife for personal advantage among the guardians of the people's interests scuttles the ship of government. The audience forgets the issue in the eagerness to find out who got the last advantage, Wilbur, Weeks or Mitchell or for whomsoever they are rooting.

Popularity of the contestants diverts the attention of the people from the main issue. Victory of the winners turns their heads into a conviction of personal infallibility. Popular acclamation means nothing but sentiment, and government run on sentiment runs amuck. In European countries, where constitutions do not fix a time limit for legislatures, governments rise and fall according to the number of encores granted by the audiences which are appealed to in terms of votes of confidence. The result in many cases is chaos until a leader, strong enough to gather up the reins of a run-away team places himself on the box and acts as dictator.

Democracy loses its flavor so soon as a people vacillates in its bestowal of favor for sentimental prejudices and swerves from a policy of government by reason. Once the management of the government has been placed in the hands of trusted administrators, if the deposit of trust becomes a target of ridicule for critics, to provide popular amusement or touch personal feelings, democracy becomes a clearinghouse of trivialities.

The critic who arrogantly condemns Mr. Coolidge's decision, no matter what form it takes, usurps a position of knowledge and sources of information which he does not possess. If the government decides against Gen. Mitchell's advice on air forces it may be presumed that this government is in the possession of defensive and protective measures which are superior to air forces, a disclosure of which would be unwise in the heat of the animated controversy raging at this time.

The Times has full confidence in the judgment of President Coolidge and his capability to maintain the level of safe democratic government.

THE KICKLESS KISS

Now a Wisconsin professor tells the world that the kiss is losing its kick. It is wonderful how the professors are discovering things these days. It is no use to blame this thing on prohibition—although that may be a Wisconsin conclusion.

There is said to be a combination of reasons for the loss of the tang in love's salute. Wet paint is cited for one thing. When a girl's lips are blanketed with a thick coating of rouge the reactions of the male are not what they might be. He is undecided whether to take a fresh hold on the lady or make a break for the soap dish. Some of the pink paints they are passing out at the pharmacies are far from pleasant to the alien taste. It takes weeks of practice before a man can appreciate the flavor.

When a girl offers a pair of lips that are colored as highly as a raspberry tart, but taste like a brake band, the young man is perplexed. He doesn't know whether to scream for more or go down to the parish house and take the pledge.

Professors, in disclosing the slump in the quality of the kiss, have drawn attention to a serious obstacle to feminine supremacy. If kisses lose their kick there will be no demand for them. Some girls might have to go into bankruptcy, for the kiss is the heavy end of their assets. It is conceded that no man really likes a kiss that is permeated with turpentine and loaded with red paint. Were girls required to put up signs of warning against fresh paint—the same as is sometimes found on a park bench—it might help a little. The men would at least have sense enough to leave such alone.

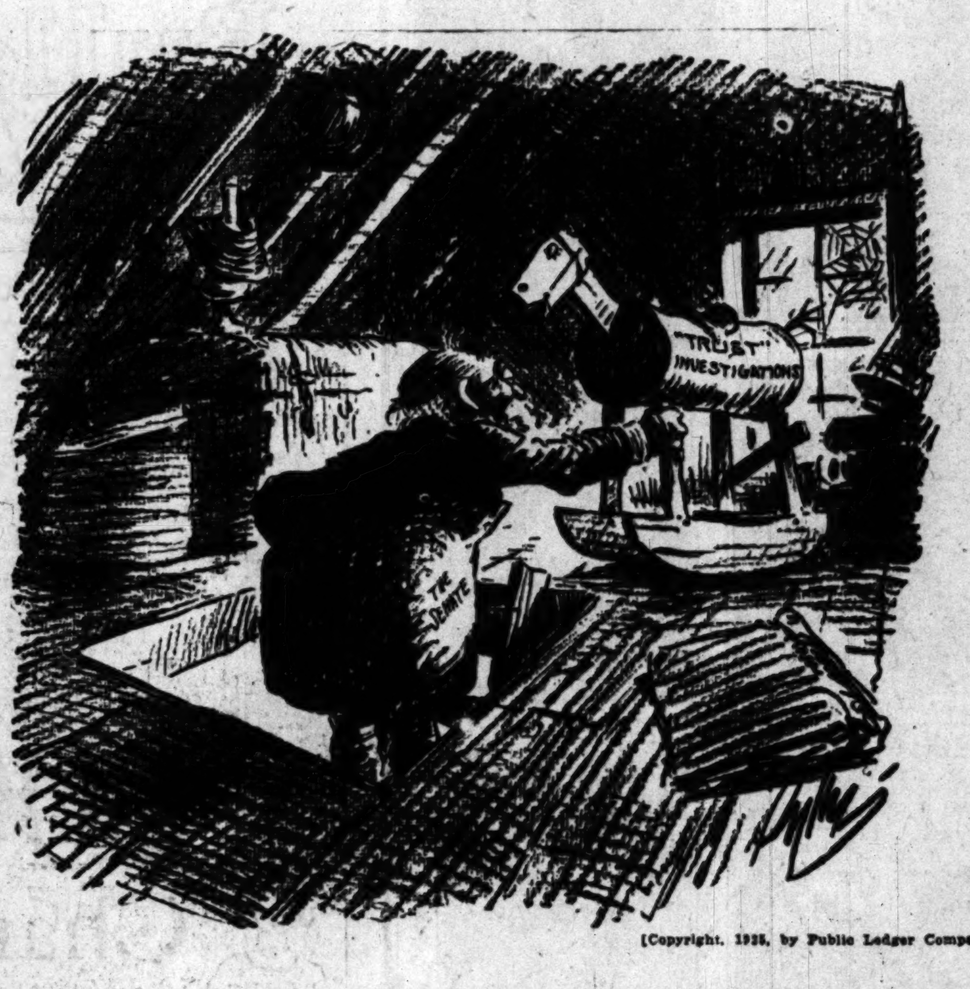
NATURE'S STEAM POWER

What they have been doing of late up in Sonoma county by way of tapping the great steam boiler of the earth would interest Edison, who has been canvassing the various sources of power that may be utilized when the coal and oil supplies give out, if ever they do. Edison says the development of water power is slow because coal is so cheap. But coal is not cheap in California and there has been just a little apprehension as to how long the oil will last. It may hold out for 200 years or more, but meantime it is just as well to look about for other sources of power.

One of these sources is the vast supply of steam constantly generated under the surface of the earth. Its outcroppings are the hot springs found in various parts of the country, and particularly in California, both north and south. They indicate an enormous power that has been going to waste for millions of years, enough, it is estimated, to run the machinery of every big industrial plant in the world.

Practical demonstrations of the utility of this power have been made by a Healdsburg engineer, who has drilled two wells, to each of which are harnessed engines that are in perfect operation. The first successful well was sunk 203 feet when the pressure became so great that the drill would do down no further. A twenty-horse-power engine attached to the pipe from this well ran the machinery that drilled the second, with 1000 horse power to spare. It was said to be the first engine on the American continent to be run by steam issuing from the earth.

Resurrected



[Copyright, 1925, by Public Ledger Company.]

The engineer spent his last dollar in drilling the two wells, but a big power concern has come to his aid and will drill others in the same district. When one of these steam wells "comes in" it is with a terrific roar and rush, but it soon settles down to business. The first attempt to tap the underground boiler resulted in an explosion that shook the mountainsides and sent hundreds of rocks hurtling high into the air. The pipe was shattered and mud was scattered all over the valley.

If they do not blow up the planet these steam-well drillers may develop and control an enormous power that will prove of great industrial value, although there is the possible contingency of its complete subsidence. Scientists say this will take a long time. It may last 500 years.

What can be done in one part of California can be done in another. Perhaps some future generation will not be dependent upon any other source of power than that provided by the great steam boiler of the earth.

SWORDS OF GIDEON

From Connecticut will proceed a veritable sword of Gideon for smiting all violators of the Eighteenth Amendment if the voters of the Nutmeg State ratify a proposed addition to its prohibition enforcement statute.

Connecticut judges and members of the bar have taken for their motto "Let no guilty man escape." Their proposal to end once and for all the drinking evil in the State of Connecticut hits at last at the main source of all the trouble in enforcing the will of the nation completely and effectively.

Briefly, the new order would make the man who drinks unlawful liquor equally guilty with the man who peddles it. The buyer of bootleg would be subject to the same penalties as the seller of the stuff. And that penalty will be drastic enough to tame wild cats, let alone booze hounds.

Under the proposed Connecticut law a five-year sentence or a $5000 fine, or both, may be imposed for violation of the State prohibition ordinance. The fear of a possible five-year term in the penitentiary dangled before the lips that touch unlawful liquor will do more to end the traffic in dangerous drinks than a whole fleet of gunboats running down booze smugglers or regiments of soldiers patrolling the Canadian and Mexican borders.

The Montana House of Representatives is smiting at the drug evil with the same sharp-edged sword. They have recommended for passage a bill to make the selling of narcotic drugs to minors an offense punishable with a life term in the penitentiary. Our law enforcers have dallied too long with these twin evils. The time has come for a more determined attack on the hosts of Midian. Connecticut and Montana have pointed the way.

WAR AND WOMEN

Cadetettes of a local high school recently formed a branch of the Officers' Training Corps. Which leads us to inquire, will women fight in the next war? Women have taken over almost all of the occupations of men from running elevators to handling cases in court. Is this new citizenship planning to bear arms also? Is man losing his masculinity?

If the next war be in the air women will make as good soldiers as men. War in these highly civilized ages is fought at a distance; the soldier seldom sees his enemy. It does not hurt our highly refined feelings to slaughter men whom we do not see. Here a bullet from the rifle of a maiden will do as much execution as from a man. It is a war of machines. Bayonets on guns are coming to be about as passe as an appendix in a man.

Once romance was wrapped up in thirty yards of taffeta and lace; eyes peeped out but shyly from beneath large diameters of hat. Now it takes a plain-clothes man to detect the sexes. They work together; they bob their heads together; they speed together; they swallow their canes together; some of them smoke together; and now it appears they may fight together.

Once she was a dainty, fluttery flower in flounces—a wild rose, a lily of the valley, a violet. Then you had to touch her arm to guide her among the trees and shrubbery and lift her over the stile. Now she steps on the gas and you dodge for insurance.

In those days you doffed your hat in the elevator and give up your seat in the street car with a bow that cleansed the floor. Now you pull your hat down over your eyes and duck your head into a dry editorial to conceal your personality.

It may be more wholesome now—it may be—but the mystery of her was more piquant and fascinating then. Once you transmitted your love by delicate indirections. Now you "treat 'em rough;" carry them off to the mountains and "live scrappily ever after." And, strange to say, they seem to like it.

AT THE HARBOR

They are making and breaking records at the harbor with every sunset. The other day a Standard Oil tanker steamed away with a cargo of 142,000 barrels of gasoline and oil. At the same time, a former government collier nosed its way behind the breakwater with a cargo of 3,000,000 feet of lumber on board. Likewise, a steamer from the Orient eased gently into port with a mixed cargo which included 10,000 barrels of molasses from Honolulu. This is the most glorious allotment of liquid sweetness that the harbor has known at one time. There was enough syrup to keep 4000 fly-swatters busy for ninety years—or something like that. Anyhow, it was a big day at the harbor.

Just About It
By James J. Montague

KEEPING UP IN ARCADY

In Arcady, I've lately heard,
  The Nymphs, and Satyrs, too,
Who used to skip and hop and trip
  The leafy woodland through,
Sit silent 'neath the spreading trees
  Repining at their Fate
And will not stir, for they aver
  That Pan is out of date.

The tunes that once through Arcady,
  From Pan's sweet pipes arose,
Whenever heard like magic stirred
  A swarm of twinkling toes,
And e'en the Gods, who listened in
  From mountains far away,
Trooped in across the velvet moss,
  To dance the night away.

But now the wood-folk all declare
  (I have this very straight)
The great god Pan, like mortal man,
  Should learn to syncopate.
The tunes he long has played to them
  Have not got punch enough.
They cannot step with any pep
  To that old, worn-out stuff.

Alas! poor Pan can only play
  The reed-wrought pipe he has!
He does not own a saxophone,
  He hates the name of jazz.
Yet soon, we know, through Arcady
  Will music thrill and throb,
And feet will fly, for by and by Great Pan will lose his job!

HERE AND THERE

When cruel winds of winter scourge
  Far eastern skies with bitter lash,
Here through the glow of golden days
  Swift-winged birds of summer flash.
While there the fruitful earth lies cold
  Beneath the chill of banking snow,
Here 'neath the kiss of kindlier sun
  A myriad bright-eyed blossoms blow.

They sing of fragrant orange groves,
  Pomegranate, olive, rose and vine,
Of meadows where in friendly tryst
  Stand southern palm and northern pine.
They sing of desert's sleeping waste,
  Awakened by the kiss of toil,
Where homes and blossoming orchards rise
  Like magic from the fruitful soil.

  Of waves that wash o'er golden sands.
Of mighty ships that swiftly bear
  Our treasures to less favored lands.
They sing of friendly hands outstretched
  To rich and poor where ere they be,
Come, share the joys wealth may not buy.
  God's vineyard's by the sunset sea.

LETTERS TO The Times

The Sins of the Nation

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In your issue of the 18th appears an editorial headed "Politicians and the War" which certainly deserves commendation.

In our lifetime there has been no more nimble-witted a politician than Lloyd George, and at Versailles, had he stood with America, the English-speaking races might have secured an honorable peace and been placed in position to maintain the peace of the world.

However, the sharp little Welshman, as were the other European statesmen, was there for one especial purpose, i.e., to secure the largest possible share of the plunder. Wilson had only his idealism and, being impractical, was entirely outclassed.

Since the armistice many well-qualified authorities have agreed that Germany was not alone responsible for the war.

Personally, I have always held the opinion that Germany was forced to action. Why? France and Russia had always been close allies; and the Kaiser, knowing that the objective was Germany, sought to offset the danger. He, therefore, negotiated a secret treaty with the late Czar for offense and defense. The wording of this treaty may be found in the appendix to Dr. Dillon's book, "The Eclipse of Russia." Now, when Russia mobilized, and she was the first to do so, and it was done on the German border, what more natural than for the Kaiser to jump to the conclusion that France had outwitted him and Russia double-crossed him? Well he knew that France had been preparing for revenge ever since '70. What, therefore, could he do but strike first?

I do not agree with you that the war was ended in the trenches. Was it not rather ended by certain conditions offered by the late President Wilson, based on which Germany entered into the armistice in good faith?

But just as the Inca was deceived by Pizarro, so was Germany dealt with at Paris.

Toll the Bell

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] How many decades will pass before this republic, doubtless the greatest that the world has known, will come tumbling about our heads? Its greatest menace has recurred to my mind in observing a small dancing party this evening, with the awful truck that they use for "music." And it is not a family or neighborhood matter, for just such unspeakable rot has come to my ears nightly from no less aristocratic places than the Biltmore and Ambassador of Los Angeles, and the Saint Francis of that sainted vicinity; which has been the reach of my little set. I realize that the fruit will be degeneration of institutions that depend on character in the populace for their perpetuation.

At that, I would be a dancer myself if there were any real, artistic dancing being done socially, but I have not seen dancing, apart from stage presentations, in twenty years.

When Busses Backfire

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 17.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The war is not over, at least not along the "right of way" of the Los Angeles Motor Bus Company's line of travel.

The patrons and the residents are being "shell shocked" from early morning until late at night by the backfiring of these motor busses.

The other day while returning from downtown on one of the busses the concussion from one of these shocks nearly threw a baby from its mother's lap.

The unnecessary noises made by nonessential citizens are difficult to eliminate, but the backfiring of the motor busses is one that can be remedied.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] There seems to be a suspicious quietness regarding the oil investigations and the indictments against those old pals, Doheny, Fall and Sinclair. Is the soporific power of millions of dollars having its effect? It looks like that investigation which went in like a lion is going out like a lamb, and within another year Doheny and Sinclair will be regarded as staunch conservers of the government's fuel reserve, and even poor old Fall will be essaying to again become a power in New Mexico politics.

With many the malodorous operations of these men may be eclipsed by the latest movie scandals, but there are a few who are still watching.

From a Non-Christian

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Concerning the teaching of the Bible in the schools, one fears that this everlasting suggesting of it will eventually lead the lawmakers to commit another error against our much-maligned Constitution. We are promised religious freedom and how can we have that if one of the many, many religions is to be taught in the public schools? How can we, who do not adhere to the present teaching of Christianity, defend our children from it?

Religion is a personal issue absolutely up to the home and the particular church one chooses. Parents are too prone these days to think of new tasks for the school. If Sunday teaching is not sufficient, there is no ban on teaching one's children the Bible during the week. But please keep it out of the schools. You tolerant Christians! Please remember those who are not Christians and do not wish to become so.

ROUND UP TEN IN CRIME WAR

Police Identify Youth as Member of Gang

Four Others Accused of Many Robberies

Prisoners to be Lined Up Before Victims

In the wake of the week-end outburst of crime, Detective Lieutenants Curtis, Robinson, Mayer and Evans of the police robbery squad yesterday rounded up nineteen men on suspicion of connection with numerous hold-ups and burglaries.

One of the suspects who gave the name of Francis Evans, 19 years of age, is declared by the officers to be the remaining member of a gang of three men and one woman who are asserted to have committed numerous bold robberies while operating in a rented car. The other suspected members of the gang, Robert Lee Cranshaw, John Moore and Lila Tripp were arrested Saturday by Police Officers Seagraves, Hudson and Fifield of Lincoln Heights division, as a result of information obtained from an auto rental company at Tenth and Hill streets, and are held in the City Jail on suspicion of robbery.

Summoned to a house at 473 Witmer street, where Harold Hopkins had been held up and robbed of $20 and a watch, the detectives arrested F. Chadick, L. T. Spencer, Robert Flannigan, Jack Brody and A. McCaullah. The quintet, according to the detectives, were identified by Hopkins as the men who robbed him. They are being held in the City Jail on a charge of suspicion of robbery while an investigation into their recent activities is under way.

PRIZE FIGHTER HELD

Micky O'Donnell, 24, a prize fighter, was arrested by Detective Lieutenants Cullen and Post yesterday at Fifth and Main streets on a charge of suspicion of robbery. O'Donnell is suspected of being one of six men who kidnaped Ed Myers, 504 Wall street, from Fifth and Main street Saturday night and carried him five miles to an apartment where they bound, gagged and robbed him.

Jack La Tour, 30, a cook, of 217½ West First street, was arrested on suspicion of burglarizing the home of Edward Coyle, 251 North Grand avenue. The suspect was taken into custody at his room and is held in jail.

Two men who were seated in a machine a short distance from the Harpootlian Brothers Rug Shop, 1516 West Seventh street, shortly after the shop had been broken into early yesterday, were arrested by Officer Dismong. The suspects, who gave the names of David Shannon and Leland Davies, both 21, were booked inthe City Jail on suspicion of burglary. The man who broke into the shop escaped, Officer Dismong reported. Cursory examination of contents of the shop showed that the burglar apparently had been frightened away before he took anything.

MANY ROBBERIES

With the arrest of Evans as a member of the bandit gang, the detectives asserted yesterday that they have definitely connected the quartet with the following robberies: Herbert Richardson, 1223 West Tenth street, at Eighth and Garland streets on the 20th inst.; Standard Oil Station at 1501 West Sixth street on the 21st inst.; William Nance, 1200 South Westlake avenue, at Westlake avenue and Pico street on the 18th inst.; J. Stevens, 942 Valencia street, at Eighth and Golden streets, on the 17th inst.; Jack Cahlow, 1426 West Ninth street, at Eleventh and Valencia streets on the 18th inst; C. C. Newman, 1640 Shatto street, at Shatto and Burlington avenue on the 18th inst.; J. L. Welch, 112 Isabel street, Glendale, at Avenue 21 and Barranca street on the 16th inst.; H. A. Tyler, 2125 Vallejo street, at Vallejo and Daly streets, on the 19th inst.

The seven suspects, and others arrested within the past week, will be lined up in the detective bureau at Central Station today between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m. for possible identification by victims in robberies. All persons who have been held up recently are asked to be at the bureau today to assist the police in clearing up numerous robberies.

WOMAN SUES JOINT TENANT

Asks W. B. Billingsley be Forced to Give Her Title in Action Charging Irregularities

Differences between Elizabeth M. Schemalleck and W. P. Billingsley over valuable property in Hyde Park have been taken into Superior Court in the form of a suit by Mrs. Schemalleck asking that the property be declared held in trust for her by Billingsley and that he be compelled to convey her title.

In her complaint Mrs. Schemalleck charged that Billingsley agreed to act as her agent in assisting her in investing her money in property near Los Angeles. In order to induce her to permit him to make such investments, the complaint recited, Billingsley represented to her that he was familiar with property values and that if she would permit him to use her money he would sell property owned by him and contribute an equal amount to that made by her and they would take title in the property to be purchased as joint tenants and share in the profits to be made.

Accordingly, the complaint continued, the plaintiff placed her money in a joint bank account so Billingsley could draw against it to make the investments. Billingsley was said to have made three purchases in Hyde Park, making cash payments, according to the plaintiff, exclusively with the money of Mrs. Schemalleck and taking the property with her as joint tenant.

She declared Billingsley withdrew $3900 of her money from the bank to make the payments and that he failed to pay any part of the purchase price himself.

Billingsley filed an answer to the suit, in which he asserted it was agreed that he was to have until the maturity of mortgages on the property involved to dispose of his property and put up his share of the purchase price. He asserted he was acting in good faith and had offered his property for sale. Billingsley also filed a counterclaim, asking $301 of the plaintiff for board and room he declared he and his wife furnished her and $90 for services. The case has been set for trial November 25.

WHEELER ASSISTS IN CONVICTING TWO MEN

Lucien Wheeler, agent in charge of the bureau of investigation, Department of Justice, returned to Los Angeles yesterday after an absence of eight weeks. He was called to New York to assist in the prosecution of Gaston B. Means and Col. Feldher, who were convicted on a charge of bribery. Wheeler assisted in the investigation that led to the indictment of the two defendants. Means formerly was an agent of the Department of Justice.

CHILD RUN DOWN

Driver Admits Having No Lights on Car, Police Say

Grace Friedroff, 9 years of age, of 1141 Rieker street, Belvedere Gardens, was in a critical condition at the General Hospital last night as the result of an automobile accident. She has a possible skull fracture, broken arm and broken leg. According to Deputy Sheriff Hackett, she was struck while crossing the street in front of her home Sunday night, by a car driven by Rupert Ballard of Belvedere Gardens. Ballard was interrogated by the officer, and is said to have admitted he had no lights on his car.

SONGBIRD OF JAPAN HERE FOR OPERA

Dainty, petite and arrayed in gorgeously colored raiment reminiscent of her native land, Mme. Tamaki Miura, Japanese prima donna, looked much like the butterfly she portrays in her principal role in the stage when she arrived at the Biltmore yesterday.

Mme. Miura will appear in two performances at the Philharmonic Auditorium here. She expressed pleasure at being once more in Los Angeles, recalling repeatedly during her conversation "the nice things everybody had said about her here."

The Japanese songbird is a very diminutive person, not more than an inch or two over four feet in height. She speaks English with a pronounced Japanese accent and, owing to some difficulty in finding exactly the right words, her utterances are marked with a quaintness that is irresistible.

"I just loved President Harding," she said. "I met him when I sang in Washington. He was a big, fine-looking man and he said a lot of nice things to me about my singing. In Europe I sang before the Queen of Spain, who gave me a beautiful jeweled pin."

Madame sings in Japanese, Italian, French and German as well as English. "I appeared in my first concert in Tokio when I was 4 years of age," she said. "Singing came natural to me. I studied awhile at the Imperial Academy of Music at Tokio and then I went to Germany to continue my studies. Then the war broke out and I had to leave the country, being unable to take even my baggage with me."

DENIES MAIL FRAUD

Man Accused by Woman Enters Plea; Trial Date Not Set

Richard E. Nordstrom, indicted last week on a charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud, pleaded not guilty yesterday before Federal Judge McCormick. The date of his trial will be set next Monday.

Nordstrom was arrested on complaint of Mrs. M. Andrews of Salt Lake City. It is alleged Nordstrom wrote a letter to Mrs. Andrews demanding the payment of $2500 on the threat that otherwise he would expose the fact that she had visited with him in a San Francisco hotel. Mrs. Andrews said she met Nordstrom on a train en route from Los Angeles to San Francisco and that she had not seen him since that time.

Man Used Gun, Wife Her Teeth; Judge Necessary

Details of altercations that disrupted the domestic life of Lee F. Cowan and Mildred Cowan were poured into Judge Gates's ears when the two met before him in a contest over the custody of their 2-year-old daughter Helen. Mrs. Cowan bit and Cowan wielded a gun on one occasion, it was testified. She has sued for divorce, charging cruelty.

The asserted biting and gunplay were features of a disagreement over who should have the baby daughter, the pair agreed. Cowan had the child and Mrs. Cowan wanted her. She and a man named Lee West, according to testimony, attempted to take the child from Cowan.

"And where did you bite him?" she was asked.

"On the hand," she replied.

One issue between them was on the matter of bobbed hair, Mrs. Cowan said.

"He didn't want me to bob my hair, but I did it, and he started a scrap over it," she related.

Judge Gates awarded the mother custody of the child pending an investigation of both parents by county juvenile officers.

TOT'S SKULL FRACTURED

Jack Semonian, 2 years of age, suffered a skull fracture and other injuries yesterday when he ran off the curb near his home at 503 South Gless street and was struck by a motor truck. He was taken to Receiving Hospital. The truck was driven, police said, by E. Moreno of Belvedere Park. Moreno was not held by the police.

Schertzinger to Face Balm Suit in Fall

With the disposal of preliminary matters in the case, the suit for $250,000 damages for asserted alienation of affections brought by Schertzinger, composer and motion-picture director, has been set for trial September 17 in Judge Walton J. Wood's court.

In his complaint, Beers charged Schertzinger maliciously enticed Mrs. Mary O. Beers, wife of the plaintiff, away from Beers last fall. He declared he and his wife, who were married August 3, 1918, were living happily together prior to the time Schertzinger was asserted to have caused her to separate from her husband.

Schertzinger filed an answer to the suit, making a complete denial of the charges and also denying that Beers and his wife were living happily together before Schertzinger was asserted to have enticed her away from Beers.

ANTINARCOTIC PACT SIGNED BY GERMANY

GENEVA, Feb. 23.—The German delegate to the second opium conference today signed the antinarcotic convention on behalf of his government with certain reservations. At the session of the international opium conference on the 16th inst., Germany created a sensation by announcing that unless she was assured a place on the central board, she would not sign the convention except with reservations.

POLICE OPEN SUBSTATION

Newton-Street Branch, First of Eleven Planned; Is Model of Law Enforcement Efficiency

With Capt. L. L. McClary, formerly of Hollywood division, in charge, the new Newton-street police substation was thrown open for duty yesterday. It is the first of eleven to be stationed throughout the city by virtue of the $1,800,000 bond issue authorized at the last election, and is by far the most modern of any similar structure in the city, if not the State.

Huge bouquets of flowers for Chief of Police Heath and the executive officers of the new division, greeted Capt. McClary and his aides as they formally began their duties yesterday. The station is at 1352-1354 East Newton street, just off Central avenue between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets.

The station is headquarters for a district embracing about seven square miles, bounded on the north by Sixth street, south by Slauson, west by San Pedro and South Park and east by the Los Angeles River. The territory is clipped from portions of what was formerly Central and University divisions.

Lieuts. Lloyd Hollowell and E. H. Wallace are Capt. McClary's aides. Assistant Detective Captain Bert Massey will be second in command, in charge of the detective organization, and L. H. Bailey has been assigned as jailer and mechanic. A total of fifty-five officers complete the personnel of the new division.

A well-lighted and well-ventilated cell room, containing five cells designed for male and two for female occupancy; an electric refrigerating system, commodious assembly room, hot and cold showers for prisoners, a twenty-five-yard target range, conference rooms and a unique garage arrangement are but some of the numerous noticeable features of the new structure.

"ISH NISH PLACE" SAYS FIRST TENANT

The new Newton-street police station at Newton street and Central avenue did absolutely no business until late in the afternoon. Then Patrolman Scott hauled in C. W. Thomas, whom he had arrested at Ninth street and Stanford avenue on a drunk charge.

The prisoner was informed that he had the honor of being the first to be brought into the new station and replied, according to the officers:

Inheritance Tax Abolition Urged in Arizona Bill

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Feb. 23.—The House was at recess today and the Senate was in session only a few minutes. Left on the latter's desk was a new bill that may have effect on the Federal ruling that reservation Indians are citizens and electors. The Senate measure provides that residence on any Indian reservation by any citizen who shall be a ward of the United States shall not be deemed a resident within the State for the purpose of voting. Strong support is being given Senator Smith's bill for the abolition of all inheritance taxes. It is urged that this measure would bring capital and ordinary taxes to Arizona from California and from many Eastern States.

Guggenheim's Nephew Drops Dead in Sprint

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

EXETER (N. H.) Feb. 23.—Daniel Guggenheim of Philadelphia, student at Phillips-Exeter Academy, died suddenly as he was about to participate in an academy track meet today. He was a son of Mrs. M. E. Snellenburg and a nephew of Simon Guggenheim, wealthy philanthropist.

Young Guggenheim was to have been a participant in a forty-yard dash and was warming up for the sprint when he was seen to pitch forward. Schoolmates carried him into the gymnasium and the academy physician was called, but he died half an hour later. Death was attributed to a weak heart. It is expected that the body will be taken to Philadelphia for burial.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Among the most delightful affairs of the week was the luncheon with which Miss Mary Gray, Miss Dorothy Gray and Miss Margaret Gray entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Waldo Gray in Berkeley Square, the occasion also serving to announce the engagement of Miss Dorothy Gray to Thaddeus Libby Up de Graff, and of Miss Margaret Gray to Dr. Francis Browne. The news was told by tiny silver hearts attached to the corsage bouquets of violets and pink roses which, surrounded by sprays of maidenhair fern frons, formed the centerpiece of the luncheon tables. Mr. Up de Graff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Up de Graff of Pasadena, while Dr. Browne is the son of Mrs. Julia Browne of West Sixteenth street. Both are members of The Bachelors, and the Mardi Gras Ball of last Friday evening will be the last one at which a number of our most prominent and popular bachelors will attend as hosts, for before another year they will have joined the ranks of The Benedika. Students Fail in Knowledge of Industry

New York City, N. Y.—Out of a civics class of 500 people, only 25 pupils knew that "dry" cleaning is not "dry."

The other 475 believed that fuller's earth, corn-meal and mysterious dry substances were used in the cleaning process.

The cleaning industry is only 25 years old. The colleges of the country have made it a subject for research for only 15 years.

That's why the master cleaners of the country ask you as thinking American people to understand that clothes cleaning is a science—that it requires skill, experience and time to be correctly done. National campaign for your protection.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

TOO-TOO-THIN? (Part 4)

There are other measures besides increasing the diet that will help you to gain, but increasing the diet is the most important single measure.

My last three articles to you who are trying to gain, emphasized the importance of eating more than you have been. Are you skeptical that this will help you? Read this letter from one of last year's gaining class, that came in my morning's mail. It has many valuable suggestions in it.

"My dear Dr. Peters: You have been a true friend to my husband and myself, through your column. At the time we commenced housekeeping four years ago, we were both very much underweight and of course suffering from the various disorders which usually accompany undernourishment.

"Chiefly, I believe, through the use of more milk in my cooking—I make all kinds of bread with it, use it for cooking cereals and the vegetables that do not have to be drained, make soups, sauces and desserts and use it in a great many ways I had not thought of before reading your column—my husband is now normal weight and feeling 50 per cent better, and although I still have a few pounds to add, I'm coming.

"I wish you might make your advice to the T.T.T.'s more emphatic. There may not be as many of us as there are of the F.F.F.'s, but I believe we are in greater need.

"I have a request to make. We are overjoyed because we are expecting an heir or heiress in the near future, and I want to be prepared to make it comfortable, so please send me any advice you may have to offer to inexperienced mothers-to-be. Sincerely,

"MRS. J."

Now, there is something in this letter I'll wager you have not noticed. It is this: this couple have been married four years without any offspring. Did their undernourishment have anything to do with this? It might have. In the experimental nutrition laboratories, it has been proved that animals that are fed on diets deficient in vitamins, often become sterile. Now it is highly probable that in undereating, as our friends apparently did, they were not getting sufficient vitamins. (Overweight has the same tendency in certain cases to produce sterility, as underweight.)

To the antimilkers—those who believe milk to be an unnatural food for adults—this letter is a good refutation. Milk is just as good a food for adults as it is for babies and children and it is no more unnatural than most of our foods. Our wheat and other grains and our fruits have all been perfected by man through cultivation. In their wild states, many of the foods are inferior.

The longest-lived and the most virile peoples in the world that we know of—the nomad Arabs and certain people in the Himalayas and some of the Balkans—are great consumers of milk.

Occasionally, it is true, there are people who cannot take milk; they have what is called an idiosyncrasy, or sensitization to ordinary milk. And many of these people can take it in modified forms, however, as in custards, cheeses, malted milks, cream sauces, etc. In your gaining regime milk is the food above all others that you should add to your diet if you possibly can.

In last week's paper, [illegible] about adding egg [illegible] whole-grain breads, [illegible] to the diet. Too often [illegible] are underweight try to [illegible] adding too many [illegible] is apt to upset the [illegible]

Tomorrow, I'll tell you [illegible] the other measures to [illegible] gain.

Tomorrow: Answers [illegible]spondents.

My Dear Followers: When [illegible] which we offer you, please [illegible] stamped, self-addressed [illegible] name and address. The [illegible] gaining is the only one for which [illegible] 10 cents in stamps extra. [illegible] to me in care of this paper. The [illegible] answered in the column as [illegible] they are of general interest. [illegible] stamped, self-addressed [illegible] to send you the information [illegible]

THE PANKHURST REVERSION

Cristabel Pankhurst, who more than any one else hastened woman's suffrage for Englishwomen, has now lost all faith in her sex. She has changed her name to Christabel and taken to the pulpit instead of the rostrum.

I knew Cristabel back in the old hectic days in England twenty years ago when the fight waxed fast and furious. Ah, but she was an attractive young feminist then—fair and good to look at, with a sweet musical voice, an irrepressible sense of humor and a master mind.

I have seen her stand on a wagon in Hyde Park—England's free-speech sanctuary, where good-tempered London policemen keep order, and anything goes so long as it doesn't create a riot. She drew the biggest crowds—and the raging jealousy of the atheists, anarchists, preachers, spouters of all kinds all around.

And how dazzlingly merry and brilliantly logical she was as she exchanged repartee with the crowd, to the utter discomfiture of the type of British working man who used to yell out, "Woman's place is in the 'ome, I tell yer."

And to think that this is the self-same Cristabel who is now interpreting the Bible's most sinister prophecies, the doom of civilization, and declaring that woman's suffrage has made things worse.

Of course, I went to hear her, and no preacher ever predicted a worse hell for us. That once merry musical voice of hers was harsh with pessimism, gloom, tragedy, seeming to relish the calamities she predicted for us.

Gone was all the joyous humor, gone the blessed inspiring optimism that had once made her a leader so disturbing to the haughtily reproofful Englishman, and rocked an empire to such good purpose. Ah, yes, Cristabel was infinitely more attractive when she believed in women.

And it is this same Cristabel who now condemns women and their political influence, after less than a decade of trial; who is blind and deaf to the very definite and decisive efforts they are making for world peace, world betterment, world virtue.

Cristabel says that she never had time to study the Bible before, but that now she has got round to it, she can only see that the world is heading for calamity. How wonderful it might have been had Cristabel studied the Bible in her joyous, optimistic youth.

We women must remember the Cristabel of old and try to understand the disappointment that has entered her soul. I think when Cristabel put up for Parliament in England, keen, ambitious, so sure of continued leadership in politics, it just broke her heart when the electorate failed her. That defeat was bitter. She could not believe that all those women whose votes she had been so instrumental in obtaining for them would fail to use them to vote for Cristabel.

It was then that she slipped quietly out of England and hid her hurt in a little remote California bungalow. And when she essayed to fill our largest auditorium for a course of lectures, somehow even California women failed her too—and that huge empty auditorium sealed her bitterness. It was not intentional cruelty on our part. It just happened. We were so busy with our own affairs—but it was thus that we drove Cristabel into the pulpit and turned her into a pessimistic prophet of calamity. And now, alas, she will be more disappointed still if her calamitous prophecies fail to come to pass.

Los Angeles to Have Branch of Military Order

A chapter in the Military Order of the World War is to be established soon in Los Angeles, it was announced yesterday by Gen. S. H. Wolfe of New York, senior vice-commander of the order, who is here to assist in organizing the local branch and is a guest at the Biltmore.

This order, which is represented by chapters in many other sections of the country and has a membership of about 10,000, was formed soon after the close of the war and is composed of commissioned officers of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, who served in the World War, Gen. Wolfe explained. It is a body similar to the Military Order of Cincinnati, composed of officers who served with Gen. Washington during the Revolution, and the later Military Order of the Loyal Legion, organized after the Civil War.

Gen. Wolfe was the author of the War Risk Insurance Act.

The waistline has sunk so low that what was once a skirt is now nothing but a flounce below a long unbelted body.

In the new frocks where the belt is more honored in the breach than in the observance, the dress must fit the hip with great exactness. If it is large at that point it has a baggy, billowy effect that is far from attractive. It is very smart to combine two shades of the same color in a frock or to get the effect of two shades by reversing the sides of crêpe satin. Two shades of beige Canton crêpe were used for a French frock with a plaited flounce and scarf ends and a very deep V in the neck.

IOWA GAINS FEET AFTER LAND CRASH

Hawkeye Banker Reports State Recovering from Slump in Values

Everybody in Iowa who has stuck to his business and refused to fall for the wild-eyed speculation prevailing in the Hawkeye State since the war is all right, but a lot of the others are not, commented Simon Casady, Des Moines banker, at the Biltmore yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Casady are here to visit their son and daughter, who are Los Angeles residents. The banker said business and economic conditions in his home State have practically recovered from the slump that occurred when the frenzied land speculation ceased early in 1920. The farmers are once more able to meet their obligations, and there is an upward trend in land prices.

"The aftermath of the speculative period was one of disaster not only to individuals but to many banks," said Mr. Casady. "Last year there were more than 100 bank failures in Iowa, four or five of them in Des Moines. But in every instance the cause was to be found in speculation. Accompanying the speculation in land there was a riot of stock selling, in which many bankers indulged, entirely contrary to the rules laid down for safe banking. The result was inevitable; when the bubble burst many banks had to close their doors.

"But what happened in Iowa was no reflection on the State. Its wonderful resources will make recovery speedy when once the effects of the period of frenzied finance are over. And they are about over now, not only in Iowa but in the other sections of the Middle West, as hard hit as our State was. Present indications point to an era of prosperity, which has already begun and promises to continue indefinitely."

Broker Enters Not Guilty Plea in Mail Robbery

Max Newman, a broker of New York, pleaded not guilty yesterday before Federal Judge James to a charge of conspiracy to rob the mails. He is a defendant in the mail-robbery case pending before Judge James, but he did not arrive in Los Angeles on time to go on trial with his co-defendants, Jack Elerick, Joe Bertsche and Frank Wilson. As a matter of convenience the court set his trial for March 9, next, the understanding being that whether the trial were held then would depend on circumstances.

Herbert Wilson, now serving a sentence at San Quentin for the murder of Herbert Cox, has testified that Newman assisted in disposing of securities taken from the mails by Wilson and his confederates on March 3, 1921, when a mail truck was robbed at First and Alameda streets. Newman is a defendant also in a second indictment charging him, Elerick and others with conspiracy to rob the mails on November 3, 1921, at which time a mail truck was held up at Fifth and Los Angeles streets.

The most notable work, according to authorities of the institute, is that of Olive Ball, 11 years of age; Ralph Cochems, 8; Frances Smith, 12, and Virginia Theobald, 13.

STORY STARTED IN DAYS OF '49

Publicity About California Commenced Early

Letters Detailed Wonders of the State

Torrance Paper Commends Contest Plan

"California's publicity originated," writes W. Harold Kingsley in the Torrance Herald, "when the pioneers who battled their way across the continent in covered wagons sent back east by letter details of the wonders of their new-found paradise.

"Since those days the wonders of this Golden State have been household words throughout the world.

"We commend this letter-writing contest with all the earnestness at our command, not so much because prizes are offered, but because of the tremendous power contained in the flood of letters which will sweep east. There is no publicity in the world as potent as that contained in a personal letter.

"Write a letter a day to a friend back east. Help nail the lies about California.

"The Golden State became justly famous because of letters written by our pioneers. Let's help keep it famous by the same means."

The Times republishes this advice to all persons interested in the Friendship Contest of letter-writing because it agrees closely with the beliefs that prompted its prize offer of $3250 in cash for the best letters.

VOLUME OF LETTERS

When belief is backed by cash it commands a hearing that it would not otherwise obtain, but the interest of The Times has never been so much in the success of the contest, measured by the number of competitors, as in the volume of letters mailed east each day.

Write a letter a day to a friend back east. Not so much because prizes are offered as because, with a little personal effort, you can do more for the prosperity of your State, your town, your own business, than in any other way. The Torrance Herald is right when it talks of the tremendous power contained in a flood of letters. There is, as Mr. Kingsley says, no publicity so potent. No other medium can command such close attention, or presume to guarantee such wide distribution.

The first motive of the letter-writer ought to be enlightened self-interest. Anything he can do to help Southern California will tend to help him personally.

If, in addition, he can win one of the 378 prizes, ranging in value from $1000 to $1, so much the better. By all means, when he writes that letter, let him enter a copy of it in the Friendship Contest.

Perhaps he may tell himself that he is glad enough to write a personal letter to some friend who knows him and won't expect too much, but that there is no use in going to the trouble of preparing a copy for competition against writers who have more time or greater skill.

NO LITERARY CONTEST

He is wrong. Undoubtedly such writers will be attracted by the chance to win so handsome a prize as $1000 for 1000 words. But this is not a literary contest. The judges will not weigh letters from the standpoint of technical perfection. The letter sure to be considered is the letter that will command attention first, hold the interest won to the last word, and while holding it, win credence and end by carrying conviction

The letter that in doing this puts forward the greatest number of important facts—the solid facts that underlie the growth of Southern California and assure its future, the permanent facts that make this land claim each year as residents so many thousands who come here only as sightseers—is the letter that will win.

In addition to previous acknowledgements of support and assistance in this campaign to make friends for California, the Times takes pleasure today in naming the following:

Burbank, Covina, Torrance, Lawndale, Temple, Fullerton, Sherman, Calexico and Santa Barbara chambers of commerce, Glendale News, Colton Courier, Upland News, Covina Citizen, Ontario Herald, Anaheim Gazette, Eagle Rock Sentinel; Inglewood Californian, Santa Ana Register and the San Luis Obispo Tribune.

(1.) The duration of the contest shall be from January 25 until March 10 at 6 p.m. Letter copies submitted in competition must be sent to the Prize Letter Editor, Los Angeles Times, Los Angeles, Cal. They may be mailed or deposited in the Prize Letter Box, main lobby, Times Building. No letter shall be eligible for a prize unless it has been deposited in the Prize Letter Box or postmarked on or before the date and hour specified.

(2.) The purpose of all letters submitted in this contest shall be to make friends for California, through a truthful presentation of her attractions. Contestants may write whatever in their judgment is best calculated to inspire a desire to visit or live here. The effectiveness of the letter, as a convincing communication from one friend to another, will be the principal consideration. For this reason, no letter should contain any reference to this contest.

(3.) All letters must be copies of bona fide originals which have been mailed to actual persons or to newspapers at correct addresses outside the State of California. In other words, write your letter, mail it to some one you know or to your home-town paper and send a copy to the Prize Letter Editor of The Times, Los Angeles. The genuineness of letters will be subject to check.

(4.) Every letter must bear the name and address of the person or paper to whom the original has been mailed, and the name and address of the writer. Put these on the letter itself: not on a separate sheet. Write on one side of the paper only.

(5.) All contestants must be persons now living in Southern California, that is, in Los Angeles, Orange, San Diego, Imperial, Riverside, San Bernardino, Ventura, Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo, Tulare, Kings, Inyo or Kern counties. Temporary residents are eligible. It is not necessary to be a subscriber to The Times.

(6.) Letters may be of any length up to 1000 words.

(7.) Any contestant may write and submit copies of any number of letters during the life of the contest, but each original must be sent to a different addressee.

(8.) No employee of The Times nor any member of his or her family shall be eligible to compete.

JUNIOR DIVISION

(10.) Membership in the junior division of the contest shall be open to all letter-writers under 16 years of age.

(11.) Contestants entering the junior division shall be governed by the same rules formulated for the general contest.

(12.) Contestants entering the junior division shall be eligible both for the special prizes in that division and the larger prizes offered for the general contest. In addition to giving their names and addresses and the names and addresses of those to whom their letters have been mailed, junior contestants must state their correct age. Such statement will be subject to verification. All letters entered in this division must be so designated.

ALIENATION CASE STILL TO BE TRIED

Roy A. Harlow, insurance broker, has dropped the suit for divorce he instituted last summer against his motion-picture actress-wife, Marie Mosquini Harlow, it was revealed yesterday in Superior Court.

The case was ordered dismissed by Judge York, when it appeared Harlow had failed to file an amended complaint within the period prescribed by law.

Harlow also brought a suit for $25,000 damages for asserted alienation of affections against his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Mosquini, action on which is now pending.

In his divorce complaint, Harlow accused his wife of cruelty, asserting she refused to live with him in any place except the home of her mother. Harlow described his mother-in-law as a "fiercely jealous" person. He further declared his wife disliked being known as a married woman, and that because of this asserted attitude he was embarrassed by men calling her on the telephone and at her home.

In his suit for damages, Harlow charged his mother-in-law with dominating his wife and asserted that at the time his engagement to the screen actress was announced Mrs. Mosquini stated if her daughter and Harlow were wed she would break up the marriage.

Mrs. Mosquini filed an answer to the suit in which she made a general denial of her son-in-law's allegations. The case has been set for trial July 10.

COUNCIL TO TALK HALL PLAN TODAY

Will Confer With Board of Public Works; Hope to Push Construction

The City Council, as a committee of the whole, will meet today with the Board of Public Works for a conference looking toward pushing the construction of the new $5,000,000 City Hall in the Civic Center district north of First street.

President Workman said yesterday he expected the Board of Public Works to concur in the Council's recommendation that the architectural firm of Curlett & Beelman be selected to design the new hall. From other sources, however, it was indicated that there might be some opposition. Yet all city officials are agreed that construction of the hall should be pushed both as a step in realization of the Civic Center and because of the inconvenience of the present city offices, which are packed into the old hall and overflown into a dozen other buildings.

Weston & Weston, architects of Hollywood, have addressed a letter to Mr. Workman congratulating the Council on its "very wise choice" of architects. The letter says:

"We are sure that Curlett & Beelman will give better business management, quicker plan service and design of more merit than would be possible for any group of association of architects to give."

WOMAN TRIES SUICIDE

Blames Gossip of Neighbors for Attempt to Die by Gas

Miss Lydia Bonnabelle, 55 years of age, closed the doors and windows of her room at 153 North Eastlake avenue last night and turned on the gas. Mrs. G. Barnett, the landlady, tracing the source of the escaping gas, found the woman unconscious. She was removed to the Receiving Hospital and police surgeons stated that she will recover.

A note, explaining that her neighbors had subjected her to torture of unjust accusation and gossip, was found by Police Sergeant Phillips and Patrolman Reigan to explain the woman's act.

LINGUIST ARRESTED ON CHECK CHARGE

J. W. Sterns, 42 years of age, a native of Australia, was arrested yesterday by Detective Lieutenants Warn and Knowles of the police forgery detail, on a forgery charge. The suspect, who is said to be a linguist of some note, is declared by the detectives to have passed a worthless $5 check on a local furniture store after entering the place with a woman on the pretext that they desired to buy furniture for their home.

TALKS DOCTRINE OF PERFECTION

Christian Science Lecturer Cites Bible Proof

Declares Spiritual Healing Marked Christ's Work

Urges Belief in the Ultimate Rightness of Things

"Spiritual healing is recorded throughout the Scriptures. It appears to have been practiced by nearly all of the great figures in the Bible. It especially distinguished the ministry of Jesus," said Frank Bell, C.S.B., of Philadelphia, Penn., member of The Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., in a lecture last evening in Thirteenth Church of Christ, Scientist, Los Angeles.

"Among various theories in explanation of this healing, the one generally entertained by creedal religionists is that it was miraculous in the sense of involving a suspension or suppression of natural law. Certain psychologists profess to believe that it was the effect of mental suggestion or hypnotism.

"Jesus repudiated both these theories. He said he came to fulfill the law, not to destroy or to annual it; not a jot or tittle of the law should pass till all be fulfilled. The works that he did he said his followers should do in proportion to their understanding. And the record is that his followers proved this, not only during his time, but for three centuries thereafter, or until creeds usurped the authority of the Christ. His followers are again proving this today, in proportion to their understanding.

JESUS NO HYPNOTIST

"That Jesus was not a mesmerist or hypnotist is shown by the rule he repeatedly expounded for himself and his followers— 'Not my will, but thine, be done.' The effort of mental suggestion is to impose one human will upon another. Jesus denounced human will and proclaimed the will of God to be the only real will-power. That rule brought healing to the sick nineteen centuries ago, and it brings healing to the sick today.

"The rule, 'Not my will, but thine, be done,' is, of course, the rule of perfection. God's will is perfect. Thought that is open to the fundamental rightness of being catches something of the spiritual import of Jesus's teaching, and this improved state of mind manifests itself, after its kind, in outward conditions and affairs. Jesus must have meant this when he said regarding one of his healings, 'Thy faith hath made thee whole.' His affirmation of God's will that man is perfect had encountered a measure of acceptance, and that improved state of mind which he named faith, expressed itself in a corresponding state of body, as states of mind never fail to do.

MIND AND HEALTH

"Where there was impenetrable unbelief, where the windows of thought were not open to the affirmations of the will of God, it is recorded that he did not many mighty works. In such cases was the prophecy of Esaias fulfilled: 'For this people's heart is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes they have closed; lest at any time they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and should understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them.' The scientific relationship between state of mind and state of health is affirmed and reaffirmed in the Scriptures.

"What did these unhealed ones need to understand with their hearts that they might experience health? Was it drugs, or serums, or germs, or antitoxins, or diet, or exercise, or calories, or health laws that they needed to learn more about? Must they await the verdict of chemist, bacteriologist, vivisector? Surely it could not have been for lack of any such knowledge that Jesus in certain instances did not his mighty works.

CLOSED TO TRUTH

"The explanation is clear. Their minds were closed to the truth he understood and offered, the truth which he declared would make free, and which did make free wherever and to the extent that it was accepted, as it does today. If they should understand and be converted they should be healed. The rule of Christian healing has not altered. Heaven and earth shall pass away but the word of the Great Physician shall not.

"Nor shall the requirement change. The mental eyes must be opened, the mental ears must be unstopped, so that there may be understanding and conversion and healing. You who are sick, weary, afraid, how much of willingness is there in your heart to listen to the 'Be ye therefore perfect' of the Christ? You think thousands of thoughts every day. What proportion of these thoughts are of such a nature as to have any tendency in the direction of converting or transforming your sense of things into realization that both God and God's man are perfect? To what extent are you listening to the suggestion that the weight of evidence of imperfection is so overwhelming that there is no use trying to contradict it?

"I know how pride of intellect fear of being thought ridiculous, self-sufficiency, doubt, indifference, every phase of human will, would shut the eyes and the ears of the heart against the Christly message of the essential perfection of God's creation, including man. But I know that somewhere in the apparently impenetrable barrier of material sense is a crevice open, through which, if you are in earnest, you may catch a glimpse of at least a tiny ray of spiritual light. There is no heart so gross, no intellectuality so hard, no selfishness so dense that diligent search will not reveal a spark of an impulse to repudiate the mental suggestions that constitute the sum total of human belief in evil.

"The floods of discouragement are not sufficient utterly to destroy that saving instinct to believe in the ultimate righteousness of things, regardless of appearances. You will find this germ of truth if you search for it with all your heart. Nurture it. Feed it with the love of which you are capable. Mentally tend and water this precious flower of thought. Diligently pull away the weeds of materialism that would choke it back. You will find other lovely realizations hidden but not killed under the rank accumulation of your neglected mental garden.

"Then shall be fulfilled in your twentieth-century experience another prophecy of Esaias: The eyes of the blind shall be opened; the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped; in the wilderness shall waters break forth; and a highway shall be there; and the ransomed shall return; and shall obtain joy and gladness; and sorrow and sighing shall flee away.

"This is good medicine, this doctrine of perfection, this Christian Science. Countless thousands of your fellowmen have found it so. It is God's healing gift to you, yours for the taking and the using."

PRISON CAMPS ARE FILLED

Judge Hardy Asks Supervisors for Another Road Crew for Juveniles; Ione School Crowded

Pointing out that the county road camps were filled to overflowing and the State School of Industry for juveniles at Ione had refused to accept more prisoners from this city until vacancies occurred, Judge Hardy yesterday sent the Board of Supervisors a letter asking for the establishment of another county road camp to care for juvenile prisoners and others deserving a lenient sentence.

The county at present is keeping two road camps, No. 1, at Swartout Canyon, where sixty-five men are working, and No. 2, in San Antonio Canyon, with a capacity of fifty men. Both camps, according to prison authorities, are overcrowded and can accept no more prisoners.

In addition, Judge Hardy points out, a letter received a short time ago from authorities of the Preston School at Ione informs the authorities that the school is overfilled and that no more boys can be taken in until vacancies occur.

The logical solution, Judge Hardy states in his letter, is the establishment of one or two more road camps by Los Angeles county. These road camps, he writes, will not only afford the juvenile lawbreakers a chance to become better citizens, but will give the judges a chance to enforce minor sentences on petty lawbreakers.

Why, She Could See Them!

Reminiscent of the story told about the new radio owner, who wanted to know if he could enlarge his aerial from seventy to 120 feet without "blowing the tubes," is this one from a Columbus resident.

The Columbus man, on a visit to Cincinnati, went riding with his spinster cousin in her new auto. The machine, by the way, is of a popular make, which has noninclosed rods for lifting the valves. During the ride the auto appeared to lose power and the owner, much concerned, announced that she would see "if it was hitting on all four."

Leaving the motor running, she got out, lifted the hood and peered at the end a moment. Then, with a smile of naive assurance, she again took her seat. The man, being an old hand at mechanics, casually inquired how she knew it was "hitting on all four."

NORWEGIAN PIONEERS TO BE HONORED

New Issue of Stamps to Mark Arriving of First Immigrants in 1825

Postage stamps commemorating the landing of the first Norwegian immigrants in the United States in the year 1825, will be placed on sale by the Los Angeles Postoffice about April 1, according to information received here by philatelists.

The stamps will not be as large, according to this information, as were the Walloon stamps, issued a year ago to commemorate the landing of the first Walloon immigrants in 1824.

The new stamps are to be the same size as the present air mail stamps and there will be but two of them, in denominations of 2 cents and 5 cents. Each will have a center of black, a reproduction of the ship which brought the immigrants to American shores and the 2-cent stamp will have a border of carmine, while the border on the 5-cent issue will be in blue.

Los Angeles collectors have received word that the designs for the stamps have been approved by the Postoffice Department and their engraving and printing ordered. They will be placed on sale at all postoffices shortly after the first of April, the collectors have been advised.

ICE CREAM SODA

Beverage Should Be Counted as Part of Day's Food

The soda fountain is now found at every corner of the large cities and on the main street of every town, so we may feel sure that there is a demand for the beverages and ice cream dishes in which they specialize.

With many people these beverages and ices are not counted as food and are taken with little realization as well as pleasure. As a matter of fact, they should be counted as part of the food for the day if one is endeavoring to take only as much food as is required per day.

Any extra food over the necessary amount results in added weight, and any one who is trying to maintain normal weight or to get thin must think of these beverages, ices and sundaes as part of the required amount of food as well as the pleasure that they give.

At one private boys' school it was found that almost one-sixth of the amount of food necessary came in the form of these "extras," and in a dietary study made in one of the women's colleges it was found that the extra foods comprised not far from 10 per cent of the total daily intake.

Many of the beverages and other things served at these soda fountains may be prepared and served at home at considerably less cost. Ginger ale added to lemonade or orangeade, or even combined with milk if it is very cold, makes delicious variations from the ordinary beverage.

Ginger ale is a carbonated beverage prepared from ginger ale flavor, sugar, a harmless organic acid, water and a little caramel coloring. The ginger ale flavor is the flavoring product in which ginger is the essential constituent, with or without aromatic and pungent ingredients, citrus oils and fruit juices. (This is from "Food Standards adopted by the United States Department of Agriculture.")

Punch to which ginger ale is added at the last moment has much more "pep" than punch made with plain water. Ginger ale itself supplies very little nourishment, a pint bottle of ginger ale furnishing about 135 calories.

Since the average person requires from 2000 to 3000 calories a day, it will be readily seen that even ginger ale must replace something else if you are trying to get thin.—[Columbus Dispatch.

SIMPLE MATHEMATICS

"Ever hear this one?" asked one of the group. "A dog was tied to a rope fourteen feet long. Twenty feet away was a fat, juicy bone. How did the dog get to the bone?"

"Oh, that's old stuff," answered one of the marines. "You want some bird to say, 'I give it up,' and then you'll say, 'That's what the other dog did.'"

Truck and Auto Output Unequal to 1924 Figures

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—January production of automobiles in the United States and Canada amounted to 212,908 passenger cars and 28,004 trucks. The Canadian proportion of the total was 8301 passenger machines and 1540 trucks.

These figures were compiled by the Department of Commerce from manufacturers' reports and compared with totals for January, 1924, covering the two countries, amounting to 293,822 passenger cars and 30,627 trucks.

NOT IN THE DICTIONARY

Cross-word puzzlers poring over their dictionaries will not find the word "cryptanalyst," but it has the approval of the United States government for it has an individual on its pay roll under this heading. This gentleman has really made the place for himself and also the name. He is William F. Friedman and, as a hobby years ago he started the scientific study of codes, ciphers and cryptology generally merely as a pastime. But he followed the matter so enthusiastically that he became known as the wizard in this line. At the outbreak of the war his services were immediately availed of by the government to unravel various secret messages which found their way into the hands of the Army and Navy. The demand for service of this character became so great that Mr. Friedman was directed to form a class of attaches of the Army and Navy and hundreds of men were sent to him for instruction. After the end of the war his services were retained and he has now a permanent berth at a very good salary, which points to a double moral, that of having a hobby and also of doing things thoroughly.—[Exchange.

WOMAN DIES IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mrs. J. W. Tomkins of Los Angeles is Victim

Car Turns Turtle Avoiding Collision

Machine Causing Smash Fails to Stop

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Feb. 23. — Mrs. J. W. Tomkins, 2625 Marsh street, Los Angeles, was instantly killed this afternoon when the motor car in which she was riding with her husband and 13-month-old son, George, turned turtle on the Valley Boulevard, near Archibald avenue. Mr. Tompkins and the child escaped with minor injuries.

The party was en route to the Orange Show in San Bernardino when the accident occurred.

According to Mr. Tomkins, the fatal accident occurred when he applied his brakes and swerved to the side of the road in an effort to avoid collision with a westbound automobile, whose driver had cut out in endeavoring to pass several cars proceeding in the same direction.

Members of the Tomkins party were taken to the San Antonio Community Hospital by B. F. May, 204 West F street, who was passing in a motor car. Dr. W. H. Craig pronounced Mrs. Tomkins dead when she reached the hospital.

Besides the boy who accompanied his parents, Mrs. Tomkins, who was about 32 years of age, is survived by another son, Alvin, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Young, who reside at 241 South Gramont street, Los Angeles.

Mrs. Charles Palmer, a sister of Mr. Tomkins, residing at Main and Fifty-second streets, Los Angeles, was notified of the tragedy by telephone. The car said to have been responsible for the accident failed to stop.

Inquest over the body of Mrs. Tomkins will be held at Draper's Upland mortuary tomorrow at 10 a.m.

HANLEY IS GROOMING FOR JOB IN COUNCIL

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LANKERSHIM, Feb. 23.—Robert L. Hanley, who recently resigned his post in the City Attorney's office after six years of work there, and who plans to practice law in Los Angeles with Paul W. Schenck, may be the next Councilman from the new valley district. Friends here say Hanley is now laying his political fences for the place. He is well known all over San Fernando Valley, is a director in the Greater San Fernando Valley Association, and a leader in all civic affairs in this section of the city.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LANKERSHIM, Feb. 23. — Thomas Humphrey has a big job on his hands, but he says it isn't a bigger bite than he can chew. Humphrey's job is to dig up about 11,000 hen eggs each week, which he has contracted to sell to one of the chain groceries of Los Angeles and environs. The contract calls for 800 cases of eggs a week, and all are to be of the "fresh yard egg" variety, gathered from various ranchers in the San Fernando Valley. Humphrey says the eggs he will gather up will be sent to fifty different stores.

BAD LUCK TO TRY FOR CAR OF SHERIFF

Near Collision Cause of Arrest on Charge of Too Much Liquor

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, Feb. 23.—Because, officers assert, he apparently attempted to run into the automobile driven by Sheriff Clem Sweeters, near Perris, at 1 o'clock this morning, Chapman Blackburn, 18, is in the County Jail on a charge of driving while intoxicated and four other Hemet youths spent several unpleasant hours in the company of the officers before they were released. The names of the four were withheld as they are all under age and no charge was lodged against them.

Sheriff Sweeters, with Undersheriff Carl Rayburn and Deputy Sheriff Charles Worcester, was returning from a long trip into the interior of the county on official business when the car containing the boys attempted to pass them. Its course was described as hazardous and but for some expert driving on the part of the officers, a collision would have resulted, they said.

Blackburn was the only one in the car drunk, according to the officers, but the other four had been drinking, they said. Blackburn was placed under arrest and the other four were brought to the County Jail where, after a lecture on the part of the Sheriff concerning the way of the transgressor, they were allowed to return to their homes. Blackburn, who is said to have been a ward of the Juvenile Court, will probably be arraigned tomorrow.

Tulare County Towns Celebrate Legal Holiday

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TULARE, Feb. 23.—Tribute was paid the Father of Our Country today in Tulare county by numerous celebrations in a quiet fashion. Banks and offices all over the county were closed, while the towns were divided on keeping stores open. Tulare and Dinuba closed shop, the 22nd inst. being one of the listed holidays.

Decorated windows in the business district and flying flags in the residential sections proved the merchants have not forgotten. Many residents of the county took week-end trips in various directions, while those who stayed home enjoyed special golf matches, courses all over the county being dotted with enthusiasts. Scores of motorists journeyed to the hills and returned laden with poppies, brodiaea nad other wild flowers, which are now found in abundance in Tulare county.

PLANS LAID TO START OWENSMOUTH PAVING

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

OWENSMOUTH, Feb. 23. — The matter of paving the streets of Owensmouth townsite in the area where sidewalks and curbs are now being put in was discussed at the luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce today. Assistant City Engineer J. W. Cooke has recommended paving from curb to curb with concrete or asphalt on the concrete, estimating the cost at about 25 cents per square foot. If curb-to-curb paving is adopted, it will be necessary first to install sewers on the streets to be paved, thus causing an extra cost, which would be spread over a ten-year period in equal installments. As an alternate proposal it his been suggested that a roadway twenty feet wide be laid in the center of the street, and paving with decomposed granite laid from each side of the roadway to the curbs. This materially would lessen all costs. As yet nothing has been agreed on beyond the fact that Owensmouth intends to pave its streets, and is making effort to arrive at a definite starting point.

DATE SET TO DEDICATE PACOIMA WASH BRIDGE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN FERNANDO, Feb. 23.—Plans are now being definitely made to formally open the new bridge over the Pacoima wash on April 17. Members of the Chamber of Commerce will have the affair in charge, and will give a banquet on the same night in commemoration of the event. The new bridge, which will sustain some of the most strenuous travel in the valley, is compactly built and has been constructed to withstand future serious overflows in the wash.

COLLEGE HEADS GATHER

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Feb. 23.—College presidents are making a valiant effort to outnumber the millionaires who each year flock to Pasadena for the winter season. There are approximately 250 millionaires in the three leading hotels of this city and the university heads are increasing daily. There are five distinguished college presidents now staying at the Hotel Huntington.

The ranks of the educators were increased by the arrival of C. W. McBride, president emeritus of Iowa University. Dr. McBride and his family are meeting scores of their Iowa friends who have adopted California as their home. As the doctor was president of the Iowa University for forty-seven years, he is widely known throughout the country. During their stay in Pasadena he and his wife will reside at the Casa Loma Apartments.

"Education is in great demand at the present time, Dr. McBride declares. All the higher institutions of learning throughout the country are harboring more students than their buildings and equipment can accommodate, he says.

"I understand that the attendance of Columbia University in New York City is above the 20,000 mark. Iowa University had 7000 students at the first of the year. This is considered quite large since students are drawn from only ninety-nine cities and small towns instead of a great metropolis.

"I notice a similar situation exists here in Southern California. The Southern Branch of the University of California has outgrown its present quarters and is casting about for a larger campus. There should be two great State universities in California, the one you have in the north and the southern branch, which should really be separate from the University of California." Dr. McBride said.

STORE IS VICTIM OF FIRE LOSS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, Feb. 23.—One of the most costly fires in the business section of Redlands in many years this morning destroyed the stock of the Fair Store on East State street, owned by Mrs. N. Daniels. The stock valued at approximately $100,000, will be almost a total loss, according to the preliminary survey.

The fire was discovered shortly after daybreak. It is believed to have been smoldering for some time generating gas that exploded about 6:30. The windows in the alley were crashed in by the explosion. A Los Angeles Times carrier boy, who was delivering papers, saw the flames and turned in the alarm.

The fire department found the fire confined to the back part of the store under the mezzanine floor, but the flames were fanned by a draft until they scorched and smoked the entire stock. What was not burned by the fire was so badly damaged by smoke and water as to be almost worthless. The stock consisted of ladies' clothing, dry goods, men's clothing.

Mrs. Daniels had $75,000 of old stock in the store and had just received $25,000 of new stock. This is less than half-covered by insurance. The stock is in the center of one of the main business blocks and the fire department was fortunate to confine the blaze to one room.

Teamster Meets Death at Long Beach Refuse Dump

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Feb. 23.—George McCrindle, 76-year-old teamster employed by the city of Long Beach, was killed here today at the public dump when he was thrown from the seat of a wagon. His neck was broken by the fall. The aged man, who was the father of Patrolman George McCrindle, had driven a wagon load of refuse into the dump, when, according to witnesses, the front right wheel of the wagon slid into a depression, throwing the driver to the ground.

The dead man is survived by his widow, Mrs. Julia McCrindle; three sons and two daughters. The body is at the Mottell undertaking rooms, where an inquest is to be held.

REDLANDS PIONEER FOUND DEAD IN BED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, Feb. 23. — James A. Storm, for many years a resident of Redlands and a prominent member of the Bear Valley Post, G.A.R., and of the Redlands Lodge of Odd Fellows, was found dead in bed at his home on East State street. Saturday. Mr. Storm had lived alone for several years and while he had not been seen for about twenty-four hours, it was thought that he died during the night. He had been in charge of the clubrooms of the Odd Fellows Lodge and was seen there yesterday morning. It is thought that he probably became ill during the day, went home and to the bed, from which he never arose.

NEW AREA FOR COLLECTOR

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN FERNANDO, Feb. 23.—George E. Waite, deputy tax collector in San Fernando Valley for many years, will start upon his work on March 1. He will not cover San Fernando as formerly. It is understood he will be given other territory in San Fernando Valley. Much regret has been expressed at the change because, taxpayers say, Waite has been an aid to them in the annual listing of their properties.

Crowds Continue to Throng San Bernardino's Great Orange Show

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 23.—Threatening weather failed to seriously interfere with the attendance at the National Orange Show today, an estimated 30,000 people entering the exposition during the day and evening show officials were predicting that the mark of former years may fall, basing their forecasts on the 58,000 attendance of Sunday, one of the largest days in the history of the fifteen national orange shows.

Today was Lions' Club and Riverside county day. Nearly 600 Lions and their guests from many cities of California attended the citrus exposition after a luncheon at the municipal auditorium, where prominent Lions of the State were the speakers. Jack Reilly of Long Beach, district governor of the Lions, complimented the Orange Show directorate, as did Dale Park of Los Angeles and Collector Rex B. Goodcell of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Ranchers of the citrus districts of the State will today attend the annual citrus institute, held in conjunction with the exposition. The best-known citrus-culture experts of California will speak, including a number of horticulturists from the University of California. The show closes March 1.

MURDER SUSPECTS ACCUSE EACH OTHER

MEN UNDER ARREST ASSERT COMPANION GUILTY OF CRIME

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Feb. 23.—Pasqual Gutieres and Stephen Bantista, two Mexicans, held in the Pasadena police station on suspicion of murdering Joseph Pesqueria, spent the day pointing each other out as the guilty one. After twenty-four hours of unbroken silence, both murder suspects with one accord accused the other of firing the fatal shot which took the life of the father of four small children.

According to the police, Gutierez and Bantista had been drinking and were raising considerable disturbance when Pesqueria, who resides next door, asked the men to stop quarreling, saying that his wife and children were unable to sleep. A fight ensued and Pesqueria is said to have slapped Bantista.

While Pesqueria was returning to his own home a shot was fired from the bathroom of the house in which the two men had been quarreling. Pesqueria fell dead on his own front doorstep. The gun was later found under the house. An inquest will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Turner & Stevens undertaking parlors.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

Plans are being fostered by the Chamber of Commerce, Woman's Club, the school authorities and the Comunity Church Association. The Woman's Club members have decided to withdraw their plans for a drive for a club building and will personally get in behind a campaign to erect a church. It has been agreed tentatively to build a $10,000 edifice at Amigo avenue and Hart street.

City Employees Are Organizing at Long Beach

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Feb. 23.—An association composed of employees of the city department of public service and having a membership of 100, has been formed here and, it was said today, may form a nucleus for the organization of all municipal employees into a protective and benefit association, designed to combat regulations that may be imposed on city employees in the future.

The action, following closely the recent order for all city employees to put in a full eight hours each working day of the year, is said to have been based partly on this order.

It was pointed out that the city charter and ordinances provide that the City Hall shall be open for business only seven and a half hours, yet the new order requires that employees in the City Hall remain at their posts a full eight hours.

As now organized the group is made up of employees in the engineering department and is known as the Department of Public Service Employees' Association. L. G. Williams has been named chairman of the by-laws committee and O. P. Ricker is secretary.

KEEN STRATEGY

The customs cordon between Northern and Southern Ireland is, of course, a great nuisance to people whose market town lies across the border, and the indignation of those making acquaintance with the law's vagaries for the first time sometimes leads to amusing incidents. The other day a market woman was taking home in her basket a good, sound "family" cake. On finding that the duty would amount to as much as the price of the cake itself, she declined to pay.

"Refuse ye may," said the official, laying hands on the not uninviting looking confection, "but we'll confiscate the cake."

"That ye'll not," said she, and snatching the cake out of his hands she retired across the border and, regardless of possible future consequences, proceeded under the eyes of the disappointed official to consume it to the last crumb.—[Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

OPEN BRIDGE TO TRAVELERS

Handsome Span Connects Two Cities

Crowd Braves Rain to See Ceremonies

Prominent Officials Participate in Program

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ARCADIA, Feb. 23.—In spite of a drizzling rain that fell softly throughout the ceremony and baptized the new Huntington Drive bridge as it was dedicated this afternoon, about 1000 interested citizens from Arcadia and Monrovia witnessed the formal opening of the $40,000 span that now connects the cities.

Promptly at 1 o'clock the Monrovia Band struck of a martial air and the barriers at either end of the bridge were removed, while the city officials of the two cities, headed by A. J. Everest, Mayor of Monrovia, and J. J. Granville, Mayor of Arcadia, advanced from either end, met in the center and grasped hands in friendly greetings.

Henry Gierlich, City Engineer of Monrovia, acting for the County Board of Supervisor, then briefly turned over the handsome structure to the two cities. Gierlich said:

"As Bill Mulholland said on a certain occasion in turning over a bridge, I'll say: 'Here it is; take it.'"

Walter F. Dunn, City Attorney of Monrovia, accepted the bridge on behalf of the two cities and gave a brief history of the building of the structure which, he said, was not merely of importance to Monrovia and Arcadia, but is an improvement on one of the most important outlets from the eastern part of San Gabriel Valley to Los Angeles.

Mr. Dunn, who, as president of the Monrovia City Council when the agitation for the bridge was started and through whose efforts much credit for securing the bridge is given, said the completion of the bridge is the result of three years of work on the part of the City Trustees of Monrovia and Arcadia.

The bridge will make passable Huntington Drive at flood times, he said, which formerly was covered with water, so that it was necessary for traffic to go by way of Foothill Boulevard.

J. J. Granville, president of the City Trustees of Arcadia, expressed the hope that the bridge would remove all sectional feelings between Monrovia and Arcadia, making them one.

A. J. Everest, president of the Monrovia Board of Trustees, gave Mr. Dunn credit of being "father of the bridge" by reason of his efforts spent in securing it.

A parade then passed over the structure from either end, each headed by the fire engines of the two cities and followed by cars with city officials and citizens from the two towns.

The crowd then went to the ball grounds in Arcadia, when the Arcadia Merchants played the Azusa Merchants, Arcadia winning, 3 to 2, in the thirteenth inning.

The good-fellowship banquet of the two cities in the Santa Anita clubhouse in this city was held tonight at 6:30 o'clock and nearly 400 men and women were seated at the tables.

R. H. Schwarzkopf of Arcadia acted as toastmaster and addresses were made by Gordon Whitnall of the City Planning Commission of Los Angeles on "Regional Planning;" by Montaville Flowers of Pasadena an "Civic Spirit," and felicitations from the two cities were given by A. J. Everest, president of the Monrovia City Trustees, and J. J. Granville, president of the Arcadia City Trustees.

A committee of women, headed by Mrs. Raymond Hagen of Arcadia, acted as a reception committee, assisted by a bevy of girls as ushers to seat the banqueters.

A pretty feature was the presentation of a bouquet of sweet peas to A. J. Everest by little Miss Evelyn Bonner of Arcadia and J. J. Granville by little Olive Price of Monrovia.

FRESNO, Feb. 23.—A nightmare which he experienced while in a berth on a Southern Pacific train last night was the cause of the death of Amadeo Limon, Coroner John W. Lisle found upon investigating the man's death here.

Limon slept with a revolver under his pillow. During the night he had a nightmare near Mojave, the gun exploded and the bullet entered the abdomen. As the train on which he was being rushed to San Francisco passed through Fresno he died.

Shoots Husband in Defense of Small Daughter

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 23.—Alleged to have fired in defense of her small daughter, Lulu Clark, colored, is in the County Jail charged with shooting and seriously wounding her husband, Jesse Clark. According to the police Mrs. Clark declares that she shot her husband because he was beating the small child Sunday afternoon at their home here.

"When I asked him to stop hurting the girl he hit me with a revolver and then I shot him," she is said to have told authorities following her arrest.

Clark is in the County Hospital with a gaping wound through his cheeks torn by the leaden missile, which is said to have been fired by his wife.

Mrs. Clark is a slender, girlish looking woman. Her husband is 29 years of age. The woman is undergoing a bombardment of questions from police officials.

MURDER SUSPECTS

Fresno Police Hold Two On Suspicion

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, Feb. 23.—Attempts of Jack Brennan and Pat Martin to trade a pocket flashlight for a loaf of bread in the vicinity of Sam Turoonjian's grocery store led to their arrest late last night on suspicion of murdering Turoonjian, who was shot when he resisted a bandit, who wanted a loaf of bread Saturday night. Brennan and Martin came to Fresno only a few days ago and were out of work, they said.

Two men of similar appearance visited several small neighborhood grocery stores prior to the fatal shooting of Turoonjian, storekeepers said today. Both men deny shooting Turoojian or that they tried to hold him up. The grocer was found fatally wounded on the sidewalk near his store after he had refused to submit to the bandits' demands and was shot. He died five hours after the shooting.

LEIBER EXCELS

"HAMLET" GIVEN FINE PERFORMANCE AT BILTMORE

By Grace Kingsley

What a perfectly brilliant and charming companion the Prince Hamlet would have been if only things hadn't gone so tragically wrong in the royal household!

That's the way you feel when you see Fritz Leiber play the melancholy Dane, which he did last night at the Biltmore, before a large audience.

He makes Hamlet not only brillant, forceful, keenly, penetratingly witty; but he also invests the role with a most human thoughtfulness, a gentle humor that would have flowered into the utmost charm and warmth under the fostering glow of happy fortune.

Leiber's Hamlet is, I am sure, the most human interpretation now being shown on the stage. That is, according to my observation. I have not seen John Barrymore's Hamlet, however. Leiber brings new lights to play on the facets of the many-sided Hamlet. He is very tender, but also very magnanimous in his love for Ophelia. He would spare her any contamination of the tragedy which he knew instinctively from the first he was fated to suffer.

His Hamlet is such a vastly intellectual Hamlet, yet such a modest and humble Hamlet. To no other sort of soul could such truths have been revealed.

I think Leiber brings out, much more clearly than most interpreters of this role, the sensitiveness of Hamlet, the high-strung nature which could idealize a loved person beyond the normal. Thus his worship of his father. Leatrice Joy, who is a student of Shakespeare, and who sat next to me at the play last night, declared she had seen all the modern players of Hamlet, but admitted she liked Leiber best of them all.

"He makes Hamlet so entirely believable and understandable," she said.

As for Leiber's reading of his lines, it is so natural and unstilted that you really forget that it is not a modern play you are witnessing.

Especially effective were the theater scene and his scenes with Ophelia. As for the soliloquy, he did it so quietly that it was like the echo of your own thoughts.

Stage settings are more suggestive than realistic. A beautiful window, a lighting effect, a throne, even a doorway or a chair, combined with curtains and lighting effects, proved a most harmonious setting.

Virginia Bronson as Ophelia gave a sweet and charmingly convincing characterization. Her voice is lovely, and she gave a vivid rendering of this girl bewildered by life's rude violences, and the tragic shadow overhanging her passion for Hamlet.

Philip Quin is most excellent as the loquacious Polonius, John Alexander was adequate as the king, Pauline Crell played the queen acceptably, and the others were all capable.

WEBER AND FIELDS WHIRLWIND SUCCESS

Weber and Fields, with Armand Kaliz and Florence Brown as first aid, are alone worth double the admission—even if you happen to be wearing your purse in a sling this week.

Helen Ferguson was with me this week, and we voted solidly for the two comedians as being still the kingpin comedy couple of vaudeville. The good old poker game is still a wow, and the statue part is another wham. The funny mannerisms of the pair and their German dialect lingo remain the last word in fun. As for Kaliz, the fascinating, he brings his really brilliant entertaining qualities to bear on the role of a French "con" man, scoring brightly as of yore. And about the daintily and beautifully formed Florence Brown—

"Say," whispered Helen, "she doesn't need any face, does she?"

Gorgeously staged, with some truly enchanting dances, the Wright dancers are a very high spot on the bill. Klarma Plinska does about the naughtiest oriental dance we've seen on the stage, but is so exquisitely graceful that it seems all right. Helen Pachaud is dramatic and vivid in an Indian dance.

A bit not down on the bill happened when Miss Pachaud, in attempting to descend from the rock on which as an Indian she was posing, slipped and fell the whole ten feet, but a swiftly-drawn curtain covered the accident nicely, and she seemed none the worse for her tumble, or in any event went gamely on with her dance.

"I never say anything like that at the country club," I said.

"Oh," retorted Helen, "that would depend on the country and the club."

Helen fell awfully hard for Richard Ford, and I must admit he made even us older girls wish we were young again. The pictures are sure to get him. Maybe they will get Eileen Van Bienne, too, she is sweet and pretty enough. And oh, how she does work her eyelashes! Both have nice voices, and "Romance and Crinoline" is one of the daintiest acts in vaudeville. It is a vocal valentine.

Weston and Eline stage a great Bowery act. Grace Eline's feminine interference is great in the opening part of the act, where she kids her partner.

Harry Breen is the greatest kid you ever have seen. Has a rhyme for every time; sings a kid's song, gets it all wrong. Oh, well, I can't keep it up. Anyhow he's a good nut!

There is a chorus that works hard, and distributes itself through three acts. A novelty. Ponies, both human and equine, adorn Howard's spectacle, which shows trained horses and dogs.

Down at the close Margie Clifton and partner disport themselves—Margie being a strong woman who balances her male partner on her head, her arms and her feet. While he was being balanced up in the air on top of a pole Helen feelingly exclaimed:

"Oh, how he trusts her!"

OLGA PETROVA TO BE AT BILTMORE MONDAY

When Olga Petrova comes to the Biltmore Theater Monday, March 2, for a limited engagement in "Hurricane," the sensational success of which she is both author and star, and which broke all New York records this winter for the run of a dramatic play in a roof theater, she will bring with her the entire original New York cast.

"Hurricane" has won fresh laurels for Mme. Petrova. Already a recognized playwright, short-story writer, poet and composer of songs, as well as a superb actress, she has proved herself an extraordinarily brilliant director.

The cast which she has chosen and which has worked under her direction is, without doubt, one of the finest casts ever seen on Broadway.

"KELLY'S VACATION" SET FOR MARCH 1

Marion Coakley and Robert Ames will open at the Playhouse in "Kelly's Vacation" next Sunday evening. Miss Coakley and Mr. Ames are New York stars, and have appeared in a number of New York plays which have been very successful. Ames attributes his success to Henry Miller.

"If I amount to anything I owe it to Henry Miller, and if I don't it is his fault," said Ames.

"Kelly's Vacation" is a delightful romance built around a golf course. Brassy, cleek, midiron, mashie, niblick, putter and the old driver all help in building up this entertainment.

This is another Louis O. Macloon presentation and his wife, Lillian Albertson, is personally staging the play. The Macloons have given the New York stars a fine supporting cast of players.

"GOLDEN BED" AT ROSEMARY

That women, crazed for social position, will sometimes drag their husbands right into financial disaster, is a point brought out by Cecil B. De Mille in his newest production, "The Golden Bed," which is now showing at the Rosemary Theater, Ocean Park. "The Golden Bed" is an adaptation by Jeanie Macpherson of Wallace Irwin's novel. Lillian Rich is featured in the cast with Rod La Rocque, Vera Reynolds, Warner Baxter, Theodore Kosloff, Julia Faye and Henry B. Walthall.

WRITERS' PROGRAM CHANGED

The play committee of the Writers' Club has made a substitution in the program of four one-act plays to be presented in the clubhouse on Friday and Saturday evenings. Instead of "B. and C. E.," William J. Kelly's play, "The Boob," will be offered. Kelly just completed writing "The Boob," and the play committee considered the play so excellent that it was decided to include it in this month's program. Kelly will stage the piece and act in it as well.

The other plays are "The Widow's Veil," "Aria da Capo" and "Helena's Husband."

"LOVER OF CAMILLE" FINE PICTORIALLY

Performances of Prevost and Blue Sincere, But Not Up to Their Standard

That inevitable couple, Marie Prevost and Monte Blue, are again playing together, this time in "The Lover of Camille," Warner Brothers' adaptation of the stage play, "Deburau," by Sacha Guitry. The screen play opened Saturday at Grauman's Rialto.

Pictorially, the play is beautiful, and this may be said for the sentiment intended, as well. But the acting is a distinct disappointment, all things considered. Both Miss Prevost and Mr. Blue seem to be incapable of thoroughly grasping the significance of the story and, though their work is flavored with a large amount of sincerity, they are not at their best in portrayals of the nature they are called upon to give—essentially romantic characterizations.

The story deals with the great Deburau, the famous French clown, and opens in Paris, at one of his performances. On this night, he meets a strange lady, whom he calls his "Lady of the Camillias" and falls desperately in love with her. She, in return, offers her affection.

In the subsequent action, Deburau loses his lady—on the same night that his wife leaves him—and for many years waits in his rooms for her to come to him. And finally she does seek him out, with somewhat unexpected results.

For the most part, the action drags sadly, and interest is not definitely aroused. Marie, though she does her best—in one way this is possibly her finest performance—in a part markedly reserved, gives the impression that the moment the camera stops grinding she will step lightly off the set and begin humming "Mama Loves Papa."

There is that indefinable something lacking in Monte's performance, too, that one is acutely aware of. The remainder of the cast, including Willard Louis, Pierre Gendron, Rose Dione and others, adequately support the two principals.

ODIVA'S SEALS TOP HILLSTREET BILL

Things are looking up at the Hillstreet this wek. From Odiva and her seals to Karavaeff and his company of Russian heel-and-toe demonstrators, there is quite a bit of interest.

Taken as a whole, the seals top the bill, with Odiva almost keeping up with them. With animals getting so smart these days, it is hard for poor humans to make a showing. The act was on the Orpheum last week, where it flapped through to some consistent laughs. The situation is no different this week at the Hillstreet. The tricks of the seals, together with Odiva's beautiful diving, are well worth seeing.

Karavaeff and company "from the Steppes" are not so far up the steps at that, for Russian dancing is Russian dancing taken any way you can look at it. However, the dancing is cleverly put on and the girls are pretty. Karavaeff himself gives an excellent exhibition of trick dancing.

That little chatterbox doll, Corinne Tilton, who also came over from the Orpheum trots along quite well in her act. As the slightly enebriated young lady she is very clever, but, frankly, as a singer she doesn't even get near the scale.

Bill Dooley and Merna Tibbetts come through quite well, as did Lou Lockett and Peggy Page, while the Luster Brothers are also on the bill.

"One Glorious Night," with Elaine Hammerstein, is the feature picture dealing with the shopgirl who longs for the easy life of yachts and dancing instead of the prosaic existence of married life on a kitchenette scale.

OPERA COMPANY SEASON OPENED

ing. They are growing very superior, indeed.

EXCELLENT CHOICE

"Tosca," as an opera, was a highly commendable choice for an opening performance. It drew a splendid house, although not one actually filled to capacity. The assemblage of listeners was inclined to the democratic in principle, as is the fashion at the offerings of the San Carlo, but there was also a liberal display of evening dress all through the downstairs portion of the theater. The professional world that turns out for the bigger theatrical events was also represented, though not in large numbers.

Puccini's death has occurred within the past year and since any of his creations for the lyric-dramatic stage have been heard here. "Tosca" shines forth as one of his finest. It is one of the few works in the present San Carlo repertoire that still possesses any freshness of novelty, and yet it is now very familiar. It has never been as much beloved by the greater portion of the public as "La Boheme" and "Madame Butterfly," and that is doubtless because it is so frankly dramatic rather than musical. Its bursts of song, however, do have an inspiration that seems all the more insistent because they are, on account of the many tense theatrical scenes infrequent.

A certain sadness somehow crept forth from the stage despite the zest of the performance as given by Miss Gentle and the other principals, and although in his later years Puccini did not seem successfully to duplicate his earlier triumphs, one could not help feeling something of what his loss has meant in music. He has created for the public as few others have created in recent times, and the message that he brought to them was always, at its finest, one from the emotions and the heart. He has touched and affected probably more people through his "Butterfly" and "Boheme" than any other composer who ever wrote for the theater, and this does not exclude the greatest of them all, Wagner.

PERFORMANCE MERIT

I do not know that I can say a great deal that has not been told on previous occasions about the merit of the San Carlo performance. If anything the general impression achieved was one of greater surety and accuracy and better general effects than usual. In the second act, with Miss Gentle disclosing all the vitality of her personality, as she battled for the life of Cavaradossi, and Mario Valle doing exceptionally valiant duty, at least for him as Scarpia, the performance, thanks very largely to the sweeping impetus of Guerrieri's baton, really carried a very emphatic conviction.

Miss Gentle is always stirring in her dramatic powers. Her singing is not entirely free from flaws, and the role of Tosca is perhaps more difficult in its range for her voice than some of the others that she does, like Carmen and Sanutzza, but she knows how to give it a true significance for her audience.

She emphasizes most cleverly by the suspense that she creates the turning points in the drama. The first suggestion of jealousy that she feels in the first act because of her suspicion that Cavaradossi is overly interested in the woman whose portrait he is painting, and also that moment in the second act where she asks Scarpia what price he demands, were really very forceful because of the manner in which she stressed them in her acting. Her singing of the "Vissi d'Arte" was genuinely and prayerfully impassioned, but it was not the great feat vocally that othre singers sometimes make it. Chiefly, she is to be credited for keeping it an integral part of the opera.

Valli cannot arouse any great interest by his presence alone or any light that shines forth from his interpretation of Scarpia—and Scarpia after all is a role of really unusual subtlety in opera. Valli does it very creditably. He enters into the spirit of the portrayal, even if he cannot highlight the lurking vocal beauties, of which there are not so many, of course, in the music for this part. In the second act he was a fair match for Miss Gentle at certain crucial moments, and he sustained to a commendable degree his part in the performance as a whole.

WARM APPLAUSE

Salazar enjoyed a very warm applause both for his "Recondita Armonia" in the opening act, and "E Lucevan la Stelle" at the close. His duet with Miss Gentle in the final act was also very attractive. Salazar sings with a bigness and vibrancy that naturally stir the listener. He als oexhibits feeling and fire in his general interpretation, and altogether is a true asset for Fortune Gallo's troupe.

Good old Natale Cervi is still doing good duty with his buffo comedy. He appeared as the Sacristan. Pietro de Biasi was Angelotti, the prisoner who starts all the trouble in the plot.

I wish they would embellish those settings for the church somewhat, and get a new sky for the third act—or maybe they have one. In any event the San Carlo Company always brings pleasure, even if it is not a pleasure rare. And this season, with Guerrieri, it almost is that, too.

IT WAS HIS LAST CIGAR

A city undertaker tells of a trip he made into the country, accompanied by a clergyman who was to officiate at a funeral service. It was a dismal day and the roads were muddy. The undertaker was very fond of smoking and on the way back to the city he felt the "urge" to use the only cigar he had with him.

He thought it would be a safe bet to offer the cigar to his companion as a matter of courtesy, believing that it would be declined with thanks.

However, when the cigar was offered to him the pastor took it, saying, "Thank you; I don't smoke, but I have a friend who does."—[Columbus Dispatch.

Newspapers Costly in Russia

The man who complains because of the price he has to pay for his Sunday paper may find some consolation in the thought that the Russian muzhik who craves the luxury of a daily journal has to make a rather heavier sacrifice to obtain it. The subscription price of Pravda, the official Communist daily of Moscow is 30 poods, or more than 1000 pounds of rye, per annum. This is nearly the normal crop on a dessiatine of land. Since the average farm is four or five dessiatines in extent, a peasant subscriber — assuming him to exist — would have to pay approximately one-fifth of his farm income for his daily paper.—[Living Age.

DORIS KENYON IN "HALF WAY GIRL"

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Webster Campbell has been selected to direct "The Half Way Girl" for First National, according to an announcement made today by Herman Bruenner, assistant production supervisor.

Work on "The Half Way Girl," a story of the tropics, will be started at First National's New York studio within two weeks. Doris Kenyon, who has been enjoying a brief vacation, is to be co-featured in the picture with a male star not yet decided upon.

NEW HOME IS OPENED BY YOUNGS

Guides Take Guests on Inspection Tours Through Seventh-Street Structure

Celebrating the opening of the new Young's Market Building at Seventh and Union streets yesterday, the structure was thrown open to the general public with a corps of guides to aid visitors in inspecting every corner of the new building.

Completion of the building marked the thirty-seventh year the establishment has done business in Los Angeles. It was started by John Young and is now controlled by W. C. Young, president; George F., J. G. and C. T. Young, vice-presidents; and P. M. Young, secretary and treasurer.

The new building is five stories in height and presents an outer architectural design of the Italian renaissance type. The main floor and the mezzanine are given over to the principal departments of the retail business, the third floor contains the general offices and the fourth and fifth floors house the wholesale coffee, bread and pastry departments.

CHICAGO AS WORKSHOP

An Ideal Place for Creative Work, Says an Author

And, speaking of Chicago, I wish to announce that in all America there is no finer place to be and live—if one is honest in his desire to work. A man or woman can do more work in Chicago, work of a creative character, and better work, than anywhere else in the land of the Star Spangled Banner. I, as a writer, have investigated this phenomenon, inquired of a great number of people, and discovered why it is so.

First, the climate is ideal—if one is considering toil. A person sensitive to his externals is so completely unhappy in Chicago that he will gladly lock himself up in a room—any sort of room—draw the curtains, close the blinds, shut out the city entirely from his consciousness, and seek refuge in hard, steady production.

If he is writing a play Chicago is the place to write it. If he has a 100,000-word novel to complete, let him take train at once for the metropolis of the Middle West, rent a dingy suite of rooms in a dingy office building, and be sure that his book will come from his fingers in record time.

Julian Johnson once told me that he was always so ineffably miserable in Chicago that he found it easy to write, a delightful task, and that his dolors and wretchedness returned the moment he ceased working and walked abroad, or looked down from the windows upon the uneasy ferment that Chicago people think is life.

George Ade wrote more columns of words in Chicago than he has ever written anywhere else. Finley Peter Dunne sat at a desk within sight of the lake and did what he did. Theodore Dreiser put pen to paper with the Loop trains assaulting his eardrums, and the pages grew into many volumes.—[Frank Condon in Liberty.

BIBLE STUDENT HITS EVOLUTION

Dr. W. B. Riley Talks to More Than 5000 Persons

Theory Called Unscientific and Its Teaching Menace

Dr. E. G. Linsey's Refusal to Debate, Disappointment

Dr. W. B. Riley of Minneapolis, eminent biblical student and internationally famous opponent of the Darwin and other similar theories, declared evolution to be more than unscientific and the lay solution for the explanation of creation without the Creator, before a crowd of more than 5000 persons that filled the auditorium of the Bible Institute on Hope street, near Sixth last night.

Returning after an absence of two years to meet Dr. E. G. Linsey of Berkeley, who had accepted his invitation to debate and discuss evolution, Dr. Riley expressed considerable disappointment when a telegram was received from Dr. Linsey stating that upon the advice of eminent clergymen, he had found it unadvisable to debate or discuss the subject, particularly at this time.

HITS EVOLUTION

"By evolution, they mean explaining the Holy Bible without Genesis," Dr. Riley said. "When they find a tooth here and a piece of skull some place else, they put them together, fill out the vacant places, and then cry that here at last is the missing link, always disagreeing among themselves and defiling the name of science, then they are not only competing with God Almighty but they are also actually outdoing the Creator. We know this is true, for in the beginning God created man in the image of Himself. Still, man, by the use of an extensive imagination, has sought to recreate a specimen and declare that at last, after millions of years of fruitless search, the plaster of paris monstrosity resembling a cross between an ape and an outraged chimpanzee is our prehistoric father. It may be theirs but it will never be mine," Dr. Riley declared.

NATIONAL MENACE

Dr. Riley said the manner in which the theory of evolution was being forced upon the undeveloped minds of school-children, to the entire exclusion of the religious as well as the sensible side of the question, had come to be a national menace.

"Our children go away to college believers, knowing the Bible to be the inspirational work of God," he said. "They return four years later, after having assimilated the knowledge that the Bible was simply good fiction, that we are sprung from a worm, a bug or some other whatnot.

"All over the country the school and college executives will deny this charge, but let an orthodox teacher or speaker try to get an audience and they will bar their doors. Recently in Chicago authorities of the University of Chicago severely censored the forces that permitted William Jennings Bryan to speak before the student body, saying that 'it will be six months before he can undo what he has done.'

"Evolution is and always will be an unproven hypothesis and I venture to say that five years from now there will be very, very few teachers with the courage to come forward and explain, scientifically, the claim of evolution."

No Ball for Coolidge

Society folk of Washington, D. C., who like nothing better than a grand splurge, are disconsolate over the stand of President Coolidge on inaugural balls. They can have one if they must, but the President will not dance or even attend. And what is an inaugural ball without the President? The scheming and maneuvering of the social leaders to get the President in line for the ball were both ingenious and persistent, but when the Presidential foot went down they knew the stuff was off. They know Cal Coolidge by this time.—[Capper's Weekly.

LENT BEGINS TOMORROW

Bishop Issues Regulations on Fasting; Special Services Planned in Churches

Beginning tomorrow, with Ash Wednesday, and closing on April 11, Christians of all denominations, by fasting, prayer and study of the Holy Word, will observe the season of Lent, living over again with their Lord the sorrows which shadowed His life prior to the supreme tragedy of the ages and the consequent victory over death proclaimed by the Savior on the first glad Easter morn.

Generally observed by all Christendom, the Lenten season is of special significance to Catholics, Episcopalians and Lutherans, nearly all the non-Catholic churches laying particular emphasis on the duty of observing Passion Week.

It was announced yesterday at the office of Rt. Rev. John J. Cantwell, bishop of the diocese of Los Angeles and San Diego, that Bishop Cantwell has sent instructions to all priests of the diocese concerning Lenten regulations. All days of Lent, excepting Sundays, are designated as fast days of obligation. Those who fast are allowed one full meal a day excepting Sundays, when there is no restriction as to the amount of food that may be eaten. Those desiring exemption from the fast are advised by the bishop to obtain it from their regular confessors or pastors.

Soldiers and sailors in the service of the United States government are exempt from the law of abstinence excepting on Ash Wednesday, Friday and Saturday of Holy Week, the Virgil of the Assumption and on Christmas Eve.

Those exempt from the precept of fasting are reminded that they should feel obliged to perform some other act of mortification. The Holy Mass, the Rosary, Stations of the Cross, visits to the Blessed Sacrament, alms to the poor and visits to the sick are means by which compensation may be offered for the privilege which the church grants.

In addition to regular Sunday services, Lenten exercises will be conducted two evenings of each week in practically all Catholic churches. For the benefit of school children the Stations of the Cross and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will be given on Friday afternoons.

Holy Mass will be offered at St. Vibiana's Cathedral every day at 12:07 p.m., during Lent, by Mons. John Cawley, vicar-general of the diocese. In accordance with the decree of the Third Plenary Council of Baltimore, a collection will be taken on the first Sunday of Lent, at the masses and vespers, for the Catholic missions among Indians and negroes.

ASH WEDNESDAY

Dr. William MacCormack, dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, announced yesterday that Ash Wednesday will be observed at the cathedral with Holy Communion at 7 a.m., Litany, Communion and a sermon at 11 a.m., and the Penitential Office and sermon by Dr. William Cowans in the evening. The morning service will be said at the cathedral at 9 a.m. every day during Lent. This service will last twenty minutes and the public is invited.

Noonday services, to which the public is invited, will be conducted at St. Paul's Cathedral every day in Lent excepting Saturdays. On Tuesdays Holy Communion will be observed at 7:30 a.m., and meetings, to be addressed by noted clergymen of the Southland, will be conducted every Wednesday evening.

The speakers at the midday services, which will start at noon and close at 12:30 p.m., will be as follows: February 26 and 27, Rt. Rev. J. H. Johnson, bishop of the diocese; March 2 to 6, Dr. H. L. Johnson, dean of Trinity Cathedral, Phoenix, Ariz.; March 9 to 13, Rev. A. W. N. Porter of San Jose; March 16 to 20; Dr. W. B. Stevens, coadjutor-bishop of Los Angeles; March 23 to 27, Dr. Leslie B. Learned of Pasadena; March 30 to April 3, Dr. F. B. Howden, bishop of New Mexico; April 6 to 8, Dr. D. C. Gardner, chaplain of Stanford University.

MISSING BABY IS FOUND

Child Reported Kidnaped With Future Foster Mother Who Thought Adoption Completed

Beverly Jean, the baby daughter of Mrs. Gwendolyn Humphries of 2229 South Marne avenue, who was reported to have been kidnaped Saturday, was found yesterday in a San Pedro dance hall with her prospective foster-mother, Mrs. Gene Harrington, wife of a petty officer on one of the battleships.

Both Mrs. Harrington and the 18-month-old girl were taken to Juvenile Hall, where Mrs. Harrington is being detained temporarily.

WITH MOTHER'S CONSENT

She explained to San Pedro police that the report that she had kidnaped the baby girl was apparently due to a misunderstanding between herself and the impoverished mother of the child, who had advertised that she was prepared to give the little girl away to some one able to care for her properly.

Mrs. Harrington stated that she responded to the advertisement and took the girl with the mother's consent after assuring the latter that she was well able to provide for the child.

In her report of the child's disappearance, however, the impoverished young mother stated that she had permitted the child to be taken by Mrs. Harrington only on approval. They had arranged between them, Mrs. Humphries stated, that the child was to be brought back Sunday after Mrs. Harrington had promised to buy some new clothes for the little girl.

FORCED TO GO HOME

Mrs. Harrington, however, stated that she thought she had completed all arrangements for keeping the child and therefore did not return her to the mother.

In her story to police, Mrs. Humphries said that her husband left her with two small children six months ago. He has only partly provided for their support since then, she said. She had been forced to return to the home of her parents, but the financial condition of her father was such that he was unable to carry the additional burden presented by herself and her two children and she therefore offered to have little Beverly Jean adopted and accepted Mrs. Harrington as the most likely foster mother of her baby.

PAT WON—AND LOST

"Anything you like to put me to, sorr," replied the Irishman brightly.

"Well," answered the foreman, as he looked Pat over, "come to see me on Monday and I'll see if I can fix you up with a job."

But Pat still lingered.

"Sorr," he said, "can you find a job for my brother?"

"What sort of a man is he?"

"He's a better man than me."

"Then," said the foreman, "bring him along with you on Monday." But Pat still showed no sign of going.

"Oh, sorr, could you give my father a job?" he asked. "He's a better man than my brother and me put together."

"Well," said the foreman, "send him on Monday morning and you two stay at home."—[Exchange.

The Acme of Altruism

It was the year 2024. The United States had just elected its first woman President.

"Don't you feel that your home life will be ruined?" the inquiring reporter asked her husband.

IN THE NURSERY

Story of the Three Bears is Narrated in Synonyms

Once upon a time in a place of abode or shelter located in a large compact collection of trees there existed with inherent powers a quarter dozen plantigrade carnivores with massive bodies and brief appendages.

Albeit predacious, they frequently enjoyed taking, in as nourishment a certain food that is made by boiling coarsely ground grain in water or milk (or both) until it assumes a consistency. This was always served piping hot in concave domestic vessels.

One morning, while they were gone, une petite fille (with a mass of filaments the color of a very precious and malleable metal sprouting from the outer covering of her cranium,) who had been perambulating in the immediate vicinity, remarked the strange domicile and entered it.

Once inside, she was surprised to see upon an article of furniture, with a flat horizontal top, between two and four partially filled porringers. Not being bashful, she seated herself and promptly absorbed the contents of every one of them.

When the plantigrade carnivores with massive bodies and brief appendages returned and found that their nutriment had evaporated, were they mad? You just bet they were! They commenced to search high and low for the impudent culprit. She was nowhere to be found.

Goldilocks (for that was her name) had escaped!—[Robert Cyril O'Brien in Judge.

VETERAN ATHLETE

"Bill" Lundy Says Next Season Will Says Next Season Will Be His Best

James W. (Bill) Lundy, 52 years old, believes he ranks well toward the top of active football players today, says an Associated Press dispatch from Lincoln, Neb.

Lundy, an assistant sergeant at arms in the Nebraska House of Representatives, plays with his home town grid team and last season was not pulled out of the game either by injury or by the coach. He was a member of the House two years ago and accepted appointment this session "to be with the old crowd."

At Sargent, Neb., where Lundy owns a farm and power station, his achievements on the football field, the baseball diamond and in the hemped ring have gained him prominence. For four years, during the time his son, Albro, played with the high school team, the father played with the town team against his son. Later the younger Lundy joined his father's team, playing center. Albro took up wrestling at the University of Nebraska here.

The elder Lundy weighs 212 pounds, but it has not hindered his offensive power. "Next season I will be better than ever," he said. "Each morning I take setting up exercises and in the spring I start preparing for the football season."—[New York Herald-Tribune.

HIS METHOD

He was hardly the brightest boy in the manual training class. In fact, his teacher thought that he would never make a really good carpenter, as he seemed to learn nothing at all about woodwork during the course of instruction.

At last came the day when this dull youth was to be examined before being recommended for a job.

"Now," said the examiner, anxious to find out what he knew, "how would you make a Venetian blind?"

"Oh," answered the candidate, "that's an easy one. I should poke him in the eye with a screw driver."—[Exchange.

WASHINGTON'S PRAISES SUNG

Celebration Held by Sons of Revolution

Greatest Man in History, is McGroarty's Tribute

Need of Return to Principles of Forefathers Told

Stripped of the halo of tradition and the glamor of romantic story, George Washington was extolled by John Steven McGroarty and other speakers at a dinner given by the Sons of the American Revolution at the University Club last night.

A number of women from the Daughters of the American Revolution were guests at the dinner, among them Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook of Washington, D. C., President-General of the D.A.R.. In a brief talk responding to the welcome extended by E. E. Cox, presiding, Mrs. Cook told of the official plans being laid down by a national commission for the celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of Washington's birth in 1932.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO CONTEST

Mrs. Cook also took occasion to pay a tribute to the wholesome effect upon the patriotic spirit of the country by the National Oratorical Contest. She mentioned the thrill she experienced when she attended the final contest at Washington last year when Don Tyler of Los Angeles won first place.

The need for a reversion of the sentiment of today to the fundamental principles as laid down by Washington and others of the founders of this government was stressed by several speakers during the evening.

Dr. A. C. Smithers, contemplating the spirit of lawlessness that is abroad not only in this country but in Europe said: "I believe that it is necessary for, not only the sons and Daughters of the Revolution, but for all persons regardless of race or creed to play their part in the defense of the principles laid down by our forefathers. I believe that this country has come to a place of prominence in world affairs never reached by any other nation and probably not ever to be reached by any other nation. I believe, therefore, that it is necessary for us now to take our just share of the responsibilities in world problems and leadership."

ONE OF THE GREATEST

With his characteristic sincerity and reverence, Mr. McGroarty told those present that George Washington's birthday is a day that he observes more religiously and more feelingly than any other holiday. To him George Washington was the greatest, the strongest and wisest man that ever lived.

"It is with the greatest of fascination that I think of George Washington as the man and what he was," said Mr. McGroarty. "I have studied him, stripped of the all the glamour, the halo, the tradition that has been built around him, and still I find him among the strongest and wisest men that God ever made. I think of him as six feet two inches in his stockings and when he drew his sword to take command of the revolutionary army his presence was so majestic that women in the throngs about fainted. He founded the only really, truly, honest-to-God republic that ever existed on this earth.

HE WON THE WAR

"The Revolutionary War never could have been won without Washington. There is always one man in these great conflicts upon whose shoulders everything seems to rest. And Washington was the man in the revolutionary days. He had to face not only the disruption in the army and the dangers on the battlefield but he also had to face the dissension and disloyalty among certain of the people in the colonies that were worse than the British guns. Valley Forge? It is the most sublime chapter in the history of man.

"Washington's service to his country was as sublime in peace as it was in war, not only because he had faith and courage, but also because he had combined with these genius. He could have been first in war; he could have been first in peace; but if he had not been first in the hearts of his countrymen he could not have accomplished what he did. He was beloved by his people."

Among others who spoke were Maj. Leon French of San Francisco, secretary of the California Society of the Sons of the American Revolution; Mrs. Jesse H. Shreve of San Diego, Vice-Regent for California, D.A.R.; Mrs. Lyman B. Stookey, former State Regent, D.A.R.; Gen. Whipple of the Sons of the Revolution, and Dr. A. C. Smithers. Mrs. William E. Mabee, chairman of church music of National Federation of Music Clubs, sang a number of patriotic songs. Maj. French read an address for President McGee of the State organization of the S.A.R. of San Francisco, who was unable to attend the dinner.

INDIAN'S MATE TO PRESS SUIT

Jackson Barnett's Wife is Planning Trip East

Says Husband Wants Her to Control His Wealth

Securing of Interest in Oil Fortune Asserted Aim

Anna Laura Barnett, white wife of Jackson Barnett, aged Creek Indian who found himself the possessor of undreamed-of wealth through the discovery of oil on his land, was preparing yesterday for a call to New York to press her suit for the control of her husband's entire fortune.

She filed the suit for control of the $550,000 held in trust for her husband by the Equitable Trust Company of New York Saturday and in addition asked that the company be forced to pay her and her husband the money which has accumulated as interest on the fund.

It is possible, Mrs. Barnett stated at her home on the estate near the Brentwood Country Club, where she and her husband live, that she may leave for New York in the near future for a consultation with the attorneys representing them in the case. The trial probably will open in about three weeks, she said.

SEEK INTEREST

"We don't want the bulk of the money," Mrs. Barnett explained. "All we want is the interest. It is our money. We are justly entitled to a certain amount each year."

Mrs. Barnett and her Indian husband, who flowered into the millionaire class almost overnight, are apparently satisfied that the court will render a decision favorable to them. Mrs. Barnett declared her husband loved her and that they are happy.

The suit, she explained, was merely a test of the $550,000 settlement. She declared her husband desired that she have control of the fortune as she was his best friend and he did not desire to have a stranger wield the power of legal guardianship over him.

OVERNIGHT FORTUNE

When oil was discovered on his land in Oklahoma, Barnett was living in a tumble-down shanty. His holdings netted him approximately $1,100,000. Half of this sum he settled on his white wife with the approval of the Department of Interior after his marriage. The remainder was placed in trust with the company and a guardian appointed to administer it. The administration of the fund became a subject for debate in the Senate and House and also in the Oklahoma courts.

Should the courts find in her favor, she said, the money and bonds will be left in trust, but with the provision that she and her husband receive the interest on it, approximately $20,000 biyearly.

SINK BOTHERS PLUMBER

Trouble There is Stoppage From Accumulated Grease

Taking it the year 'round, the largest number of calls a plumber gets are to open up stoppages. The most common form of stoppage is that caused by grease from kitchen sinks. Before washing pans, pots and dishes, careful housewives scrape off the heavy grease and put it into the garbage can. And they do not pour into the sink such grease-laden water as comes from boiling ham.

Even when care is taken to keep out heavy grease, the drain from a kitchen sink should frequently have washing soda dissolved in boiling water poured down it. Some women use lye for this purpose. Nothing could be worse! for lye hardens grease in such a way that even a plumber's drill can make no impression on it. There are women so careless that we have to visit their houses at least once a year to break up grease stoppages.

There are other things we are called on pretty regularly to fish out of drains. These range from cakes of soap, wash rags, handkerchiefs and pieces of braid or other material to fragments of water glasses, vaseline jars, toys, tooth brushes, false teeth, rings and other jewelry. Once we rescued from the trap at the front wall of a house a lady's wrist watch in its case.—[American Magazine.

OLD ARM CHAIR YIELDS FORTUNE

Dr. Georgia S. Ruggles Leaves Codicil to Will in Secret Place Giving Mme. Thea Dorre $40,000; Document Will Be Submitted for Admission to Probate

Years before her death, Dr. Georgia S. Ruggles is said to have informed her life-long companion, Effie Critchfield Bailey, (or Mme. Thea Dorre as she is known in the operatic world,) that she would leave a portion of her fortune to the latter.

A place of deposit for the document executed by Dr. Ruggles was agreed upon between them, this to be Dr. Ruggles's favorite chair, a specially built gray mohair armchair.

Dr. Ruggles died in her residence at 404 South Irving Boulevard on May 23, 1924, leaving a fortune estimated at approximately $1,000,000, for which there is now in progress a court contest between a number of asserted heirs-at-law and the Christian Science Church.

Today Effie Critchfield Bailey, through her attorney, Francis D. Adams, says she will file an application for admission to probate of a codicil to Dr. Ruggles's will wherein she, Mrs. Bailey, is left a sum of approximately $40,000, designated in the writing of the testatrix, found in the cushion of the favorite chair. The codicil to be filed for probate was written five days before Dr. Ruggles's death.

The "arm chair codicil" to be filed today mentions chiefly bonds of the cities of Bordeaux, Lyons and Marseilles, France and the Swiss Confederation due July 1, 1940, according to Attorney Adams. It was found by Mrs. Bailey shortly after the death of Dr. Ruggles, concealed in the gray mohair chair in the living-room of Dr. Ruggles's home.

LESSON TELLS COURTS' DUTIES

Constitution Provides for Judiciary

Gives Nation Authority Over Individuals

Tells How Judicial Bodies Are Formed

The eighth lesson prepared from Dr. Gettell's book, "The Constitution of the United States" (Ginn & Co.) for the aid of entrants in the National Oratorical Contest, discusses the Federal courts.

NECESSITY OF A NATIONAL JUDICIARY. The articles of confederation made no provision for a national judiciary. If anyone disobeyed a national law the national government could only request the assistance of a State court. Moreover, no authority existed to enforce treaty provisions, and because of this fact foreign nations refused to carry out treaty agreements. To remedy this situation, and to enable the new national government to bring its authority to bear directly upon all individuals, the Constitution of the United States provided that there should be a Supreme Court of the United States and such inferior Federal courts as Congress should see fit to create. The Federal courts, thus established, have become one of the distinguishing features of the American system of government.

are at present three grades of Federal courts. At the top stands the Supreme Court, composed of a chief justice and eight associate justices, appointed by the President and Senate. It holds its sessions in Washington from October to May of each year. It hears appeals from the lower Federal courts and from the State courts, and has original jurisdiction in cases in which a State is a party or in which ambassadors, ministers or consuls are involved. The consent of a majority of the judges sitting is required for a decision, and at least six judges must be present at the hearing of a case. When a decision has been reached, the opinion of the court is written by one of the judges. Any member who disagrees with the majority may file a dissenting opinion.

PREME COURT. The idea of a Supreme Court with power to pass on the constitutionality of laws was not entirely new. In the famous case of Marbury vs. Madison in 1803, the decision written by Chief Justice John Marshall laid down the arguments upon which the court based its power. This decision held that the Constitution is the supreme law of the land and that judges must give effect to it; when laws of Congress are clearly in conflict with the Constitution, the Supreme Court must give preference to the latter. Similarly, laws passed by the State Legislatures may be set aside by the Supreme Court if they conflict with the Federal Constitution or the laws and treaties made under it. While this power assumed by the Supreme Court has been much criticised, it is necessary for some agency of government to decide in case of disputed authority. The Supreme Court, being less likely to be swayed by the passions of the moment, and being less dangerous, since it has no control over the purse or the sword, is the best agency to exercise this important power.

ARTISTS' SERIES CONCERTS START

Frances Mae Martin, pianist, assisted by Ruth May Shaffner, soprano, and Dr. Alexis Kall, pianist, opened the artist series of concerts at the Hollywood Conservatory Saturday evening. Mrs. Martin played Chopin and Scriabine numbers, and the Grieg concerto, and Miss Shaffner sang a group of Mrs. Martin's compositions.

Mrs. Martin is undoubtedly one of the most gifted of the younger musicians in Southern California. Her real talent lies in composition, for although her playing is marked with brilliance, fine shading and other commendable qualities, her compositions are really exceptional, and comparable with the best songs of American composers. They are written in rich, broad style, with elaborate, although never intruding, accompaniments, and imbued with color and originality. She is a composer worthy of all the encouragement which her fellow-musicians may give her.

The concerto was performed with remarkable ease and brilliance. Mrs. Martin has the unusual ability of making an audience thoroughly lige Scraibine.

Children's Program

Florence Easton, Metropolitan prima donna, accompanied by Elinor Remick Warren, who also played solos, gave a program Saturday afternoon for the Kathryn Cocke children's series at Gamut Auditorium. Miss Easton sang Mozart's airs, operatic arias, songs by Miss Warren and miscellaneous numbers, explaining to the children the significance of each song.

The children gave vent to their enthusiasm and appreciation both with careful listening and vociferous applause.

Frederick Dixon Plays

Fannie Dillon and Mrs. Chester Brown entertained for Frederick Dixon at a musicale given in his honor yesterday (Sunday) afternoon at the West Adams home of Mrs. Brown. Mr. Dixon played Chopin's "A-flat Polonaise," "C-sharp Minor Nocturne," and "G-minor Ballade;" "Fountain," by Ravel, a prelude by Miss Dillon and miscellaneous numbers by MacDowell and other composers.

He possesses a technique which is very brilliant, and his interpretations are strong and virile, rather than reminiscent and introspective.

Miss Dillon's prelude interested the writer especially, for the number is energetic, with broad outlines and is majestic in concept and outline. It deserves to be widely played.

Tronitz Pupils Play

Phillip Tronitz, Norwegian concert pianist and pedagogue, presented his advanced pupils Sunday afternoon at the Hollywood Conservatory. Among the numbers for two pianos were the Mozart-Grieg "C-major Sonata" for two pianos, and the first movement of the Mendelssohn "Concerto."

Sonata offerings included the first movements of the Grieg Opus 7, and Beethoven's "Pathetique." Schumann-Liszt, Cyril Scott, Dohnanyi, Schutt and other composers were represented. The pupils played well.
